The University Glee Club will leave Thursday for Fremont, where they will appear in the first concert of their annual spring tour. Ten other towns which the club will visit are Tekamah, Oakland, Lyons, Wayne, Laurel, Plainview, Norfolk, Albion, Columbus and Schuyler. Dean Parvin Witte, director, has selected the following twenty-one men out of the membership of forty-five to make the trip: John Anderson, Kenneth Cozier (manager), Hubert Davis, Dietrich Dirks, Aldrich Hanke, Lewis Hastings, William Hay, Wyatt Hunter, Art Latta, Raymond Lewis, James Marshall, Don McGrew, Marshall Neely, Wallace Nelson, Oscar Osterlund, Harry Pecha, L. L. Peterson, Loyd Robinson, Howard Schroeder, Meyer Totman. Mr. Dirks will act as director on the trip.

The program as arranged by Mr. Witte will last about an hour and a half, and will consist of the following numbers:

Recently the club helped form the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Glee Club association, which will hold a contest next year at Kansas City. The winner will take part in the International Glee Club concert in New York. Grinnell won this privilege at the Chicago concert this year.

The management feels that the Glee Club performs a distinct function by coming into direct contact with the people of the state. The club is presenting the only entertainment that is going out into the state from the University this year.

DR. H. B. ALEXANDER SPEAKS AT VESPERS

Declares Value of Bible Is Personality Reflected in Pages.

"The Bible itself is just a volume of paper bound in leather. It is the illuminating image, the personality which is reflected in those pages which makes the Bible what it is to us." So asserted Dr. H. B. Alexander, chairman of the philosophy department, in his address on "The Pattern Man" at Vespers in Ellen Smith hall at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening.

"It is the light which is the image of Christ that has been the pattern for centuries after centuries of men," said Dr. Alexander. He showed that there is something very unusual about the character of Jesus which even those who wrote the gospels were unable to describe.

Marq Creekpau, who lead the services, extended a invitation to all University women to attend the installation of the new officers of the Y. W. C. A. in Ellen Smith hall at 7 o'clock tonight.

A song by the University girls occupied the last of the services. Hostesses were seniors of the Y. W. C. A.

Weather Forecast

Visitor From Tropics Goes on Hunger Strike in Bessey Hall

Although Luis hails from the tropics, he is not a "Wild Bull of the Pampas." Luis would better qualify for the title of "Mild Boa of the Campus," for the five-foot boa constrictor who came to Lincoln in a carload of bananas three weeks ago is evidently afraid of a mouse. At least when a mouse was put in his cage in Bessey hall the other day, Luis refused to have anything to do with him.

Luis does not claim to be an Irish sympathizer or a militant suffragist, but nevertheless he is on a hunger strike. It has been about two weeks since he has had food.

Found in Fruit Car. The snake was found in a carload of bananas consigned to Grainger Brothers Fruit company. Luis was placed in a show window for two weeks, and then was given to the zoology department of the University. He is now being kept in a small cage in one of the laboratories.

Luis is reticent about his past life, and so it can only be conjectured

PLAYERS PRESENT SHAW PRODUCTION

Coffer-Miller Company Features Jess Coffer in Classic Comedy.

George Bernard Shaw's comedy, "Androcles and the Lion," with Jess Coffer in the featured role of Androcles, was presented by the Coffer-Miller Players to a crowd that filled the lower floor of the Temple Theater last night. This was the second in a series of classical comedies which will be presented by the company this week.

The play centers around the noble about Androcles, a Greek Christian, who pulls a thorn out of the paw of a lion he finds in the forest. Later, when Androcles is thrown into the arena in Rome, the lion recognizes him and refuses to devour him. The characteristic Shavian wit and satire kept the audience laughing most of the evening.

Jess Coffer as Androcles, whose characteristics were a meek voice and a love of animals, was the star of the evening. His rather naive humour in arguing with his unpleasant wife, and in facing the Roman persecution, was highly amusing.

The performances of Lavinia by Martha Miller and of the captain by Arthur Curran, were very effective.

As Ferrovius, a giant who could not reconcile himself to the Christian doctrine of turning the other cheek, Neil Smith contributed a piece of good acting.

The part of the Centurion, played by Mark Cole and that of Caesar, portrayed by Edwouard Schmidt, were both well done. Mr. Schmidt also contributed a notable bit of acting as Lentulus, a Roman centurion, whose slang and accent were vaguely reminiscent of an English drawing-room comedy.

Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid" will be presented by the Coffer-Miller Players Wednesday night and will be followed by "The Taming of the Shrew," Thursday. "The Rivals" will be presented again Friday night. The company comes to Nebraska under the auspices of the University Players.

FRESHMAN HEAR TALK BY PROFESSOR HYDE

Instructor Defines Psychology as Science of Human Behavior.

"Psychology is the study, or science, of human behavior, and the work of the psychologist is to discover what laws apply to the human being, just as the work of the physicist is to find out the laws governing the physical universe," was the definition given by Professor Winifred Hyde, lecturing to the freshman of the Arts and Science college Monday evening and Tuesday morning, on the subject "Psychology and Life."

Miss Hyde sought only to present a general view of the field of psychology in the first part of the lecture, illustrating more specifically the kind of things dealt with in a (Continued on Page 4.)

STUDENTS HEAR G.O.P. SPEECHES

Mathers and Selleck Present Addresses at Convocation.

REPUBLICAN CLUB SPONSORS MEETING

A. N. Mathers, candidate for the republican nomination for governor, and W. A. Selleck, republican candidate for congress from this district, addressed the students and faculty members of the University at a special convocation at the Temple theater at 11 o'clock Tuesday. The convocation was sponsored by the University Republican club.

Mr. Mathers spoke on the subject of "State Government." He brought out that the three branches of government as provided by the constitution are concurrent upon each other. "The representative of the people as governor of a state should be there for the good of the commonwealth and not to further his own political interests," he said.

Touchees Big Issues.

Mr. Selleck talked on "Good Government." He touched upon the big issues of the day. He expressed himself in favor of the payment of foreign debts and said that the government should never consider cancellation. "The burdens of taxation should be lightened," he said. "The government should not only budget its expenses but congress should see to it that appropriations are kept within the budgets."

"I favor the Mellon plan of tax reduction with the following modifications, increase the exempt minimum to pre-war basis, so that a head of a family should not have to pay taxes until his income exceeds $4000 a year. The tax on large incomes should not be decreased to the extent outlined in the proposed plan. The government should see that invalid and disabled soldiers are cared for, no matter what be the cost. Their services can not be measured in dollars." (Continued on Page 4.)

Kansas Advisor to Speak at Forum

Dr. A. A. Holtz of Manhattan Kansas, advisor to men at Kansas State Agricultural College, will speak at the World Forum luncheon at the Grand Hotel today. His subject will be "The Youth Movement in Europe."

Dr. Holtz was a member of the American Seminar in London last summer. This organization studies the political, industrial, and economic phases of life in England, after which the members tour the continent giving special lectures to students.

There are still a few tickets left and anyone wishing to attend the luncheon may get them at the Y. M. C. A. or Y. W. C. A. offices.

WILL CONSIDER NOMINATING PLAN

Students to Express Stand on Method of Council Elections Today.

WILL MEET AT 11:00 IN TEMPLE THEATER

Students of the University will be called upon this morning to express their opinions as to the desirability of a change in the present method of nomination for the Student Council, at a mass meeting in the Temple auditorium at 11 o'clock. Should the students at this meeting be in favor of a change in the present nominating method it is probable that a plan providing for nomination by filing will be voted upon at the time of the single tax referendum. The present method of nomination is by acclamation in college mass meetings.

A standing vote will be taken to determine whether or not a change is desired in the present method, at the meeting this morning. Should the majority of students favor a change it will probably be voted upon Tuesday, April 8, when the single tax plans will be considered. Should the students vote to change the nominating plan an amendment will probably be made in the constitution of the Student Council.

Students are also urged to keep in mind the fact that a majority of at least 2000 votes must be cast in favor of the two single tax questions in order to make the ballot effective at the coming election. It would be impossible to ask that any activity join a voluntary tax movement unless the vote taken would show a potential sale of more than 2000 tickets. Two single tax questions will be presented on the ballot.

Students are again urged to state their opinions on the two plans presented. The first will favor a tax of $15, which will buy a ticket for athletic contests, publications and charities. The second will propose a tax in the form of three separate campaigns—one for athletics, one for activities, and a third for charities.

THIRTEEN INITIATED TO COMMERCIAL CLUB

The dinner Thursday is to be one of the big events in the year for the club, Abe Martin, president, said yesterday. Tickets are on sale until Wednesday. Frank Fry is general chairman. The ticket-sales committee is: John Shepard, C. Goar, chairman, Morris Shapiro, Frank Fry, Forrest Wallace, Morris Swanson, Raymond Huffer, Richard Inman, Glen Curtis, V. Z. Brink, and I. R.
