year; took part in the sophomore, all-high-school and the junior class plays; and is a member of the glee club. This is her first year in debate.

Eoline Sweet, '25, has represented Alliance in debating one year. She is on the staff of the school paper, the Spud, and was advertising manager of the junior class play, 1924. She participated in declamatory contests two years. She plans to attend the University of Arizona and take up teaching. She has made an excellent scholarship record.

Raymond Wyrens, '26, has been in declamatory contests two years. This is his first year in debating.

SUPERIOR (SOUTHERN DISTRICT)

John Phelps, '26, although only thirteen years old, has made a high scholarship record. In his two years' debate experience his team lost five out of twenty debates.

Wilma C. Worden, '25, has also made an honor record. In two years debating, she has participated in twenty-two contests, only seven of which were lost.

Lloyd Speer, '25, was member of the team which won the district championship in 1924 and tied for second place in the state-debate tournament. In his three years' debate experience, out of thirty-eight debates, his team lost eleven.

BROCK (SOUTHEASTERN DISTRICT)

Edgar Chard, '25, has led his class in scholarship every year, and will be graduated with class honors. This is his second year in League debating. He is president of the senior class, student manager of athletics, editor-in-chief of the high-school annual, member of the baseball team, and yell leader. He intends to study medicine, and will probably attend Peru Normal College next year.

Byron Reeve, '25, ranks third in scholarship in his class, and has been an honor student each year. This is also his second year in debating. He is vice-president of the senior class, business manager of the annual, member of the football team and of the rifle club. He intends to study law and will probably attend Peru Normal College next year.

Edgar Newman, '27, ranks first in scholarship in his class, and has been an honor student both years. This is his first year in debating. He is president of his class, assistant editor of the annual, member of the football team, of the orchestra, and of the band. He intends to study law.

J. Wray Burgess, '27, is second in scholarship in his class, and has been an honor student both years. This is his first year in the debating team. He is class editor of the annual and member of the football team. He intends to study journalism.

HOLDREGE (SOUTHWESTERN DISTRICT)

John Brown, '26, was in the junior class play, is assistant business manager of the "Duster," high-school publication, and is member of the band, orchestra, and football reserves. He expects to attend the University of Nebraska.

James Douglass, '25, has been in debating two years. He is business manager of the "Duster," and member of the band, orchestra, and football reserves. He participated in the junior and senior class plays. He expects to attend Hastings College, and will study music.

Clarence Edney, '27, represented Holdrege in debate one year. He is a member of the football reserves. He expects to attend the University of Nebraska.

Maxwell Hamilton, '25, (alternate), has been in debating one year. He took part in the junior and senior class plays; was member of the football reserves and of the orchestra. He is laboratory assistant in physics. He expects to study electrical engineering at the University of Nebraska.

BROKEN BOW (WEST-CENTRAL DISTRICT)

Virginia Malmsten, '27, is an honor student, her scholarship average being 94.5. This is her first year in debating. She is assistant librarian and is vice-president of her class.

Margaret Melville, '26, is also an honor student with an excellent average. This is her first year in debating. She is editor of the annual, is librarian, and she took the lead in the glee club operetta.

Thelma Skinner, '26, is president of the junior class. This is her first year as speaking member of the team, having been alternate last year.

COZAD (WESTERN DISTRICT)

Margaret Kinnan, '26, is a member of the orchestra, and took part in the junior play. She won the local declamatory contest last year. This is her first year on the debate teams.

Glen E. Gardner, '26, has taken part in debating one year. He is a member of the football and track teams, and won the oratorical division of the declamatory contest this year.

Sadie Loibl, '27, is debating for the first time this year. She was class president last year and is member of the orchestra. She took part in declamatory contests.

Ruth Laird, '25, has been on the debating team one year. She is a member of the orchestra and glee club, and was in declamatory contests. She plans to attend Cotner next year, where she will specialize in music.

FRANKFORTER DEFENDS MILITARY TRAINING

no serious objection to the military work.

Professor Frankforter also cited the fact that when the compulsory aspect of military training at the University of Wisconsin was removed, the enrollment for the work dropped less than a hundred, from 1220 to 1126.

Value Military Work

He also called attention to the physical and disciplinary values of military training. "Of course we do not all want to be star athletes, but we should all have well developed bodies. Everyone knows that a person can do his best thinking when he is physically at his best." Professor Frankforter expressed regret that more physical training cannot be given in the military work.

In answer to the arguments that militarism develops a spirit of militarism Professor Frankforter quoted Dr. Frank Crane, who said: "I believe the army and the navy should be retained by every nation, not so much as a defense, but as furnishing the best machinery of education. I believe in military training not only for every boy, but for every girl. This military training in no sense implies training to murder to developing the lust to kill. But it does imply certain things that are of more necessity for youth than other things that can be supplied elsewhere. The child learns best by military training the meaning of discipline and perhaps more souls are lost and bodies ruined by lack of discipline than by any other cause.

"The child, by military training, has developed in him a sense of responsibility and this is the core of good citizenship. . . . If he learns "jingoism" and the bunk about the glory of war and conquest it is not because this sort of rubbish is in anywise essential to military training. Military training does not imply that those who receive it shall become professional soldiers."
