Believe Anarchists Plotted to Injure University Night Goat

Insidious plotting by secret representatives of the Third Internationale, Moscow, Russia, is suspected by attendants to the goat which was imported from Scandinavia to appear in the University Night program Saturday night.

Traces of pluxotetrachanosuloline, newly discovered poisonous compound which leaves no taste, have been found by attending veterinaries at the College of Agriculture.

Certainty as to the motives for the poisoning has not been announced, but it is thought that no malicious attempt was made to destroy one of the leading characters in the program.

Food was taken by the weakened animal only after fifty-seven varieties of voracious food were placed before it. It had gone so long without vitamins that its ivory horns had turned a sickly yellow.

Raw Grape-nuts, lacking preparation of any kind, was the only kind of food for which the goat evinced even the slightest desire. After consuming thirty-two ounces of the food under careful watch of attendants, strength began to return to the animal, and he was able to regain his feet.

His next reaction was a feeble simulation of the dramatic action through which he was to go in acting in the prologue of the performance. In view of this show of spirit, it is hoped by surgeons called into consultation by the committee that the goat will be able to take his part in the show.

Missouri Christian College Starts "Charm School" for Proper Dressing

The newest thing in schools has recently been started at Christian College of Missouri. This school is for the consideration of proper dress for women for all occasions.

The school believes that true charm does not come in a moment. The veneer of culture is sometimes so thin that it "shows through" when a person talks during a musical program, or gets up and walks out during a speech.

Forty-five applications for other goats which might be suitable for the act had turned in up to 5 o'clock Thursday. One of these must be rejected because of its color, which is a sickly green, due to insufficient chemicals in the dip in which it was fumigated for smallpox extermination.

TWO STUDENTS REPORTED ILL

Not Certain They Have Small-pox; Danger from Disease Not Yet Past.

FOSCHTMAN WILL BE KEPT AT HOSPITAL

Two more University students, a man and a woman, were reported to be ill yesterday, but it is not certain that they are infected with small pox.

"If a student finds himself suffering from chills, disorders of the stomach, pains in any part of the body, or a bad headache, he should stay in his room and reported to authorities at once.

Lloyd Foschtman, pharmacy freshman who was removed to the city isolation hospital Wednesday is reported to be no better.

"The only precaution that can be taken is for every student who has not already been vaccinated to be vaccinated now," said Dr. Lyman.

"If a person has been inoculated in the last three or four years, or has had smallpox at any time, he is not likely to take the disease."

OPPOSES CIRCULATION OF BLANSHARD ARTICLE

Lincoln Post No. 3 of the American Legion unanimously passed a resolution yesterday against the position taken in an article by Paul Blanshard which appeared in a recent number of the Nation, and which has been reprinted and circulated on the campus by students.

The article was a criticism of the R. O. T. C. system and the construction placed upon it under the Morrill Act, the University of Nebraska unit being used as a typical regiment.

"Whereas, certain insidious propaganda has been spread about our State University and its environs in an attempt to arouse a sentiment against military training, and the R. O. T. C., and

Be it resolved, that the American Legion, Post No. 3 of Lincoln, Nebraska, by its executive committee, does herewith submit the following:

The American Legion believes that the proper interpretation of the intent of the Morrill Act has been given by the University of Nebraska, and with two or three exceptions, by the other land-grant colleges of our country, in requiring military training of all physically fit students, unless excused for cause.

"The American Legion knows that the representatives of the land-grant colleges in convention assembled, unanimously approved the existing system of military instruction.

The American Legion would again go on record as most strongly opposed to any propaganda designed to arouse sentiment against recognized patriotic American ideals and customs, and does hereby heartily commend the University of Nebraska for its consistent stand on the question of military training in the R. O. T. C. of the University of Nebraska.

Major Sidney Erickson, professor of military science and tactics, when asked for his opinion of the resolution yesterday, said, "I think the resolution is a good thing. The Legion always has been in favor of any agency in the Morrill Act, which stipulates compulsory military training for all males in the school.

Castings Are Made in Engineering Foundry

Metal was poured in the mechanical engineering foundry for the first time this semester, yesterday morning. About one ton of iron was heated and poured, and about fifty castings were made, of which only two or three were of large size.

Each cross weighs about twenty-five pounds. One cross is forged in the shape of a cross, but joined by rivets. The inscriptions on the inside are kept in preservation by a waxy substance which chemists have not yet identified.

