

SHAW WILL SPEAK TODAY

Former Secretary of the Treasury Will Address Convocation.

"THE CONSTITUTION" WILL BE SUBJECT

The Honorable Leslie M. Shaw, ex-governor of Iowa and former Secretary of the Treasury, will address convocation this morning at 11 o'clock at the Temple theater on "The Constitution."

Mr. Shaw reached Lincoln early yesterday morning, and will speak today as follows: 10 o'clock—Joint session of the legislature; 11 o'clock—Convocation at the Temple; 12 o'clock—Luncheon and reception at the Chamber of Commerce; 8 o'clock—Lincoln birthday anniversary program, St. Paul Church. Governor McMullen will preside.

Mr. Shaw talked before the high school assembly at Lincoln high school yesterday morning on "Essentials of Success." "Give Service," was his most emphasized statement.

Professor Grummann, director of the School of Fine Arts, said of Mr. Shaw, "Mr. Shaw is a speaker of very great dignity. In spite of that dignity, he is able to interest keenly his whole audience. He reminds me in this respect to Secretary Hughes. To my mind, he holds interest even better than that famous speaker."

"Mr. Shaw spoke here at a convocation many years ago, in the old Memorial Hall," remarked Professor Grummann. "His address was one of the most eloquent I have ever heard. I have had charge of the convocations for a long while, and I think that in view of my experience, I know whereof I speak. The audience was an unusually large one, and Mr. Shaw entertained it every minute of his talk."

Shaw's start in politics was made during the free silver controversy of McKinley's administration, when he was chosen by the Republican party to reply to a speech made on the subject by William Jennings Bryan. The International Monetary Convention at Indianapolis, in 1898, elected him its permanent chairman.

Mr. Shaw was elected governor of Iowa in 1897 and kept the office until 1902 when he became Secretary of the Treasury in Theodore Roosevelt's administration.

Since his retirement from the cabinet Mr. Shaw has increased his fame as a lecturer and author. He has been interested in religion, and has served as a lay delegate at several general conferences of the Methodist Episcopal church.

600 PICTURES IN SENIOR SECTION

Appointments May Not Be Made After Today; Panels Will Be Shipped Soon.

"Six-hundred pictures have been taken for the senior section of the Cornhusker and we cannot extend the time for seniors," said Wendell Berge, '25, editor-in-chief, Wednesday afternoon.

"Today is the last day on which seniors can make appointments at Townsend's or Hauck's studios, unless they make special arrangements with the staff. All proofs must be returned by Saturday night, or we will have to make the selections ourselves. The senior panels will be shipped to the engravers the latter part of next week."

The list of seniors published was not entirely accurate. All students having eighty-nine or more hours at the beginning of the first semester, or who are reasonably sure of receiving a degree in June, are eligible for the section though they were omitted from the list. Pharmacy students, enrolled in the short course, freshman law students, and junior law students having between eighty-nine and one hundred and twenty-five hours credit are eligible.

DR. HOLMES SPEAKS AT VESPER SERVICE

"Bitter-Sweet" Is Subject of Tuesday Evening Address Before Women.

"It is the bitter-sweet joys of life that make up the most precious experiences and leave the sweetest memories," declared Dr. John Andrew Holmes, pastor of First Plymouth Congregational church in his address "Bitter-sweet" at Vespers Tuesday evening in Ellen Smith Hall. Dr. Holmes warned against trying to strain from college experience all the bitterness. "There is scarcely enough misery in the average life to give it a good flavor. The only sacrifices that we make in life are those of luxury. It is the blend of the bitter and the sweet that gives the sweet flavor to the whole of life. The student in college who tries to drink only of the sweet, lays up for himself emptiness of mind and spirit for years to come."

The Delta Omicron trio composed of Mary Ellen Edgerton, violin; Mary Creekpaum, cello; and Harriet Cruise, piano, furnished special music. Eleanor Flatemersch led the services.

GIVES REPORT OF CONVENTION

Beulah Sundell Tells of Washington Foreign Missionary Conference.

WORLD FORUM HEARS NEBRASKA DELEGATE

"The hope of the world lies not in our western civilization nor in our religion, but in the true spirit of Jesus Christ," was the keynote of the Foreign Missionary Convention of the United States and Canada as reported by Beulah Sundell, '25, Omaha, Nebraska student representative, at the World Forum luncheon at the Grand Hotel Wednesday noon.

"This fact seemed to permeate the entire convention, and was prophetically first sounded from the platform by Calvin Coolidge, who said, in the opening address of the convention, 'Foreign missions cannot rise higher than their source.' The President further urged that the standards of those who become missionaries should raise, and that the people who send them should maintain higher standards of Christian conduct. 'The missionaries must not go in the spirit of teaching alone,' he concluded, 'but in the spirit of learning and interpretation.'"

