HUSKERS FACE HARD SCHEDULE

Illinois Is One of Strongest Opponents to Appear at Memorial Stadium.

MEET OREGON AGGIES ON THANKSGIVING DAY

- Oct. 4—Illinois at Lincoln.
- Oct. 11—Oklahoma at Norman.
- Oct. 18—Colgate at Lincoln.
- Oct. 25—Kansas at Lawrence.
- Nov. 1—Missouri at Lincoln.
- Nov. 15—Notre Dame at South Bend.
- Nov. 22—Kansas Aggies at Manhattan.
- Nov. 29—Oregon Aggies at Lincoln.

Nebraska's 1924 grid schedule was completed with the signing of a one-year contract for a game with the Oregon Aggies on the home field Thanksgiving day. The card of eight games contains some of the strongest competition in the United States and will enable the critics of football to measure the power of Nebraska by her records against squads from three points of the compass.

Illinois, acknowledged as the leader in the "Big Ten," will be here for the opening game October 4. Nebraska went east for the opening game in the 1923 season and met with a severe beating. The Illinois were the masters in that game. "Red" Grange will perform in the stadium and will have an opportunity to show a Missouri Valley team that he is the best in the west.

Meet Sooners in Oklahoma. Oklahoma draws the Huskers south for the home-and-home contract. The Sooners were given a decisive beating at Nebraska this year, but Bennie Owen's team have always carried a forward pass with them that has caused more than a little worry for any team that has ever bucked it.

Colgate, one of the great powers in the east, will be here for homecoming. This is the only team that was able to beat Syracuse in the 1923 season. Colgate has long been considered representative of eastern football and will give Nebraska a chance to show the other side of the mountains a view of middle west football.

K. U. for many years on the Cornhusker schedule, will have the home game on the 1924 schedule. This year Kansas held Nebraska to a 0-0 tie and passed through the season without a defeat. K. U. has been a leader in the Valley for many years and the Jayhawk-Nebraska game has always been one of the most important Valley games on the schedule.

Play Tigers Dad's Day. The following week, Missouri Tigers, who also tied Nebraska, will be here. The Tigers have met with some hard luck in the football world for the last two seasons but the Missouri persistence has maintained the Bengals as a very strong team in the Valley. This will be Dad's day at Nebraska.

November 8 has been left open, in order to keep within the Valley ruling of eight games. One date is always left open and it is usually the date before the Notre Dame game. According to the results of the last two years, the idea has been quite successful. The Huskers will play the Irish on Cartier Field at South Bend.

The Kansas Aggies, who had ambitions and hopes of beating Nebraska Thanksgiving day, will see the Huskers play at Manhattan. The Aggies are always dangerous although they have lost several of their men.

To close the season, the Oregon Aggies will be in Lincoln Thanksgiving day. The Aggies are one of the leaders in the Rocky Mountain conference and were chosen to close one of the most severe schedules that Nebraska has ever undertaken.

That the 1924 schedule has been completed. Teams that represent best in the football world will meet the Cornhuskers from Nebraska both here and abroad. The high brand of football played by the Nebraskans has made the Huskers a desirable team to put on the slate of any institution and many of them angle for games every year. Talk of games from the far south, the north, the coasts, arise every year when schedule-drafting time comes.

Girl Reserves to Get Course in Leadership

The leadership training course for the girl reserve movement which will be conducted by Miss VanSant Jenkins during the week beginning January 2 includes the following lectures to be given at Ellen Smith hall at 4 o'clock each day:

- "The Girl Reserve Movement."
- "Its Organization."
- "Program Planning."
- "Material and Method Adaptation for Young Girls."
- "Influence of Particular Communities."
- "Adult Guidance in Girl Reserve movement."

BEGIN WORKING ON DEBATES THIS WEEK

Date for Annual Clashes is March 15—Hold Tryouts in a Month

(University News Service)

The University of Nebraska's intercollegiate debate work for the year 1923-24 opens this week in preparation for the annual forensic contests in the triangular league, which began in 1921—Nebraska, Iowa, and South Dakota.

This year Nebraska will meet So. Dakota at home and will send a team to Iowa—the reverse of the schedule last year. The debates will be held earlier than usual, on March 13, according to an announcement yesterday by Prof. M. M. Fogg.

