

HUSKERS PLAN AERIAL ATTACK

Offensive Tactics Stressed in Preparations For Oklahoma Game.

WOSTOUPAL AT CENTER IN HUTCHINSON'S PLACE

Those Nebraska Cornhuskers who so successfully held Illinois, Big Ten conference leader last season, to a 9 to 6 count Saturday, resumed grid practice yesterday afternoon in preparation for their mix with Oklahoma at Norman this week end. Nebraska gave proof that a potent defense had been developed during the inaugural mix, and with offensive tactics being the chief drill for the coming week, the Huskers should trounce the Indians providing the same sort of an exhibition takes place in the southland that took place on Stadium Field last Saturday.

Nebraska grid enthusiasts were more than well pleased with the showing made by the green Husker eleven against the Zuppke crew and it is a known fact that had Nebraska possessed an effective aerial attack, the Cornhuskers might have sent the Illini back to Urbana bemoaning defeat instead of boasting victory.

Thus Chief Dawson will spend much time during the preparation sessions for the Oklahoma tussle in developing a dangerous over-head attack. During the Monday workout most of the period was spent in explaining new plays and formations and when the Huskers journey away from home this Saturday, an offensive game will be under command. While the head tutor was holding conference with the Varsity regulars, Coach Schulte was sending the reserve gridsters against the Freshman eleven in tough scrimmage.

Unfortunately, Harold Hutchinson, veteran center from last year's team, received a fractured collar-bone during the Illinois mix and his being out of the lineup when Nebraska enters the Valley title race will strike a severe blow to the Cornhusker forward wall. Joe Woustoupal was seen in action at his pivot post last evening and will likely take the place of Hutchinson until he is able to return to the game. Heine Grow will likely step in as reserve while Woustoupal does the oval snapping.

Even though defeat was administered to the Oklahoma combination last week at the hands of the Oklahoma Central Teachers College, scouts returning from the Indian contest report that Coach Owen has a roster of huskies and that the ragged play shown will undoubtedly be ironed out before the Huskers arrive. Oklahoma has always sent a strong aggregation against Nebraska and all indications are that the locals are pitted for a rough scramble this week end.

The same team that started the Illinois game was running through the new formations yesterday afternoon with one change—Woustoupal at center. Hubka and Joe Weir were still at the guard posts, Captain Ed Weir and Molzen at tackles, Robertson and Collins at the wings with Bloodgood, Myers, Mandary and Rhodes in the backfield. Roland Locke and Frank Mielenz who were kept out of the initial performance on account of sprained ankles are expected to be able to play before the Oklahoma test.

Huskers and Tigers Loom as Title Contenders in Valley Conference

Missouri Valley Scores.
Illinois, 9; Nebraska, 6; at Lincoln. Missouri, 3; Chicago, 0; at Chicago. Wisconsin, 17; Ames Aggies, 0; at Madison. Kansas Aggies, 23; Washburn, 0; at Topeka. Drake, 33; Utah, 14; at Salt Lake. Oklahoma Aggies, 3; Kansas, 0; at Lawrence. Oklahoma Central Teachers, 2; Oklahoma, 0; at Norman. Washington, 7; Drury, 0; at St. Louis. Cornell, 20; Grinnell, 7; at Grinnell.

Games This Week.
Nebraska vs. Oklahoma at Norman. Kansas vs. Ames Aggies at Lawrence. Washington vs. Grinnell at Grinnell. Missouri vs. Missouri Wesleyan at Columbia. Drake vs. Knox at Des Moines. Kansas Aggies vs. Emporia Normal at Manhattan.

Following the contests in which Missouri Valley football elevens took part last Saturday, the Nebraska Cornhuskers and the Missouri Tigers loom up as strong bidders for Valley pigskin honors during the coming season. The Huskers displayed a brilliant attack against the Big Ten Illini while Missouri pulled the unexpected by copping a 3-to-0 decision from Chicago University on the "second city" gridiron. The Tigers held Nebraska to a 7-to-7 tie last season and with a veteran lineup should cause trouble when they mix with Nebraska on the Stadium field, November 1.

This week end chief Dawson will jump the rattlers with his grid warriors southward to meet the Oklahoma Sooners. Oklahoma fell before its ancient state rival, Oklahoma Central Teachers College last Saturday when the professors scored a safety against the Norman athletes; Nebraska should trounce the south-erners providing the same brand of ball is exhibited this week end that was seen against the Zuppke crew last Saturday. Last year Nebraska won from Oklahoma by a fairly large score, although the Sooners showed class in several departments of the fall sport.

During the inaugural grid tests Kansas, Ames Aggies, and Grinnell also were defeated, although not put out of the Valley race by conference teams. Kansas Aggies white-washed Washburn to the tune of 23 to 0 in the initial encounter while Drake had easy work against Utah and Washington slipped across a lone touchdown to win from Drury at St. Louis.

This week Valley teams will begin to eliminate each other from the conference title race. Nebraska meets Oklahoma, Kansas lines up against Ames, and Washington against Grinnell. The remaining Missouri Valley teams continue to play non-conference games.

Colgate, Nebraska's next opponent on the home field won from Alfred, 35 to 0. Last year Colgate beat Alfred 14 to 0. Their next opponent will be Clarkson Tech. Jimmie Tryon, the star halfback who played such an important part in the victory of Colgate over Syracuse last year, is still showing his splendid form.

Notre Dame, the "wonder team," directed by the "master mind," and composed of eleven judiciously distributed "invincibles," appeared to be running true to form when she swamped Lombard, 40 to 0. The Irish have the same veteran backfield of last year in Miller, Layden, Crowley, and Stuhlroser.

UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA—One book in the Oklahoma library has caused a great deal of excitement. The binding is made of human skin. The library has been unusually crowded all week.
