NEBRASKA PROMINENT AT LIVESTOCK SHOW

Ag College Livestock Win Many Prizes at International at Chicago.

Nebraska's Ag College showed up very well at the 1923 International. Winnings of stock shown in Chicago on December 1 totaled over $1,000 and showed that Nebraska has a good many outstanding individuals in its livestock population.

The greatest winnings were in the Herford herd. Several single high placings were made by the cattle. "Prairie D," a grade senior calf, won reserve champion grade and champion grade Herford. "Charles Mischief," a senior calf, was second in a class of twenty and second in Clay Specials. "Mischief Hitter," a senior yearling, won fourth in his class. In judging the Get of Sire, Nebraska had a second in Herfords.

The stately blacks, the Galloway cattle, came next in amount of winning. "Homer," a senior yearling, was first in his class and Champion Galloway. A member of the rival black breed—Angus cattle—known as "Cris Cross," won second in the class of Grade Angus senior calves. The top-notch in cattle was a junior yearling Shorthorn, "Royal Marvel." This animal was first in a class of forty, and also Reserve Champion Shorthorn.

ADOPT NEW PLAN FOR SELECTING MANAGERS

Two Juniors Appointed; Final Appointment to be Made at End of Year

One of these men will be chosen Junior manager next fall.

No assistant managers were chosen in track. Juniors who wish to try out for track manager may enter their application and work with the three men who applied for the position. The manager will be appointed about April 1.

Gerald Davis.
Harry Walters.
Ed. L. Stemen is Senior manager for next year.

SEASON IS OPENED BY MILITARY BALL

Presentation of Honorary Colonel is Feature of Thirty-second Annual Ball.

The formal season was officially opened Friday night when the thirty-second annual military ball was given at the city auditorium under the auspices of the Cadet Officer's Association. The feature of the ball was the presentation of the honorary colonel, Miss Rosalie Platner, '25, of Omaha.

During the intermission, a bugle sounded and all the cadet officers, headed by Cadet Colonel Robert F. Craig, formed before the platform to receive the honorary colonel. The lights were dimmed, shots were heard, the bugle sounded and then the lights were turned on and Miss Platner marched out on the platform, the officers saluted, and Colonel Craig went up on the platform to welcome the new sponsor of the regiment. The honorary colonel and the cadet colonel then lead the grand march of cadet officers, after which there was a dance for only cadet officers and their ladies.

A military atmosphere was created by the decorations which consisted of crossed swords and rifles, three-pounders, machine guns and flags. A large N banner was strung above the dancers and in the latter part of the evening balloons floated off its side and down into the crowd.

Three hundred couples attended the ball. There were sixty-four guests of honor invited.
