STADIUM PLEDGE.

Your stadium pledge falls due this week. Money was borrowed to continue the work on the structure during the summer and now the money must be repaid.

The finance committee needs the second installment on your pledge.

All officers under the class presidents were elected yesterday. The classes discussed their various problems and tried to evolve satisfactory solutions.

Lack of co-operation, unity, and interest has molded all classes into one big unit with scarcely a dividing line between any of them. It is probable that there will never be a time when classes will work as units. However there is work for the individual classes and that work could well be done.

COLLEGE OR UNIVERSITY.

When the parade ended in the stadium Saturday morning, the colleges still maintained their formation to some extent, and continued to give their yells.

A few moments before the Chancellor gave his introductory address, some of the colleges were still letting the world know that they were there at the dedication either to represent their college or the institution.

A few Nebraska yells given with as much enthusiasm as the college yells would have been much more appropriate.

It was certainly with a good measure of foresight and wisdom that the University athletic department refused to allow the colleges to divide themselves into separate sections of the stadium. It is with a great measure of difficulty that the students can be brought together in a yell now and further disunion would have been rather disastrous.

College yells are not proper where the whole University is represented at any one event. There are plenty of University yells that would be just as good for the purpose and better as far as the University of Nebraska is concerned.

WE CAN LEARN.

K. U. came here as a guest last week and left some impressions that certainly are a credit to Kansas. The Jayhawkers were the most fair and generous guests that the present student body has ever seen on the Nebraska field. At every instant, Kansas was alive and fighting with her team. The Jayhawkers entered the game with odds against them, but you could have never told it from the noise that arose from the K. U. stands.

There are teams coming here this fall that will enter the games as the favorite. If Nebraska students can deliver like Kansas students did, there will certainly be better battles won and better battles lost as the case might be.

Students who have applied for positions on the Daily Nebraskan staff are now receiving their permanent appointments. This is both a worthy and a valuable form of school activity.

Only persons who put in regular time on the paper are wanted. There must be system about the Daily Nebraskan office so that there is no room on the staff for the persons who do not intend to give stated hours toward the work.

RAG CARPET

Conducted by Carolyn Atry

The Rag Doll says that the leaves are falling, but she hasn't noticed anybody picking them up yet.

Dear Rag Rug: I sleep with my mouth open and my doctor says that it is on account of my diet. What shall I avoid? SOLOIST.

Dear Soloist: Onions.

He—There is a certain question I've wanted to ask you for weeks. She—Well, hurry up. I've had the answer ready for months.

Instructor in public speaking: Can't you speak louder? Be more enthusiastic. Open your mouth and throw yourself into it.

"Wot you doin' chile?"

"Nothin', Mammy."

"My, but you is getting like you father."

The speaker rose with haughty mein And spoke in terms obtuse.

The audience enraptured sat— His false front had come loose.

Sorrow—By the way are you an Elk?

Frater—No deer, I'm a stag tonite.

"How did the swimming team come out?" "Wet."

HISTORICAL ERRORS.

Doggone it! If Noah hadn't built the ark. I wouldn't have this history test. I wouldn't have an 8 o'clock. I'd give myself an age-long rest. Doggone Noah! Why did he build the ark?