The translated Latin inscriptions seem very vague, and apparently form no connection with recorded history of the Spanish occupation, or of the early days of the Spanish conquistadors. Samples of the translations follow

"We are carried forward on the sea. Calalus an unknown land. A people ruling widely. Toltebus (and) Silvanus are won over. Theodorus brings his forces from the city Rhonda. And more than seven hundred are captured. No gold. They are (will be) banished from the city. Theodorus, a man of the greatest valor, rules during fourteen years. Itabus rules during six years. He built a wall around the city to resist the enemy. Benjamin, mighty in strength. He filled the multitudes with religion. He was slain by the Thebans. I heard this from my father five hundred years after, behind the mountain, in memory of his father Joseph.

NEBRASKA ALUMNI RECEIVE PROGRAM

Alumni Office Has Many Letters from Those Hearing Charter Day Broadcast.

Varied and unexpected are the results of the Charter Day program broadcast over Hastings Station KFKX on the evening of February 16, according to the rapidly increasing pile of over 200 letters which is accumulating in the office of Harold Holtz, alumni secretary.

After more than two years' association in the same concern, the engineering division of the Bureau of International Revenue, Washington, D. C., five members of the technical staff discovered each other to be alumni of the University of Nebraska through the agency of the radio program. They are Charles C. Griggs, '97, A. H. Wellensick, D. W. Williams, '14, L. W. Petree, '21, E. T. F. Wohlenberg, '12.

"It was especially interesting to me," was the comment which the entertainment received from Mrs. Mary Sessions-Stevens, Edmonton, Alberta, "as I was the only girl in the first class graduating from the University. Chancellor Benton, Professors Church and Aughey were the teachers—I remember their names best, as I was in their classes. George Howard, William Snell, and Clarence Rhodes, were the names of the young men in the class; it is possible that one or more of them may still be there."

"So good was the reception," writes E. R. Wiggins, Waukegan, Wisconsin, who received his master's degree in mechanical engineering in 1913, "that I could hear the speaker crinkle the paper as he was reading, and hear him breathe."

S. M. (21) and Herbert, Jr. (24) Brownell "listened in" to the Charter Day broadcasting from New Haven, Connecticut, where they are attending Yale University. "As clear as if they were in the room, the voices from Nebraska reached us last night as we enjoyed the Charter Day program," writes "Sam." "Herb" supplements his brother's comment by adding that "it is marvelous to think that I was hearing some of my professors as clearly or more so than I heard them in their classrooms."

Thirty-eight alumni clubs in the United States met on the evening of February 15 to "listen in" to the program broadcast by their alma mater. One hundred and forty-four were present at the dinner and meeting given by the alumni at the Athletic Club building at Hollywood, California, at which Ex-regent J. E. Miller was a speaker.

The Seattle Club, the Schenectady Club, the St. Louis Club, the Denver Club, the Nebraska City Club, and the Custer County Club were a few of the organizations which observed the occasion.

STILL HAVE UNIVERSITY NIGHT TICKETS

Many Seats in Temple, and a Few in Orpheum May Still Be Had by Students.

PROGRAM AND CAST IS SAME AT BOTH PLACES

A large number of excellent Temple theater and a smaller number of Orpheum second balcony seats remained unsold after the third day of the University Night ticket sale Thursday, according to Clayton E. Goar, '26, Kansas City, Mo., business manager. Temple theater tickets are on sale at the University Y. M. C. A., Temple. Orpheum tickets will be had at the Orpheum box office.

The same program will be presented at the Temple as at the Orpheum by the same casts. It will begin at the same time, and all effects will be identical with those obtained at the Orpheum. The University orchestra will accompany the stage personages at the Temple, while the Orpheum orchestra has been engaged for the Orpheum theater.

Skits Made Shorter. Great progress has been made in the smoothness of performance of the various acts, according to members of the committee in charge of them. Final rehearsals previous to the dress rehearsal are being held Thursday evening.

Length of curtain skits has been announced as six minutes, instead of eight, as previously reported. The whole performance will be over by 10:30, it is believed.

Both Temple and Orpheum curtains will rise at 8 o'clock sharp on the performances. A prologue, full-length acts by Corn-cobs, Dramatic Club, Engineers, Tassels, "Sis" Champe and her Gang, and curtain skits by Johnson and Crocker, Miller and Holland, and William Norton, will make up the program.

Dress Rehearsal Today. Dress rehearsal will be staged at the Orpheum theater at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. The order of showing of acts has not yet been announced.

All members of casts participating are urged to be present promptly. The complete program will be viewed by the committee, and suggestions for improving the performance will be noted. All members of the committee are asked to be present at the dress rehearsal.

"Every effort is being put forth by the University Night committee to make the program worthy of the increase in price of admission. We want this year's fun-fest to be the biggest, best, and most entertaining of any ever presented," declared Bennett S. Martin, '25, Oregon, Mo., general chairman of the University Night committee.
