

VARSITY SQUAD TRAINS DAILY

Baseball Team Busy Remediating Defects in Afternoon Practices.

CONFERENCE GAMES ARE SLATED FOR NEXT WEEK

With the opening conference game yet a week away, the Varsity baseball squad is rapidly remedying its pre-season defects, and has been displaying some fine baseball ability and spirit during practice every afternoon at the Rock Island park. Hopes for the conference championship are soaring high this season, and the men are awaiting next week's trip which will severely test the true value of the team.

"The squad this season," Coach Kline remarked, "is much better, with the possible exception of one position, than that of yast year." The position referred to was that formerly held by Bloodgood, and it is no discredit to any present holder of the position to say that Bloodgood's position has been difficult to fully replace.

With "Murph" Lang and "Choppy" Rhodes on the mound, and Bill Domeir and Edwards battling for third position, Nebraska can boast of one of the best pitching staffs in the Valley. Lang has been making life miserable for the hitters; while "Choppy" brought along considerable spirit when he appeared in suit after the California trip.

E. Lang and "Red" Jardine, the boy from Indiana, are the mainstays on the other end of the battery. The infield will include Vols at first; Janda at second; Andreason, shortstop; and Gradeville and Gibbs at third. Tommy Thompson shows up well at any position in the infield, and will be a valuable utility man. Clem, a recent member of the squad, is showing up well at shortstop.

Three letter men are back for the outfield. Patton, Collins, Smaha, and Ekstrom have been holding regular positions in the field. Ekstrom will probably be used as the outfield utility man. Jones and Edgers are also showing up well.

The squad will open the Valley season when they journey through Missouri for a five-game trip. The trip will consist of two games with Missouri Tuesday and Wednesday; one with St. Louis University on Thursday; and will end with two with Washington on Friday and Saturday. The game with St. Louis University will be the last game out of the conference to be played this season.

The building program now in hand for the Columbia University means an outlay of more than $15,000,000. The School of Business was opened last September and excavations have been laid for a left wing for Havemeyer Hall to house chemical laboratories. The old Quilde Observatory had given way to a new Physics Building which will be twelve stories high and the largest of its kind in any university. Both the chemical and physics laboratories are promised for use at summer school of 1926. A smaller laboratory for advanced cal instruction in botany and zoology research, and a student's hall for social accommodations and a Student's Dining Hall complete the plans now in hand.

FRESHMEN BASEBALL PRACTICES OPENED

First Session Held Tuesday Afternoon on Social Science Field.

Freshman baseball practice opened yesterday afternoon with thirty men out on the space east of Social Science building busy swinging bats, warming-up, and doing other limbering exercises preparatory to the yearling season.

Owen Frank, who was selected as coach for the first-year men, spent the greater part of the afternoon giving general instruction to the group in hitting, base-running, and fielding the ball.

The freshmen will probably work separately from the Varsity at Rock Island park for the first week or two for preliminary coaching, and after that will stack up against the Varsity in practice.

High schools from outside of Kansas are: Beatrice and Hastings from Nebraska; Cedar Rapids and Ottumwa from Iowa; Northeast, Manual, Central and Westport of Kansas City, Mo., and Cleburne, Texas. Charles Brokkins world champion 220-yard hurdler of the university of Iowa will attempt to break his own record in a special race at the relays. He will race against Ivan Riley of the Illinois A. C. world champion high hurdler at several distances. Both men were members of the United States Olympic team last summer.

The event will be in addition to the fifteen relay races and nine special track and field events of the regular program.

If Iowa University and Texas university relay runners have anything to say about it, it is certain the Kansas Citians are going to have to dig down into their pockets after the relays and produce some jack for the purchase of two new challenge cups for the mile and the medley relay races.

For two years straight the fast quartet of the quarter milers, from Iowa have stepped off with the mile relay race for universities in the Kansas games. The Hawkeyes in winning in 1923 set the record of 3:22.6 which still stands and as a result took home with them the huge Dr. John Outland challenge cup. Dr. Outland is a K. U. former student who is credited with being the "Father of the Kansas Relays." Last year Iowa again won the Outland cup and if the mile team can repeat at the Third Annual Kansas Relays April 18 the school will get permanent possession of the cup.

Texas University, like Iowa, has taken two legs on a big silver challenge cup, this one being offered by the Kansas City K Men's Club, an organization of Kansas University letter men. Texas set a new world and American outdoor record for the mile and seven-eighths medley race by winning at the Kansas Relays last year in 7 minutes 38.2 seconds. In setting their record they broke their own time set at the Kansas games in 1923. The Longhorns are coming back this year bound to win if possible and thus gain permanent possession of the cup.
