Prof. Pound Publishes Article on Walt Whitman In American Mercury

"Walt Whitman's Neologisms," by Louise Pound, Professor of the English Language, appeared in the February issue of The American Mercury, published in New York City. The article tells of the many liberties Whitman took with the American tongue in his writings, but it states they are not very formidable when compared with the ventures of American journalists.

Walt Whitman, along with borrowings from the French, Spanish and Italian, made many peculiar coinages and manipulations when he wished to reach certain effects. When taken from their places, these expressions seem forced and impossible but they are always clear and effective. As Miss Pound said, "They sound as if he wishes them to sound and they convey the meanings that he wishes them to convey."

He was very fond of using agent nouns according to the article. His poetry thronged with human types, classes and personifications, and he had a peculiar liking for feminine abstract conceptions. These feminine conceptions, when compared to some of the present day forms used in newspapers, were by no means peculiar, but they were rather unusual for the language of poetry he wrote.

A striking example of an agent noun Whitman used is civilizee, a word also appearing in Richard F.

DURAND TO BE GUEST OF CAMPUS GROUPS

President of American Society of Mechanical Engineers Comes February 13.

Dr. William F. Durand, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and member of the National Executive Committee of Sigma Xi, will be the guest of the local sections of these two societies on Friday, February 13.

Dr. Durand will arrive Friday morning in time to attend a luncheon of the Engineering College faculty at the Chamber of Commerce at noon. At 2 o'clock he will give an address in Mechanical Engineering Building 206 on "The Engineering Profession—Its Antiquity and its Obligations."

A dinner will be given at 6:30 o'clock at the Grand Hotel. All local engineers and members of the University faculty are invited to attend this dinner, arrangements for which are being made by Prof. R. H. Wolfcott, Prof. J. W. Haney and Prof. Emma N. Anderson.

Dr. Durand has held various positions on the faculties of some prominent colleges, including Cornell and Stanford, where he was professor of mechanical engineering. In 1917, he was appointed chairman of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, an important war-time position.

As an author and inventor he has also gained fame, being well known for three books that are important in the scientific world. He is a member of many societies, including the American Philosophical Society and the American Academy of Sciences.

Pershing Rifles Test Over Thirty Freshmen

Thirty-three freshmen were present at the try-outs for membership in Pershing Rifles held Thursday evening. As soon as all the contestants had reported, they were taken to the east side of the stadium, where they were given an Infantry Drill Regulation spell-down, and questioned as to the nomenclature of the rifle before members of the organization. Ten men from this group will be selected for membership in the organization at a meeting to be held next Wednesday evening.

Drake University Completes Plans For Rebuilding Of Athletic Field

Will be increased from about 7,000 to 21,000.

The Drake relays bring together hundreds of the best athletes from the western, and middle western universities and colleges, besides high school athletes from Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri and Illinois. The building arrangements include arrangements for a field house to take care of these visiting teams. More than 2,000 athletes take part in the Drake relays every spring.

For the past three years, Drake has been a determined contender in the Missouri Valley football championship. As a result they have lined up a home schedule which includes Valley leaders such as Nebraska, Kansas, Kansas Aggies, and Ames.

CURRY HOLDS DISCUSSIONS

Outlines Qualifications Necessary for Efficient Group Leaders.

DEFINES BOOK AND PROBLEM APPROACH

Dr. A. Bruce Curry held the third and fourth of his student forum discussion groups in the Temple Thursday afternoon and evening before a considerable gathering of University students and members of the faculty.

In the afternoon meeting he pointed out two ways of going back to the records to find out the ways in which our religion of the present day differs from that of Jesus Christ. Dr. Curry first suggested the book method of attaining this end which consists in analyzing the books of the Testament to get the original ideas and then to make the approach through a problem. Here a problem of the present day is taken and passages in the Testament are used to solve the difficulties of the situation.

"In the problem approach, rightfully called the psychological approach, you must first start with the problem under consideration, a life situation. The next thing to do is to find the principles or help from experience that might be used in solving the problem, and the third step is to work out a program that will accord with the principles, either positively or negatively," explained Dr. Curry.

A discussion group made up from students attending the lecture was formed by Dr. Curry who advocates student discussion groups for solving campus problems. In explaining the idea of such a discussion group, Dr. Curry gave the following qualifications which should be found in the leader of such a group: the leader should ask the questions, hold the discussion to the point, try to get everyone to participate in the group, be able to give certain data on the question, and finally, summarize the discussion.

Former Nebraska Professor Subject Of Article As Famous Criminologist

Dr. Albert Schneider, professor of pharmacognosy at the University of Nebraska from 1919 to 1921, is the subject of an article in a recent number of The Sunset, under the title, "A Famous Criminologist." Dr. Schneider is at present connected with the North Pacific Dental College at Portland, Oregon.

