A CHANCE FOR SOPHOMORES

Sophomore men, you have an opportunity to get into a school activity which leads to the highest honors in the college. By means of the student manager system you may win your "N", go on athletic trips, and become a leader in school affairs. But one sophomore has answered the call for second-year candidates for track manager. The response of the sophomore men to the student manager system generally has been slow. This opportunity of winning an "N" sweater and the prospect of going on long trips with athletic teams, is being passed up by sophomores who do not tryout for the various manager positions.

The winning of an "N", one of the highest honors that exists at Nebraska, is a reward which necessarily can only be won by a few. Most men do not have the unusual physique demanded of the successful athlete, so they are denied the chance to win a letter in this way. The student manager system at Nebraska, however, gives every man in school a chance to win an "N" sweater, that coveted honor which includes a life pass to all Cornhusker athletic contests.

The experience and friendships gained by the candidate for a manager position are worth much to him during his college career and also after graduation. The trips taken with the team by senior manager more than repays for the work of the sophomore and junior years. For the student ambitious in school activities, the athletic job affords a fit opening to get acquainted with prominent men in school and to keep him in close touch with all school activities.

For the second-year man who wants to win an "N", to gain executive experience and school prestige, and to have the reward of long trips, the candidate position offers the best opportunity in school.

The track season is just beginning. Sophomore candidates are needed at once. The first men to sign up will of course have the advantage.

Sophomore men, are you going to waste your spare time next semester, or are you going to get into an activity which leads to the highest honors in college activities?

The remaining games on Nebraska's cage schedule will be played at the Coliseum. The unexpectedly large attendance of the Husker basketball games has made this step necessary. The over-crowding of the Armory for cage games this year has shown conclusively that Nebraska's need for a new gymnasium is imperative. Nebraska cannot hope to hold its high standing in athletics if it is handicapped by lack of proper facilities. The memorial stadium takes care of the football team but Nebraska must have a new gymnasium for basketball and other sports.

Incidentally, the Cornhuskers strengthened their hold on the top rung of the ladder in the Missouri Valley cage race by defeating the Aggies Friday night. The fine support and Cornhusker spirit shown by the student body at home should carry the team through a victorious trip this week.

Sororities at the University of Kansas will hold a swimming meet next week. A large swimming pool is a feature which would be incorporated in a new Nebraska gymnasium. Then the Nebraska swimming team would have a pool of their own to practice in, and not have to use the city "Y" pool. Cornhuskers would be given an opportunity to see their

THE MORNING AFTER--

"IT IS MORE BLESSED TO GIVE THAN TO RECEIVE."

Following the war, Amos Bacque had returned to his home in the Cumberland mountains. (For further description see "The Call of the Cumberlands," by Charles N. Buck.) Four years had scrambled by when Amos received the rumor that congress had passed a bonus for ex-service men. Immediately he penciled an epistle to Washington, D. C., informing them of his present whereabouts. "I am entitled to the money. Was not my war record good?" reasoned Amos. (For further reasoning see John Dos Passos's "Three Soldiers.") Many days and several nights passed; then Amos was rewarded by the receipt of a large official envelope bearing the legend, "Department of Internal Revenue." Now he could pay the mortgage on the old homestead! (See "Cast Up by the Sea," by Stephen Leacock.) With trembling fingers Amos opened the letter and slowly withdrew the contents. These words caught his eye, "Individual income tax return for net incomes of not more than $5,000." (See form 1040A U. S. Internal Revenue.)

STRENUOUS AMERICANS.
(Second Episode.)

As an answer to those who are inclined to believe that we Americans are losing our hardihood, comes the following press story:

"WASHINGTON—Undeterred by a howling northwester and the coldest weather of the winter, President and Mrs. Coolidge and a party of about twenty friends cruised for almost seven hours on the Potomac in the presidential yacht Mayflower.

"The yacht put out from her docks at the navy yard about 2 o'clock with the wind so strong it sent bluejackets' hats whirling and chopped up the usually quiet waters of the Washington channel. It did not appear, however, to affect the president—a man who was born and raised among the cold Vermont hills and who has been alarming his friends for weeks by walking about Washington without an overcoat.

"When the Potomac itself was reached, the wind became even more blustery but the Mayflower pushed on. * * * Below deck there was only the whistling of the wind through the riggings to remind one of the outside and even this usually was silenced by music from a section of the navy band. * * * Dinner was served at 7 o'clock and just before the boat docked a motion picture show was given."

It is possible that some of the bluejackets also survived the rigors of the voyage, so that adds another point to the negative of the question.

IT COULD EASILY HAPPEN.

As yet the following theater advertisement has not appeared but we expect to see it most any day:

"CUT-RATE LOVE—A most daring exposition of the life of abandon as seen in the large agricultural districts of America. Does your son hire rent-a-Fords? Does your daughter play mah jong? Does your husband come home to lunch? Women of America learn the answer to these problems from the epic of the screen age. See the risqué dining room scene! See the creature who was once a man being choked to death by the exquisitely delicate hands of the enraged wife! The picture is filled with shocking surprises in which daring is exceeded only by boldness. One million dollars has been expended in the filming of this masterpiece and it brings a spectacular moral message to the home. Highly recommended by boards of censors. CHILDREN UNDER SIXTEEN NOT ADMITTED."

But in spite of it all S R O signs are still in general use.

In a plea for more men out for track, an editorial writer of the Daily Nebraskan states that "even the worst looking 'dub' often develops into a real track man, rewarded by an 'N' letter." At this point his courage ebbs and he fails to cite examples in support of his contention.

There was a young student named Brown,
Who knew every dance hall in town.
He sneered at the "crams"
And "flunked" all exams,
And danced to success and renown.

An' that's a lot of bunk!

swimming team in action. Under present conditions all Husker water meets have to be held away from home. Again, intra-mural swimming contests would have a prominent place in the University athletic program.

Michigan University holds its first indoor track meet of the season in March. The Wolverines have two huge gymnasiums, the Waterman gymnasium and the Yost field house which will easily seat the entire student body of the institution. Michigan won the National Intercollegiate track meet at Chicago and two Western conference championships last year. Why? Track men work the year round at Michigan, where indoor facilities for track training are not lacking. Proper facilities are fundamental to success in every sport. Nebraska needs a new gymnasium.

At this University there are several dormitories for girls, the first units of the system that has often been discussed. The dormitories are fine homes for the girls but they seem to have a commercial atmosphere about them that is rather repulsive to the aesthetic sense. Not that the girls are being held up for money, but that the houses are called by nothing but bleak and formal numbers or letters. It goes 1220 R or A dormitory.

At most of the private schools there are dormitories but they are named. Often they bear the name of an alumnus, an instructor, or a beneficiary but they are not names chosen from some alphabet or numerical system.

The common American coldness in names is certainly typified in distinguishing Nebraska dormitories. It is system everywhere and because it is probably easier to write and print dormitory A than Scribbers Cottage, the dormitory is called "Dormitory A" and not "Scribbers Cottage."