The main purpose of the convention was to enlarge the view of the field of foreign missions, according to Miss Sundell. The question of a new policy of foreign missions was put before the body—the policy whereby true Christianity should be given the peoples in the Pacific region, rather than the civilization of the missionaries. It was the general opinion at the convention that the greatest problems of adjustment in the next fifty years would be in the Pacific region, mainly concerning Japan and China.

"We are prone to look at missionary work merely from the altruistic viewpoint," said Miss Sundell. "But there is another means of justification at the work. Selfishly looking at the work, we find that the good we do comes back to us." In continuing this line of thought, Miss Sundell gave examples of medieval discoveries that had come from missionaryary fields.

"Ghandi, the great non-Christian leader in India, said in regard to missionary work to Dr. E. Stanley Jones, one of the foremost men in the field: 'You have inoculated the world with a mild form of Christianity, so that the majority do not get the real thing.' It is feared by many that all the missionaries are living exemplary Christian lives. They must do that, in order to get others to follow their leadership."

"The Orient is looking for a movement in Christianity toward the Occident," concluded Miss Sundell, quoting Professor Cornelius of Lucknow University, Lucknow, China, from his address to the convention.

PICK VARSITY DEBATE TEAM

Eight Men Chosen from Nineteen Candidates at Try-out Wednesday.

WILL MEET SOUTH DAKOTA AND IOWA

Eight men were picked as members of the University of Nebraska debate team from the nineteen candidates who spoke yesterday afternoon in University hall 106. They are: affirmative: George Johnson, '28, Lincoln; Volta Torrey, '26, Aurora; and Alexander McKie, '25, Law, '26, Omaha. Alternate: Edward Jennings, '26, Lincoln. Negative: David Sher, '28, Omaha; Ralph G. Brooks, Law, '27, Lincoln; and Lloyd J. Marti, Law, '27, Lincoln. Alternate: John A. Otley, '25, Waverly.

Two other men were also appointed for membership in the Intercollegiate-Debate Seminary. They are Paul Haberlan, '27, Lincoln and Douglass W. Orr, '27, Lincoln. "The seminary is the only class on the campus with an alumni association," said Anan Raymond, Omaha, secretary of the Nebraska Bar Association.

The question argued was: Resolved: That Congress Should be Given the Power to Overrule, By a Two-Thirds Vote of Both Houses, Supreme Court Decisions, Which Declare Acts of Congress Unconstitutional. Due to the fact that only seven men talked on the affirmative yesterday, Johnson, McKie and Jennings were changed to that side by the judges after the tryouts.

M. M. Fogg, director of the School of Journalism and professor of English, was chairman as he has been since debating started at Nebraska twenty-four years ago. The judges were: Prof. Clarence E. McNeill, department of economics, former Doane College debater; O. K. Perrin, '14, Law '16, Phi Beta Phi, Sigma Xi, Order of the Coif, Lincoln; C. L. Rein, '13, Law '15, J. D. '21, Lincoln; and Robert VanPelt, '20 (Doane), Law '22, Lincoln.

Mr. Perrin took part in the Nebraska-Iowa debate in 1913 and is now a Lincoln lawyer. Mr. Rein was a speaking member of the Nebraska team against Illinois in 1910 and against Minnesota in 1911. He is another Lincoln lawyer. Mr. VanPelt was in the Nebraska-Iowa match in 1920, and is now also practicing law here.

The order of the speakers yesterday afternoon was determined by lot shortly before the tryouts began. Volta Torrey, affirmative, was the first speaker. Each contestant was given eight minutes time, and Torrey was given a two-minute rebuttal. Hugh Cox was the timekeeper.

The affirmative team chosen yesterday will represent Nebraska in its annual meet with Iowa, here March 19, and the negative team will compete with South Dakota at Vermillion on the same date. Only five more weeks remain until the matches, which is the shortest time any Nebraska team has ever had in which to prepare material for an intercollegiate debate.

"The 'Think Shop,' in which Nebraska cases have been forged for the past twenty-four years, will start operations today," said Professor Fogg as he locked his door last night.

Shaw, former secretary of the Treasury, who is in the city to give the Lincoln Day oration. WILL SPONSOR PLAY CONTEST

University Players Will Award Fifty-dollar Prize for Best Drama.

NO LIMIT ON LENGTH OR NUMBER OF ACTS

The University Players, through Miss H. Alice Howell, professor of elocution and dramatic art and their director, announced yesterday a prize of fifty dollars to be awarded to the student in the University of Nebraska submitting the best play in a contest which they are sponsoring. Plays of any length and of any number of acts may be submitted in the contest.

