

Freshman Team Buys Shako for Leader of Band

When the freshman football squad gave the Nebraska band the "once over" they concluded that there was something lacking in the dress of the drum major. They thought the matter over and concluded that a regular fur shako hat was what he needed. They ordered the hat and the drum major will make his first appearance in it in the Armistice day parade Saturday.

The shako cost the squad about $35 and they are asking that every freshman contribute a dime or so to pay for it. Captain Mandery, who suggested that they buy the hat, is in charge of the fund and contributions may be made to him.

Rooters from Oregon Agricultural College transformed the "C" on Charter Hill at the University of California, in to an "O" sometime on Friday night previous to the California vs. Aggie football game. Cloth stretched across the mouth of the "C" gave it the appearance of an "O" when viewed from a distance.

It was first noticed by students on Saturday morning. Upon notification the custodian of the "C" committee removed the cloth.

Student From India Pleased With Treatment at University

Vero P. de Sa, a new arrival from India, has registered in the College of Dentistry.

When interviewed, he said, "Six months ago I left the coast of India, at Bombay, on a French steamer, in order to come to the United States of America, to study dentistry. I was sorry I took a French steamer, because the servants could not understand me, and I could not understand them. I had to follow the dumb and deaf language, for that was the only thing I could do.

"Thus day by day the distance between our steamer and destination was shortening, and finally we reached it.

"In England I went to different steamship lines, and they told me that they cannot issue a ticket unless I have a letter of admission from an American institution, and that it would be very difficult for me to enter the United States. So I wrote to three or four different universities.

"One of the Universities did reply to me, and the only university that sent me a prompt reply was the University of Nebraska.

"From this incident, and many others, I can easily say that the University of Nebraska is the promptest of all. This made me think of coming to Nebraska, and so I came.

"I am glad to say that I received fine treatment here at the University, and the persons I asked some questions of also treated me nicely. To make a long story short, I am pleased with Lincoln, and the University."

Issues Second Call For Varsity Matmen

Head Wrestling Coach R. G. Clapp is issuing his second call for more varsity grapplers. There have been but a few men report and he wants at least twenty-five more for the mat sport.

There are more chances of a letter in this sport than in any other because it depends upon every man's individual ability and experience is not necessary. If a man has strength and is willing to work he can make a good showing for himself.

Every weight on the team this year will be filled by a new man. There are two letter men back, Thomas 145, and Kellogg 125, last year. Thomas was not in school last year and the 145 class was represented by Pickwell who has since graduated. There are other men making a strong bid for that class. Kellogg is overweight this year and will no doubt work in the 135 pound class in place of Isaacson, who did not return to school this year.

If the plans of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce are completed, Notre Dame, without doubt one of the wonder teams of the year, will journey to the coast to play the winner of the Stanford-California game either Christmas or New Year's Day, at the California or Stanford Stadium as the case may be.

Eustace Cullinan, well-known San Francisco attorney and Notre Dame alumnus, who together with President Colbert Coldwell of the Chamber of Commerce has launched the movement to bring Knute Rockne's eleven to the coast. Should such a contest be promulgated it would be a real intersectional struggle in every sense of the word.

Fraternities Enter Cross-country Meet

Six fraternities are entered in the cross-country race today. Each of the men entered will also be eligible to represent their college, and the freshmen eligible to win one of the special cross-country medals.

Included among the entries is the Bushnell Guild, winner of the cross-country skin last fall, and the Farm House fraternity, winner in 1921.

The idea of the meet is to create a better inter-college and inter-fraternity spirit, as well as to boost the cross-country sport, and gain a line on new material. The five medals for the first five freshmen who finish should be quite an incentive for the yearlings to turn out in large numbers.

FIGHT, NEBRASKA, FIGHT!

The famous Purdue spirit, in carload consignments, wasn't enough last Saturday. The Boilermakers were defeated 34 to 7. We won't convey our pep in carload lots. Nebraska spirit will fill, impregnate, illuminate, and glorify every shining face in the row on row of the stadium.

coincide with the movement of the object being photographed.

Through the use of the spectro-scope, light waves are determined. They are concentric waves or circles around a star. Their behavior may be compared with that of water waves, declared the lecturer. If the object is moving toward the observer the wave length is short, and if it is moving away it is long.

Prof. Swezey closed his lecture by showing pictures of the large naval observatories of the United States, England and France and of similar buildings in connection with educational institutions throughout this country.

Dr. Olga Stastny to Come to Omaha

Dr. Olga Stastny, a graduate of the University of Nebraska, who has spent most of the time during and since the world war in service overseas, will arrive in Omaha the latter part of next week in connection with the plan for observing December 2 as International Golden Rule Sunday. Dr. Stastny was recently connected with the American Women's Hospitals and landed in New York only a few days on a visit home. She is a personal friend of the daughter of Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk, the president of Czechoslovakia. She has been honored with many decorations for work in the cause of humanity.

The youngest journalist in the University of Minnesota Publication Building is just fourteen months old. He toddled around the ancient building yesterday, climbed upon a chair, set erect at a typewriter, and pounded with both hands. Anyway, they say some day he will be a great editor.
