

Will Erect Mammoth Stadium at University of Chicago in Spring

A new stadium, seating from 60,000 to 70,000, twice the capacity of the present football structure will be built next year by the University of Chicago. Work on the new structure will begin next spring and will be completed enough to accommodate 60,000 next fall.

A new field house for indoor sports and basketball games will also be built. The old "Bartlett Gym" is inadequate for the growing school.

The new gym will cause an increased attendance at indoor games. The financing of the projects will be done entirely from the university athletic fund. The plan does not call for a cent from alumni or others. This is an innovation, many similar structures built having depended upon outside sources for their finances. The stadium is to be a U-shaped structure, double decked on one side. Part of the old stadium will be incorporated in the new. The football field will be in the middle and a track around it for outside track meets.

Wilfred's Clavilux and Its "Color Music" Attracts Interest of Many

The Clavilux, the first instrument to make possible the use of light as a fine art, which Thomas Wilfred, its inventor, will present at the City Auditorium on Tuesday, December 16, under the auspices of the American Legion, is attracting the interest of many Lincoln people.

C. J. Frankforter, assistant professor of chemistry in the University has made the following statement: "After a careful study of the descriptive literature and a consideration of the subject of light from the scientific standpoint, I would say that the Clavilux program is certain to be one of the most interesting entertainments ever offered in this city. "This program cannot but prove instructive, interesting, and most enjoyable to everyone interested in science, music, or art, whether or not they are special students of these subjects. "I am personally interested from two points of view—that of having some knowledge of music and that of the sometime student of science. I have talked with one who has witnessed a Clavilux program and this individual was astonished, delighted, and somewhat awed by the marvelous, controlled presentation of "color music." I most certainly will not miss the local presentation of Mr. Wilfred's wonderful Clavilux.

Twenty Years Ago

Highland Park defeated Nebraska in the opening game of the basketball season by a score of 38 to 33. The short passes of the visitors were much more effective than the long passes of the Cornhuskers. Fouls were frequent occurrence throughout the entire game.

In an exchange telling of the trip to be taken by the Yale football team during the holidays, which was termed "extensive," it was added that the team would go as far as New Orleans.

The first class caps of the year made their appearance on the campus when the sophomores appeared wearing distinctive headgear.

Comment was made that "the showers in the men's gymnasium are giving a great deal of trouble, due to the unequal distribution of the hot and cold water."

Over one hundred guests were present at "one of the most successful functions ever carried on under the name of Nebraska football—the second Cornhusker banquet." Seventeen items were mentioned in the menu, ranging from roast turkey and cranberry sauce to cigars. A special notice was run by the Athletic Board telling everyone to beware of certain individuals who were taking subscriptions for "University athletics." It was said that none of the money reached the athletic office and the board expressed disapproval of the act and asked the cooperation of everyone in discovering the solicitors.
