

HUSKERS MEET COLGATE IN INTERSECTIONAL GRID CLASH

Nebraska, Loser of Two Games, Will Battle Colgate, Winner of Two, in One of the Best Tests of Eastern and Middle-Western Football Strength.

MAROONS WILL DISCARD THEIR SCARLET JERSEYS

Nebraska's Cornhuskers, losers in two games this season, and Colgate, winner of two, will play at 2 o'clock today on Stadium field in what should be one of the best tests of intersectional strength during the season.

The Maroon men, from Hamilton, N. Y., arrived in Lincoln Friday. Due to a possibility of confusion, the Colgate team will discard its color, as the Huskers' scarlet jerseys are nearly the same shade.

Coach Harlow of Syracuse, on learning that the game was to be the Homecoming event for the Huskers, agreed to forget the usual privilege of the visiting team to wear its own color, and will dress his men in blue. The Maroon — or Blue — men worked out for a short time on Stadium field Friday afternoon. The practice was confined to kicking, passing and a little signal drill. The team arrived in Lincoln at 10:15 Friday morning.

Must Stop Tryon. In spite of the victories of the Colgate team, and the two defeats received by the Huskers, Nebraska fans are hopeful for a victory. The Huskers have shown more snap and seriousness in practice this week than ever before. This hard work is counted upon to have its effect today.

The main object of the Huskers will be to stop the runs of Eddie Tryon, Colgate star halfback. Last year Tryon's brilliance beat Syracuse, otherwise undefeated during the season and victors over Nebraska, 7 to 0.

The same lineup will probably start for the Cornhuskers as started in the Oklahoma game. It is possible that a change may be made at quarterback. Kamm has been forcing Bloodgood to the limit to hold down the quarterback position, with Bronson close behind. Kamm is heavier than Bloodgood and if he starts the average weight of the Nebraska team will be increased somewhat.

Prepare for Alumni. Hundreds of Nebraska grads are expected to be in the stands for the game. Special preparations have been made to entertain the alumni during their visit, including many fraternity and sorority parties and two all-University parties.

If the weights given out by the Colgate officials for the men who will start the game are correct, the Huskers will have weight advantage of about three pounds per man.

There is some doubt as to whether the Colgate weights are generous enough, for sport writers who have seen the Colgate team in action have indicated that the team hardly seems as light as recorded.

Here are the starting lineups:

Table with 2 columns: Nebraska and Colgate. Lists player names and positions such as Robertson, 177 re R. Crowther, 156; Molzen, 190 rt Beuthal, 179; Hubka, 190 rg S. Crowther, 188; Pospisil, 191 c Da Grossa, 178; J. Weir, 165 lg Kern, 176; E. Weir, 180 lt Strack, 189; Collins, 168 ie Hynes, 160; Bloodgood, 148 qb Morgan, 160; Rhodes, 166 rh La Belle, 155; Mandery, 165 lh Tryon, 167; Myers, 180 fb Schmidt, 165.

Average weights: Nebraska, 173; Colgate, 170 3-11.

The officials will be: Referee—Frank Birch, Earlham; Umpire—J. A. Evans, Williams; Field Judge—W. G. Crowell, Swarthmore.

Head Linesman—A. G. Reid, Michigan. The Colgate dopesters have been spreading bear stories regarding the team. Injuries, it is said to Helwig and Seybolt, who are listed as "backfield stars," will keep them out of the game.

Sales of tickets for the game have been heavy. The attendance will probably be slightly more than that at the Illinois game, John K. Selleck, business agent for student activities, said. The number of old grads returning is expected to swell the attendance considerably.

Delta Omicron Gives Tea for New Women

Theta chapter of Delta Omicron gave a tea from 3 to 5 o'clock Friday at Ellen Smith Hall, in honor of new women majoring in music. About seventy-five attended. Among the visiting alumnae was Mrs. Lawrence, editor of the Wheel, national magazine of Delta Omicron.

The program consisted of a dance by Wilma Lyon, accompanied by Rosana Williams, a group of songs by Mrs. H. J. Lehnhoff, accompanied by Mrs. E. H. Polley; a piano solo by Miss Chenoweth; and a group of songs by Miss Lenore Burkett, accompanied by Miss Chenoweth.

