PROF. RUSSEL SPEAKS TO SIGMA XI SOCIETY

Presents General Discussion of Soil Fertility in Nebraska.

Prof. J. C. Russel lectured to the Sigma Xi society Tuesday at 8 o'clock. His subject was, "A General Discussion of Soil Fertility in Nebraska." The address was followed by a short meeting of the society to adopt a new plan for eligibility to membership.

Prof. Russel showed that the farmers now have to work very much harder than in former year and get no more for it, proving that, altho statistics do not show it, the fertility of the soil is alarmingly decreasing. The scientists however, can get nowhere until the farmer is made to see the calamity that is approaching him and tries to work out an effective system of rotation of crops which will put nitrogen and organic matter back into the soil when it is taken out.

"What would Nebraska farmers say if several inches were suddenly cut off our annual rainfall? Yet there is a strong possibility that 30 per cent less of organic matter has seriously reduced the effectiveness of our present rainfall," he pointed out.

DR. FLING LECTURES ON HISTORICAL STUDY

Says History is One of Most Fundamental Subjects in Curriculum.

"History is one of the most fundamental subjects in a university curriculum," Dr. F. M. Fling of the history department told freshman lecture students of the College of Arts and Sciences in his lecture on "The Significance of Historical Study," Monday evening and Tuesday morning. He compared history with other subjects, pointing out that history concerns everyone.

The narrow and the broad are two relations of education to life, Dr. Fling said. The narrow, dealing with the acquisition of material things, seems to dominate. The broad, dealing with the spiritual, is the one worth while. History comes under the latter classification, he explained.

"Making a living is viewing life from the economical side," Dr. Fling declared. "Technical subjects strengthen the narrow point of view. They should not be studied until after a broad general education has been secured."

"I am not in sympathy with turning the undergraduate college of this University into a vocational school. I don't believe that the people of the state should be taxed to bring stu-

COPPOCK DRIVE OPENS WITH VESPER SERVICE

Mrs. Roy Green Tells Women of History and Purpose of Campaign.

The first Lenten Vesper service of the season, held Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall, formally opened the tenth annual Grace Coppock campaign for funds with which to support a foreign missionary.

Mrs. Roy Green, who was a member of the University Y. W. C. A. cabinet when the first similar drive was initiated, spoke at length concerning the history and purpose of the campaign, and gave an account of the activities of the late Grace Coppock as a missionary.

Dr. John Andrew Holmes of the Plymouth Congregational church, in his address on "The Meaning of Lent" asserted that, although Lent is probably more generally observed by the Catholics, it is an institution as wide as Christendom itself and belongs equally to the Protestant churches. "The Lenten season is primarily a period of penance and faith," declared Dr. Holmes.

Margaret Williams, chairman of the Grace Coppock drive, lead the services. Helen Kinkquist sang a solo. The hostesses were Mabel Lundy and Doris Trott.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS TO STAGE "MACBETH"

Are Directed by Holme, Specialist in Shakespearean Interpretation.

The University Players' production of Shakespeare's Macbeth, on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week, directed by a specialist in Shakespearean interpretation, played by the best cast ever assembled by the Players, and staged and costumed in an elegant and elaborate manner, promises to be one of their greatest successes.

Besides the four regular performances Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings and Saturday afternoon, there will be a special matinee at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. Tickets are on sale at Ross P. Curtice. The price is fifty cents for the matinee and 75 for the evening performances.

The cast of twenty-eight is headed by H. Alice Howell, head of the dramatic department, as Lady Macbeth, Harte Jenks as Macbeth and Herbert Yenne as Malcom.

A great deal of time and money has been put on the costuming and staging of the tragedy. The scenery has been designed by Andreas Haugseth of the school of Fine Arts and special costumes have been secured from Omaha.

Garnet Holme, the special director, supervised the Players' production of "A Winter's Tale" a few years ago. He is noted for his work with Shakespearean productions and as a director of open-air theaters. He directed the Pilgrimage play in Hollywood for several years as well as other open-air pageants. Sargent won the fencing championship for Nebraska alone, besides taking first place in the dualing swords event and second place in the foils last year at this meet.

Captain Kellogg, who won the 125-pound individual titles at the Valley meet at Ames last week, will again enter the ropes to maul for coveted honors while Blore will attempt to win the 115 pound crown and Skinner in his weight the 145 class.

SUBMIT PROPOSAL FOR STUDENT TAX

Council Considers Plan for Single Tax to Do Away with Drives.

ASK FOR OPINIONS OF SUGGESTED PLAN

The student council has received one proposal for a single tax plan and is carefully considering its merits. The single tax plan, which would take care of all student expenses and do away with all campaigns and drives is being brought up for the third time.

In 1916 and again in 1917, students voted strongly in favor of the plan but it was vetoed by the regents both times. It is expected that a general referendum vote will be called within the next two weeks, according to Clifford Hicks, president of the student council.

The plan which follows is not definite, but is merely being considered. The council, however, is asking that comments on this plan as well as the idea in general be written and sent to the Daily Nebraskan. With a fair idea of the students' opinion on the subject, the council will be able to do much more toward perfecting the single tax plan, say members.

Cover All Events.
In almost every plan, the single tax covers admission to all athletic events, subscription to all university publications, admission to theatrical productions and various intercollegiate contests.

It is possible that the plan may be adopted by the students even though the regents may veto it, according to the council. It has not been decided as yet how many votes in its favor would start the plan, but it is intimated that if 2000 students vote in favor, there is practically no doubt that the University of Nebraska will have a single tax plan.

The plan which is now being considered by the council would allow a student to become a member of the student body only by the purchase of a single tax ticket, but it would not bar him from entering the University.

The Suggested Plan.
Ownership of a single tax ticket will be a condition precedent to the following:

1. Student privileges in any class either for school, college or subdivision thereof.
2. Any office on the Daily Nebraskan, Cornhusker or any recognized college publication.
3. Membership in any extra campus organization which has been recognized by the student affairs committee.
4. Certified membership on any athletic team, such certification to be made by the coach in that respective branch.
5. Certified membership in any other general recognized school activity distinct from the actual instruction of the university course.

May Refund Part.
For any person who may be a certified member of one or more of the recognized general school activities already set forth above a refund from the single tax fund may be made of that proportion paid to the activity in which he is a certified member by reason of his services therein.

The controlling board of the single tax fund shall be composed of the student activities agent, the bursar of the university, and two senior representatives of the student council. A provision for a fifth member of the controlling board shall be made in having the ex-president or president of the council act as a member for the first year after the adoption of the plan. After the first year, the fifth member shall be a junior or senior elected at large by the whole school. This board shall have complete control of the funds of this agreement. Other than for the general fund, no jurisdiction for the expenditures of the proportion for each activity will be exercised by this board but this power to disburse will remain as before in the regular constituted authority. Complete jurisdiction over disbursement from the general fund will be vested in the controlling board herein designated.

Abolish Drives.
Upon the acceptance of this agreement, all drives, campaigns, and solicitations whatever are positively