So that students who start work on their manuscripts this spring may have ample time to complete and rewrite their plays, the contest will continue through the summer. October 15, 1925, will probably be the last date on which manuscripts may be submitted.

It is the plan of the University Players to produce, at various times next year, a number of the best dramas submitted.

Final selection of the best play will probably be made by a jury of outside experts. Preliminary consideration of the manuscripts will be made by a committee of the University faculty composed of:

Louise Poud, professor of English; H. Alice Howell, professor of elocution and dramatic art and director of the University Players; Marguerite McPhee, professor of English; Constance Syford, instructor in English; P. H. Frye, professor of English; S. B. Gass, professor of English; R. D. Scott, professor of the modern English drama; and J. A. Rice, jr., professor of ancient languages, chairman.

All manuscripts must be submitted to Professor Rice, the chairman. Students intending to enter the contest may consult any members of the committee for more complete information.

ANNUAL WRITEUPS DUE FEBRUARY 25

Set Deadline for Sketches of Organizations for 1925 Cornhusker.

The writeups that are to accompany the organization pictures in the Cornhusker are due on February 25, and all organizations should be ready to turn in their copy at that time.

These writeups need not have absolute uniformity, as has been the rule in previous years, but unless otherwise specified, they must follow a somewhat general plan. These writeups that are to be with the pictures are to be about two hundred and fifty words in length. In the first paragraph should be stated the aims and purposes of the organization and the remainder of the article should be devoted to a survey of the activities during the past year. No writeups that are in the nature of a general history of the organization will be accepted, as that will be a duplication of the work of last year and newness is the keynote of this year's work.

Organizations wishing to follow some other plan must submit this to the staff for approval. All copy is to be turned in to Donald Sampson, '26, Central City, managing editor of the Cornhusker.

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE—Girls are urged to attend the boxing meets in larger numbers. It is characterized as an all-college event.

P. K. A. STILL LEADS MEET

Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon Maintain Places.

GISH AND WYATT TIE FOR HONORS

The three leaders in the interfraternity track meet successfully defended their positions yesterday in the half-mile run and the 50-yard low hurdles. Pi Kappa Alpha still leads with 8,578 points as the new grand total. Delta Tau Delta cut the Pi Kappa Alpha lead 52 points, and now stands second with 8,390 points—188 behind. Sigma Alpha Epsilon has 7,375 points in third place.

Gish of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Wyatt of Kappa Sigma tied for high point honors. Both ran the 50-yard low hurdles in :06:6 for 880 points. This equaled the meet record established last year.

Moore of Pi Kappa Alpha and Davenport of Delta Tau Delta lowered the meet record in the half-mile run. Moore ran the distance in 2:08:4-10, for 864 points, and Davenport came in 1-10 of a second later, for 860 points. The former record was 2:09:8-10.

Wyatt of Kappa Sigma is the individual high-point man of the meet so far. His total for the three days is 2,248.

The 660-yard dash and the pole vault are scheduled for this afternoon.

The race this year has not developed into such a runaway affair that it was last year when Alpha Tau Omega led consistently with a lead of 593 points as the lowest in the six days, and ended up 2,225 points ahead of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The events tomorrow may just switch the two top teams as Pi Kappa Alpha is only 188 points ahead of Delta Tau Delta. Sigma Phi Epsilon has only an outside chance of breaking into the first or second positions as it is 1,015 behind Delta Tau Delta.

Alpha Tau Omega only 289 below Sigma Phi Epsilon may push up to third place. Sigma Nu with only four points less also has a chance to place in the top three. There may be some changes in the relative position of the other teams at the end of the day, but none of them seem strong enough now to overcome the lead of the first three teams.

The master sheet showing the individual results is posted on the Armory bulletin board.

The standings are:

Table with 2 columns: Organization Name and Points. Includes Pi Kappa Alpha (8,578), Delta Tau Delta (8,390), Sigma Phi Epsilon (7,375), Alpha Tau Omega (7,113), Sigma Alpha Epsilon (6,824), Sigma Nu (6,820), Farm House (6,405), Alpha Sigma Phi (6,402), Alpha Gamma Rho (6,067), Alpha Theta Chi (5,673), Delta Upsilon (5,635), Silver Lynx (4,941), Kappa Sigma (4,647), Beta Theta Pi (4,622), Phi Kappa Psi (4,493), Delta Chi (3,942), Phi Delta Theta (3,802), Pi Kappa Phi (3,700), Mu Sigma (3,063), Phi Tau Epsilon (1,592), Omega Beta Pi (520).