Asks Rooters' Section To Wear White Shirts

All members of the rooters' section for the Colgate game this afternoon should wear white shirts, black ties, and no coats if the weather permits. It is the desire of those in charge to give the section a solid appearance and it is thought that such uniform dress will have that effect.

"Students who signed up for the section were given seats on the 50-yard line and this is one of the obligations which they are expected to carry out in return," stated Monroe "Duke" Gleason, head cheerleader, who is in charge of the section.

Four new members of Silver Serpent, honorary organization for junior women, were elected Thursday evening. A representative from Theta Phi Alpha, national sorority for Catholic women, newly installed at the University of Nebraska, was chosen. Other elections were to fill vacancies made by students who did not return to the University.

New members are as follows: Alpha Delta Pi, Margaret Lawrence, Lincoln; Kappa Alpha Theta, Burdette Taylor, St. Paul; Theta Phi Alpha, Isabel O'Halloran, Grand Island; Non-sorority, Dorothy Olmstead, Seward.

Omaha Nurses to Be Guests at Luncheon

Twelve nurses from the Omaha medical school will be the guests of the Vestals of the Lamp, organization of women in the College of Arts and Sciences. A special section will be reserved at the Cornhusker luncheon for these women.

In the afternoon, they will attend the Colgate-Nebraska football game in a body. Following the game, the Vestals and members of Mortarboard will take the guests to the Temple cafeteria, where a dinner will be served.

OVER 2000 IN ANNUAL PARADE

Students With Torch-Lights March From Campus to Lincoln Hotel.

If spirit counts, Colgate was probably defeated last night. Over 2,000 of the "fightingest" Cornhuskers that ever gathered together took part in the rally north of the Administration Building and marched in the torch-light parade, down O Street to the Lincoln Hotel, where they gave the Colgate team a welcome that they will remember for years to come.

Speeches by Captain Weir, Wendell Berge, president of the Innocents, Coach "Indian" Schulte and McCormick, a Colgate Student, together with cheers, songs, and a try at the "Col-l-l-gate" yell were on the program at the rally.

Then four abreast the students carrying red torches, and led by the band, marched down to the hotel, singing, yelling and chanting "Beat Colgate."

"We sincerely thank you for this reception which is the best we have ever seen," said Captain S. E. Crowther in speaking for the Colgate team. "We came out here to give Nebraska a fight and we are going to fight tomorrow."

Then Crowther led his team-mates in a cheer for Nebraska and the crowd, which packed Ninth Street from O to P, responded with the Colgate yell.

"We want Tyron, we want Tyron," was the cry and the All-American halfback, pride of the East, stepped to the platform. He also thanked the crowd for the reception. "We hope that we can entertain you as well tomorrow afternoon," he concluded.

Each member of the Colgate eleven was boosted to the platform and introduced. "You've got the stuff out here," shouted DeGrossa, Colgate center, when he was called on. Red torches forming a huge "N" burned in the Postoffice square across from the Lincoln.

"We want Colgate to feel that they were beaten by the best bunch of sports in the country," declared Lieutenant Max G. Oliver, who spoke at the rally after "Duke" Gleason and the band had livened things up with a few yells and songs.

"It takes brawn, brains and inspiration to win a football game," concluded Seward.

JUDGES PICK WINNING FRAT

Sigma Phi Epsilon Awarded Prize for Best Decorated House.

MANY PRAISE WORK DONE THIS YEAR

Sigma Phi Epsilon won first prize among the fraternities in the annual house-decorating contest for Homecoming day. The winning sorority or dormitory will be announced at the Cornhusker luncheon. Honorable mention among the fraternities was given Delta Tau Delta and Phi Kappa Psi.

Judges of the contest this year were: Paul S. Lanne, Lincoln artist and designer; Dave Schaefer, head window decorator for Rudge & Guenzel; and W. Montgomery, head window decorator for Miller and Paine.

Many declared that the decorations were better this year than ever before. The scarlet and cream and the maroon and white prevailed at nearly every house. There were many "Welcome Colgate" and "Home Again Alumnus" signs. Some of the more original ones were: "The Colgate," "Spirit of '24," "All Set Gang? Let's Go," and "Your Home Again Grads."

Many fraternities and sororities have hung reproductions of their pin illuminated by electric lights among the decorations. Huge "C's" and "N's" are seen at several houses.

