

MONDELL TALKS TO G. O. P. CLUB

Former Congressman Addresses University Republican Organization.

MONTE MUNN, GRADUATE STUDENT, ALSO SPEAKS

Frank W. Mondell, former congressman from Wyoming and permanent chairman of the Republican National Convention in June, addressed a meeting of the University Republican Club yesterday in the Temple Theater.

Speaking of Republican policies, he said, "We have nothing to regret. We could take all the platforms the party has ever had and pledge ourselves to them now."

"All classes of our people must take an interest in political affairs," he declared. "We cannot hope to have our political problems settled from the standpoint of reason and secure the election of candidates with sound views unless they do."

Mr. Mondell expressed his regrets that among the slackers and stay-at-home voters were listed many who had had the education which should qualify them for the proper discharging of these duties of citizenship.

In speaking of the Democratic party and its candidates, he said, "Everyone knows how foolish is Mr. Bryan's endorsement of bi-metalism. Some of the other things talked up by the Democrats are almost as ridiculous, such as the free silver standard and the tariff."

Mr. Mondell expressed his regrets that among the slackers and stay-at-home voters were listed many who had had the education which should qualify them for the proper discharging of these duties of citizenship.

The local faculty voted to participate in this investigation, which has been undertaken in every leading engineering school in the United States. Mr. Wickendon was formerly a member of the faculty of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and also of the faculty of the Massachusetts Telephone and Telegraph Company.

"SNEAK NIGHTS" TO BE STOPPED

Committee on Student Organizations Conducting Investigation on Parties.

FRESHMEN BROKE TWO UNIVERSITY RULINGS

Actions will be taken by the committee on student organizations to penalize freshman groups in fraternities and sororities who have been violating University rulings by holding mixed parties on week nights. A number of groups have been reported as having given such parties and investigation is being carried on to determine the other groups which are liable to penalty.

Two University rulings for which men and women alike are responsible to the effect that no parties shall be held except on Friday and Saturday nights and that all parties shall be scheduled in the office of dean of women where the names of the chaperones must be submitted have been violated by several groups.

The Women have also violated two Women's Self-Governing Association rules which forbid freshmen to have engagements on week nights and which require all women to be in their houses at 10:30 o'clock.

Parties have been held by fraternity and sorority groups on week nights, unchaperoned and lasting until after 10:30. Picnics and dinner followed by dancing have been given by many of the groups on what is known as their "freshman sneak nights."

A few such occurrences came before the attention of the committee last year but nothing was done about the matter because the offenders had been severely penalized by the individual groups.

The committee will meet on Wednesday to decide upon the penalty they will set upon those who have violated the rules.

Rattle and Battle Thrive in New Home at University of Nebraska

Rattle and Battle, the two rattlesnakes from Wyoming, are thriving under the care of the Zoology department. They shed their skins about a week ago. Having the discarded skins lying right by their sides does not seem to bother them a bit, for they are still rattling right along.

Dr. R. H. Wolcott, head of the Zoology department, feeds Rattle and Battle a mouse speice every two weeks. This constitutes their entire diet. The rattlesnakes like to kill mice. They rattle like to kill mice. They rattle like to kill mice. They rattle like to kill mice.
