THE FUNCTION OF THE VOCATIONAL SCHOOL.

In a recent editorial, the Harvard Crimson points out what it believes to be a valid solution for the conflict in the curriculum between the vocational and cultural ideas of education. It argues that the establishment of vocational schools, such as the Harvard Graduate School of Business, relieves the college of liberal arts of a function which it has never wanted and for which it was not intended.

It is true that a demand has been made in recent years on the college of liberal arts to do more than merely train students in the humanities. It has been asked to teach them to earn a living, and in attempting to meet this demand and give courses which combine the "practical" and the cultural it has often so badly scrambled the curriculum that the results have been tragic.

That the professional and technical schools clarify the whole situation by taking from the arts college this burden of vocational training there can be little doubt. With such a burden gone, the College is allowed to continue its own task in its own way. It makes it possible for students who desire a cultural education to get it, and for those who wish professional and technical training to get that, without being compelled to accept a curious mixture which has no distinctive characteristics of its own. To this extent the vocational schools are a blessing to the over-burdened colleges of liberal arts.

JOURNALISM WEEK.

In the "Journalism Week" being held from Tuesday to Saturday of this week, the School of Journalism is acting as host to the members of the Nebraska State Press Association and the Nebraska Writers' Guild.

By the provision of programs and entertainment, and by making general arrangements for such meetings as these, the professional schools do much to increase the prestige of the University with the people of the state.

Such meetings are also of value because they permit the students to study at close range the practical problems, the co-operative aspects, and the ideals of the professions which they intend to enter.

CAMPUS CLUB GIVES PARTY

Decorations Designed by Fine Arts Students.

Light musical numbers constituted the program at the Campus Club party in the Faculty Women's club rooms in the Temple Saturday night. Marjorie Shanafelt presented her marionette doll, Lizette. Winifred Cook, small granddaughter of Dr. E. H. Barbour, played her diminutive harp. Songs and musical readings were given by Helen Cowan, Ruth Warner and Pearl Cosgrave.

Decorations used for the party are being left up this week. They were designed and prepared by the interior decoration department at the School of Fine Arts, and are in keeping with the Valentine season.

Legislative Ladies To Hear Grummann

The Legislative Ladies League will meet in the Art Gallery at 2:30 tomorrow. Professor F. H. Grummann will speak on "Art in the European Capitals."

Mrs. Samuel Avery and Mrs. P. H. Grummann will preside at the tea tables and Mrs. Adam McMullen will be included in the receiving line.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE—Losses aggregating less than five-tenths of 1 per cent over a period of fourteen years of student loans in the remarkable record just reported by the student loan committee of the college. Since 1911 loans to students have totaled $115,868.

University and Wesleyan Men Hold Reunion in Boston and Elect Officers

Eighteen Nebraskans, some of them from the University of Nebraska and some from Wesleyan University, met in Boston, February 11, for a banquet at Cottrell's. The meeting was made up of Nebraska alumni who now live in the Hub city. Harold F. Carr was toastmaster. The toasts were given by Clarence Dunham, '24, George Seecik, Curtis Norlin, and Habeeb Skeirik. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Brox sang a duet, Bert Baller, Wesleyan, '24, led a few Yellow and Brown and Scarlet and Cream yells and songs. Mr. and Mrs. Stringfellow, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley High, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harper, Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Jackman, Professor Brightman, Mrs. Mary Scott Burkland, Mrs. Eleanor Graff Carr, Mr. John Hoon, and several others, who were not able to be at the reunion sent their regards by wire and letter.

After the entertainment and toasts a short business meeting was held, with Mrs. Sylvia Storz Jay presiding as chairman. At the meeting, Curtis Norlin was elected president of the group, Clare VanMeter was elected vice-president, and Harold Prouty was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Pictures were taken of the group and several have been sent to be used in Nebraska and Wesleyan annuals. Similar meetings will be held by this group of Boston Cornhuskers.

Need More Women to Cadet at Classes in Americanization

About Fifteen Wanted to Observe Important Work Done in Various Schools.

About fifteen women are needed to cadet or observe at the Americanization classes held every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings from 7 until 9 o'clock. The classes are held in the following schools: Hayward, Bancroft, McKinley, Park, Longfellow and Saratoga.

Americanization work consists in teaching the foreigner English, and a little history and geography of the United States. Such study makes a good foundation for citizenship training, and many of the foreign students continue their work until they are able to take out their citizenship papers.

Women desiring to help with this work or those wishing to observe the classes may give their applications to Miss Appleby at Ellen Smith Hall. The classes will last until the middle of March, and the request has been made that those women who can come only once a week will come regularly and on the same night. It is believed that irregular helpers will confuse rather than help the foreigners.

The regular teachers who have large classes are always willing to break them up and let one or two women assist. The experience furnishes a great opportunity for sociological study. The main thing is that the women be in earnest, and they will find their pupils eager to work.

vice and of the Nebraska Editorial Association cup in 1923 for the best front page.

The Tuesday afternoon program, beginning at 2 o'clock:

"A Profession of Power and Purpose"—Joseph G. Alden, editor and publisher, the York Republican; vice-president, Nebraska Press Association.

"Country Newspapering, A Woman's Opportunity for Service"—Mrs. Marie Weekes, editor of the Norfolk Press; president of the Nebraska Press Association.

All speeches will be followed by a round-table discussion at which hearers may join.

The address by Senator E. R. Purcell, editor and publisher of the Custer County Chief, on "The Development of the Weekly Newspaper in Nebraska," has been postponed because he has been called to Chicago in connection with State Fair business.

Built To Write Hard Words

Conklin Engineers called this "the Students' Special" because it was "built to meet the severe stresses of school and college use."

Which is a scientific way of saying that here's a pen that will walk right into the jaws of calligraphy for the most aggressive logomachist in the class room.

For men and women, fitted with "the clip that can't slip" or the gold ring for ribbon. Try one at your favorite store.

THE DANGER LINE
means to you

If you will look in a mirror, you will see a tiny V-shaped crevice around each tooth where it joins the gums. This is The Danger Line. Food particles lodge there and ferment, forming acids which lead to Acid Decay. The gums also suffer from the effect of these acids, becoming irritated and sore—perhaps receding from the teeth. Then you have conditions favorable to Pyorrhea.

Serious diseases often result from infection due to Acid Decay at The Danger Line. Heart and kidney trouble and rheumatism are among them.

Make The Danger Line safe
Squibb's Dental Cream, because it is made with Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, protects against Acid Decay, relieves conditions favorable to Pyorrhea, cleans and polishes beautifully and protects for hours after use. For Milk of Magnesia has long been recognized throughout the dental profession as a safe, scientific means of counteracting acids dangerous to the teeth and gums.

Buy Squibb's Dental Cream, made with Squibb's Milk of Magnesia—today. It is delightful to use. It is free from abrasives and injurious astringents. It makes The Danger Line safe.