The biggest upset of the women's tennis tournament came Friday noon when Ruth Wright defeated Kathro Kidwell, W. A. A. tennis leader, 8-6; 7-5 in the third round of the meet. Both women are sophomores.

With this match to her credit, Ruth Wright holds, perhaps, the best chance to lead the Ranking Ten team. She played invincible tennis, serving three out of four aces whenever threatened by her opponent. Her game was heady and her net playing brilliant.

All third round games will be played by Monday, October 20. The results of the second round are as follows:

Freshman—Grace Modlin from Lucile Bauer, 6-1; 6-2. Sophomore—Kathro Kidwell from Betty Roberts, 6-1; 6-1; Ruth Wright from Dorothy Abbott, 6-1; 6-1.

Coach Appreciates Reception of team

"We certainly appreciate the reception that has been given us," Coach Dick Harlow of Colgate University declared Friday. "Nebraska has certainly given us a fine welcome. We thing highly of Nebraska—we did before this—but our good will has certainly increased."

Nebraska is known for the hearty welcomes it gives visiting athletic teams, Coach Harlow said. The welcome given Colgate is quite in spirit with the usual Nebraska style.

Officers were elected and Mrs. LeRoy Davis, president of the state league, spoke on the state convention which will be held in Lincoln next week. HOMEcoming PARTY WILL COME TONIGHT

The second All-University party of the year, the annual Homecoming party, will be held in the Armory tonight, starting at 8:15. The Homecoming party is expected to be one of the largest University parties of the year by the committee in charge.

The Homecoming party is to be in the form of a welcoming party for the old grads, and will act as a climax to Homecoming activities. All visiting alumni as well as all Nebraska students, are invited to attend the affair this evening. Special entertainment has been arranged for the Homecoming party.

The Armory has been specially decorated in scarlet and cream and an eight-piece University orchestra will furnish the music. Refreshments of punch and wafers will be served.

WELCOME OLD GRADS TODAY

Nebraska-Colgate Game Main Attraction for Homecoming.

ORGANIZATIONS PLAN MANY ENTERTAINMENTS

With the Nebraska-Colgate football game as premier attraction, hundreds of returning alumni will be entertained today and this evening with parties, banquets, and dances. Fraternity houses, dormitories, and sororities are ablaze with decorations welcoming Colgate and the "old grads."

The first official event is the women's Cornhusker luncheon in the Armory at noon. Many University women and alumnae will attend, the chief entertainment being selections by the University band and women's octette. There will be no toasts and the program will be short to allow the women to attend the football game.

According to John K. Selleck, business agent for athletics, the ticket sale for the Colgate game is about the same as that for the Illinois game here October 4. The rally and torch-light parade last night brought to a climax the rising spirit of Cornhusker rooters and everything is "all set" for the game.

Alumni will be entertained in the evening at the Homecoming All-University party in the Armory. Decorated in Nebraska colors the Armory is prepared to receive many graduates, and will bring to a close the Homecoming festivities.

Many sororities and fraternities are entertaining this evening. The calendar follows:

TRACKMEN STAGE "OCTOBER GAMES"

First Fall Workouts to Be Held in Stadium This Morning.

The first annual "October Games" will be held in the Stadium at 9:30 o'clock this morning. The meet, which includes all the regulation track and field events, will give sophomore and freshman Olympic committees a chance to line up material for the annual clash, November 29. All men out for fall track must participate.

Varsity men will compete under handicaps. It is planned to have another meet in November in which prizes will be awarded the winners of events.

The Stadium track has been completely overhauled. An additional coat of fire cinders has been added and students have rolled it into fine shape.

TO HELP MANAGE CONCESSION WORK

W. A. A. President Appoints Marie Hermanek Assistant.

Marie Hermanek, '27, Omaha, was appointed assistant concession manager of the Women's Athletic Association Friday by Eleanor Flate-mersch, acting president. The office carries with it full membership on the executive board of the organization. It is her duty to work with Eula Shively, concession manager, and to help her in the management of selling at the games.

It will be the duty of the assistant concession manager to fill the office of the concession manager, should there be a vacancy in that office. It is almost impossible for one girl to take care of the work. The increase in the seating capacity of the Stadium over the old bleachers has added greatly to the complexity of the work.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY—A gift of $475,000, has been made for the Division of Chemistry of Harvard University from the family of the late E. C. Converse of New York, one of the most prominent of the group of international financiers who founded the United States Steel Corporation.