During his summer months Dr. Schneider lectures on criminal investigation at a school for police officers at the University of California at Berkeley. This is said to be the only school of its kind in the country.

A picture of Dr. Schneider examining a hair under a microscope accompanies the article and quotes Dr. Schneider as saying that the hair is one of the most enduring of tissues. "Criminals have been discovered from no other evidence than a stray hair dropped by the culprit."

Dr. Schneider recently won international fame in his experiments with Kanpi, a drug obtained in the upper region of the Amazon; and Cannabis Indica, obtained in India.

PRESENT GROUP OF SHORT PLAYS

Introduce "The Son of Setewa" by Herbert A. Yenne, Dramatic Instructor.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS ARE WELL RECEIVED

Hearty applause from "first nighters" greeted the University Players in their production of an evening's program of five one-act plays Thursday at the Temple theater. The performances will be repeated Friday and Saturday evenings, and Saturday matinee.

Three plays which had never before been staged were produced: "The Son of Setewa" by Herbert A. Yenne, instructor in elocution and dramatic art, and director of the University Players; "The Silken Bully" by Michael J. Phillips, from the story of the same name by the author which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post two years ago; and "It's Time Something Happened" by Arthur Doyle of Colorado Springs.

"Judge Lynch" by John William Rogers, Jr., and "The Valiant" by Holworthy Hall, were also presented. Several new members of the University Players company made their initial appearance.

Elaborate costumes and scenic effects aided much in the effective presentation of "The Son of Setewa," a playlet dealing with the naming of Corn Rock. Starving Hopi Indians were forced to trade their children to the Spaniards for corn at the foot of this rock.

The scene of the play is at the Witch Water Well. The cast: First Hopi Woman—Lillian Schimmeck.

Second Hopi Woman—Ruth Jamison.

Wupa—Pauline Gellatly. Tai-ho—Martha Dudley.

Setewa—Hart Jenks. Basa—Darrel Starnes.

Wanima—Mariana Cummins.

"Judge Lynch" by John William Rogers, Jr., merited its title as winner of the National Little Theater Tournament of 1924 and the Beasco Cup of 1924. It deals with the problem of lynching, showing the utter injustice of mob law. The cast is as follows:

Mrs. Joplin—Ruth Schrank. Ella, her daughter-in-law—Mary Johnson.

Ed Joplin, Ella's husband—Henry Ley.

A Stranger—Harold Sumption. "The Silken Bully," which in no way belies its name, was excellently done. The cast:

Margaret Callendar—Celeste Leech. Nurse—Helene Phillips.

Douglas Callendar—Harold Felton.

Barney Rogers—Harold Sumption. "It's Time Something Happened," by Arthur Doyle, hardly to be styled a playlet, and yet more than a delightful little interlude, was the one event of the evening that can be said not to have had a moral behind it.

The cast follows: Prologue—Pauline Barber. She Angel—Mrs. Green.

He Angel—Harold Felton. Playwright—Bernard Maxey.

Post—Edward Taylor. Author—Barney O'Lansky.

Actress—Edna Lenning. Husband Angel—Sutton Morris.

Three of the older members of the University Players made appearance in the final play of the evening "The Valiant" by Holworthy Hall: Hart Jenks, Neil C. Brown, and Cyril Coombs. The entire cast follows:

James Dyke—Neil C. Brown. The Girl—Frances McChesney. The Warden—Cyril Coombs.

Father Day—Hart Jenks. A Jailer—Harold Felton.

Stage settings were designed and painted by F. Dwight Kirsh, instructor in drawing and painting, and his class in scene painting.

Group Pictures Must Be Taken By March 1

All organizations that have not already had their picture taken for the 1925 Cornhusker are urged by Wendell Berge, editor, to make their appointments in the near future. So far only 125 pictures have been taken or less than half. Appointments for the next two weeks are completely filled and March 1 is the last day for these pictures to be taken. Appointments must be made at the Campus Studio.

EXTEND TIME LIMIT FOR SENIOR PICTURES

Students Having Eighty-nine or More Hours Are Eligible to Section.

The time limit for senior pictures has been changed to Thursday, February 12, on account of final examinations. All seniors entitled to have their picture in the senior section should make appointments at either the Townsend or Hauck Studios immediately, regardless of the studio assigned. The proofs of these pictures must be in by Saturday, February 14. If the proofs are not turned in by this date the staff will arbitrarily make the choice.

The list of seniors were not entirely accurate so if anyone having eighty-nine or more hours at the beginning of the first semester or is reasonably sure of receiving a degree in June was omitted from the list they are eligible for this section. Also pharmacy students, enrolled in the short course, freshman law students, and junior law students having between eighty-nine and one hundred and twenty-five hours credit are eligible.

Up to date 560 pictures have been taken and the goal set for this year's senior section is 700. This is absolutely the last chance for senior pictures to be taken.