The question will be the prohibition of immigration for a term of years. It was proposed by Iowa and South Dakota. The exact phrasing of the proposition has not yet been announced. Students who purpose to compete in the open try-out contest in late January or early February, are requested to leave their names at Professor Fogg's office (University Hall 112). Material on the question, including a bibliography, is being prepared this week. It will be available for all students who request it.

The Nebraska Intercollegiate Debate Seminary, where Cornhusker debaters have forged their cases for twenty-two years, will be set up for action beginning January 2.

PRINT PROGRAM FOR AGRICULTURE WEEK

Movie of Scenic Nebraska and Parks Will Be Shown on Opening Day.

The programs for Organized Agriculture Week, January 7 to 11, are being printed and will be distributed soon after January 1.

A feature of the opening day of the State Horticulturists' meeting will be a movie showing scenic Nebraska and its parks.

Addresses will be given on "Flowering Ornamentals," "Ornamental Trees and How to Use Them," and the "Use and Value of Forest Trees."

Later meetings will deal with problems in "Grape Growing," "Fruit Packing," and "Orchard Management."

The Nebraska crop growers will discuss the control of the Hessian fly and the maintenance of soil fertility. A discussion of the tax problem will be taken up on one morning. Dr. Keim will discuss the state wheat problem in an address before the association.

Skidmore Speaks at Ag Club Stag Party

The Ag Club sponsored an oyster stew at the Ag College cafeteria Tuesday evening. All men students were invited and about 150 were present. After a feed of oyster soup they were entertained by a program.

Prof. L. V. Skidmore of the animal pathology department, talked on "Loyalty to Your College." Following this two boxing matches were held. The pugilists were Elmer Huckfeldt and Hugh Snyder; and George Beadle and John Theis. A report of the animal husbandry judging team's trip to Chicago was given by Alfred L. Niels. Spiritualist Leon Samsel recalled the shades of two old farmers and made them entertain the Ag club.

Whether you study, play, or work during your vacation, the staff of the Daily Nebraskan wishes you the same old wish—may each of you enjoy—

A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year

Weather Stops Annual Christmas Celebration

On account of misty weather the annual university Christmas tree decoration scheduled by the All-university committee program on the campus was called off, disappointing about a hundred students who had assembled for the occasion. Some $21 worth of candy which had been bought for the party will be given to the Nebraska Children's Orthopedic Hospital.

JENKS TO SPEAK AT DE MOLAY BANQUET

Dr. Hart Jenks, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Omaha, will be the chief speaker at the mid-winter convocation of Lincoln chapter, Order of DeMolay, which will be held Saturday evening at the Scottish Rite Temple.

J. W. Searson of the University Publishing company will also speak, outlining the DeMolay citizenship program. He recently saw Frank S. Lands, organizer of DeMolay, at Kansas City and he brings to Lincoln Chapter a personal message from Mr. Lands.

The banquet will start promptly at 6 o'clock. An orchestra will furnish music during the meal. Wendell Berge, master counselor of Lincoln Chapter, will act as toastmaster. All Masons and DeMolays are invited to attend.

A business meeting of the chapter will be held at 5 o'clock. After the banquet the initiatory work will be staged in the lodge room.

TO GET TWO WEEKS' VACATION NEXT YEAR

Dean Engberg pointed out yesterday that school started at Nebraska a week later than usual this year and that this was really equivalent to a week's vacation and that it saved money for a great many students.

The entire affair is closed as far as this year's vacation is concerned, and students will all be expected to attend their classes January 2, 1924.

Alvin Cutler, former freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences, was killed in an automobile accident at Logan, Ia. Cutler as riding with a friend when an axle broke and caused the car to overturn. Death resulted from a broken neck and injuries to the skull. Cutler was forced to discontinue his studies here on account of eye trouble and left for his home about three weeks ago.

Bengtson to Speak to American Geographers

Prof. Nels A. Bengtson of the geography department will preside at the annual meeting of the Association of American Geographers to be held at Cincinnati, beginning December 27. Professor Bengtson will also give an illustrated lecture about the Santa Elena peninsula, Ecuador, describing in detail the geographical features, and some phases of the geological conditions of the petroleum bearing regions of Ecuador.

Membership in the Association of American Geographers is limited to those who have done commendable research work in geography. Professor Bengtson is vice president of the association.

