

STATISTICS ON STUDENT SELF-SUPPORT COMPILED

men of the number of hours it is necessary for them to carry each year in order to fulfill the requirements. Business Administration and Graduate college figures are below any others, but in the case of the former will rise, since such a small number of credit hours per semester will not enable a man to be graduated in four years.

Variations among the women is not so pronounced. The small number of hours carried by Teachers College women is a result of the large amount of time they are required to spend in practice teaching. "Undue publicity has been given to the fact that many students entirely support themselves while attending the University," declared Bennett S. Martin in commenting upon the statistics. "These figures show conclusively that few men do this. It is almost impossible for first-year men to earn their complete support during the year. They can at best, in general, expect only board and room for wages, since upperclassmen find the good jobs and secure them before leaving in the spring."

Dean Mann of the College of Agriculture at Cornell, who is in Europe in the interests of international education, has visited the ancient Universities of Ferrara and Padua in Italy, and the Universities of Austria, Szecho-Slovakia, Germany and Poland.

University of Utah students have recently organized a hiker's club and have selected a golden boot as the club emblem. One of the prerequisites for membership in mountain climbing ability and it must be shown to the satisfaction of the club that at least three of six designated mountains have been scaled.

Even college students resort to childish pranks for fun. At Knox college, the students must run the gauntlet of snow balls in order to attend chapel. The fairer sex and even the faculty must show their ability to dodge the snow balls.

Astronomers Believe that Earth and Moon Will Crash Together Some Day

Kansas Professor Explains that Action Will Not Take Place for Billions of Years.

The earth and the moon are someday going to crash together, is the belief of practically every astronomer, according to Prof. D. Alter of the astronomy department at the University of Kansas. This assumption is taken from the action of these two bodies, but will not happen for several billions of years.

"Our moon came from the earth and it distinctly acts upon the earth, while at the same time the earth acts upon it," said Professor Alter. "The reaction, caused by friction of the earth, is slowing down the rotation of the earth and at the same time pushing the moon farther away. When the day is fifty-seven times as long as it is today, the day will be longer than the month and this will cause a reverse in the reaction of the attraction between the earth and the moon."

"This action cannot be seen in one generation," said Professor Alter continued. "In fact, in the past 2,000 years the earth has not slowed down much more than one-thousandth of an second," he said.

Professor Alter explained that the earth had been found to be over one hundred and thirty billion years old. At one time, he said, the earth rotated in about two and one-half hours and the moon was so close to the earth that it drew the tides to it. This made one very lopsided object out of the moon and earth together.

"One astronomer has estimated that it took only 1,000 years after the moon was entirely collected before it became distinctly separated from the sun; however, this is only theory," said Professor Alter.

One proof of this action is found in Mars, the planet with two moons. According to Professor Alter, one of the moons is now on its way back to Mars and is only 5,000 miles away from the planet. This will not have the effect upon Mars that such an event would have upon the earth because this moon of Mars is only three miles in diameter while our moon is one-eightieth the size of the earth. "When our moon gets to be only 5,000 miles from the earth, it will certainly be a wonderful spectacle," said Professor Alter.

George Darwin, son of the famous biologist, Charles Darwin, discovered these facts. At the time his discovery became known to the world, people laughed at him and considered it all a joke. This idea has just been accepted by people in the last few years, according to Professor Alter. "We haven't upset any of our old facts, but we have just added new things," he said.

Official approval of the staging of the first annual relay games by the University of Texas in the Texas Memorial Stadium on March 27 has been given by Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, president of the university. Invitations will be sent to schools all over the country for these games which will dedicate the new Memorial Stadium.

A dual meet with the Sooners is the last match for the Oklahoma A. & M. matmen. Comparative scores show the university wrestlers much weaker and it looks like an all-victorious year for the Aggies. They will attempt to annex the Missouri valley championship at the valley tournament at Lincoln, March 13 and 14.