TO COMPLETE CLASS RIFLE SHOOT TODAY

Underclassmen to Fight It Out—Juniors and Seniors Fail to Qualify.

The interclass rifle shoot will be completed today with the freshmen and sophomores fighting it out for first honors. The seniors and juniors failed to qualify for the meet by not having sufficient men signed up for the shoot.

Part of the underclassmen completed their firing yesterday and the rest will finish shooting today. They can come up to the gallery at any convenient time and fire the two targets.

Captain Huskea plans to change the gallery schedule for next semester, and will announce the new schedule after vacation.

Intensive practice and individual coaching for members of the University rifle team will begin shortly after the holidays, and the names of those who will be on the team will be then announced.

All freshmen who have not completed their gallery shooting are again requested to come up and finish their firing.

CHORUS TO GIVE ORATORIO TODAY

To Be Accompanied by String Quintet and University Orchestra.

EXCUSE CLASSES FOR SPECIAL CONVOCATION

The University chorus and soloists, directed by Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond and accompanied by a stringed quintet and the University orchestra, will present "The Messiah" at a special convocation from 10 to 12 o'clock this morning in Memorial hall. This is the twenty-eighth annual presentation of this service by the chorus under the direction of Mrs. Raymond. All classes are excused for the convocation.

"The Messiah" was composed in 1741 by George Frederick Handel, declared to be the greatest master of the oratorio. It was produced for the first time in Dublin in 1742, and in the United States for the first time in its entirety in 1818. "The Messiah" is rated as one of the greatest of Handel's many great productions. Only ten days before his death, in spite of the fact that he was then blind, this master accompanied a performance of "The Messiah" on the organ.

The program of the oratorio as it will be sung is as follows:

The Prophecy.

Tenor—Comfort Ye My People; Every Valley Shall Be Exalted.

Chorus—And the Glory of the Lord Shall Be Revealed.

Bass—Thus Saith the Lord of Hosts; But Who May Abide the Day of His Coming.

The Nativity.

Pastoral Symphony.

Soprano—There Were Shepherds.

Chorus—Glory to God in the Highest.

Contralto—Then Shall the Eyes of the Blind Be Opened; He Shall Feed His Flock Like a Shepherd.

Soprano—Come Unto Him All Ye That Labor.

Chorus—His Yoke Is Easy, and His Burden Light.

The Passion.

Chorus—Behold the Lamb of God.

Contralto—He Was Despised.

Chorus—Surely, He Hath Borne Our Griefs.

Tenor—He Was Cut Off Out of the Land of the Living.

Chorus—Lift Up Your Heads, O Ye Gates (choir of women's voices.)

The Resurrection.

Soprano—I Know That My Redeemer Liveth.

Quartet and Chorus—Since by Man Came Death.

Bass—Behold, I Tell You a Mystery; The Trumpet Shall Sound (trumpet obligato by Mr. Don Berry)

Chorus—Hallelujah.

The soloists are: Ellen Burke, soprano; W. W. Hunter, tenor; Sylvia Cole, contralto; Archie Jones, bass.

The stringed quintet is composed of: Edw. J. Wait, first violin; Mrs. August Molzer, second violin; William T. Quick, viola; Lillian Eiche, cello; Mark Pierce, bass. Donna Gustin will be at the piano and Edith Burlingim Ross at the organ. The University orchestra will be under the direction of Mr. Quick.

Announce Program for Dairymen's Meeting

Addresses on "Why the Purebred" and "Care of Milk and Cream on the Farm," will complete the morning program of the Nebraska State Dairymen's Association at the Agricultural College Wednesday, January 9. "Why We Need Better Dairy Cows," "Dairy Marketing," a demonstration and a play will fill the afternoon program. A dairy cattle judging contest open to all students of the College, and another one open to all breeders and farmers, will be held Friday morning under the management of the 1923 Dairy Cattle judging team of the Agricultural College.

OREGON—Football for the 1923 season will be brought to a close when the Aggies tangle with the University of Hawaii and Hawaii all-stars in Honolulu on Christmas and New Year's day. This is the first time the Oregon Agricultural College has invaded territory outside of the United States.

MRS. CARRIE B. RAYMOND

Who directs "The Messiah" this morning for the twenty-eighth time. Mrs. Raymond has been directing music at the University since 1894. For many years, weekly musical convocations at which symphonies or programs of folk songs were presented, were under her direction.
