Floor plan for the new auditorium and field house now being erected by the University of Nebraska Athletic Department. The main floor provides for four full sized basketball courts. Additional room for one court will be had on the stage. Fifteen hundred couples can be accommodated on the main floor.

RELEASE ISSUE OF NEBRASKA ALUMNUS

First Number of Monthly Publication Was Ready for Distribution September 15.

The first issue of The Nebraska Alumnus, the official publication of the Alumni Association of the University of Nebraska for this year was released on September 15. The September issue is large and contains many interesting articles.

The magazine contains one article of special interest dealing with the new "Nebraska Field House" which is now under construction. Another article by Gertrude Tomson '24, on traditions and the customs which make a University career more worth while demands special attention.

In addition to these articles this issue contains articles on athletics, editorials and illustrations. There are also items about the classes and alumni.

The magazine is published on the fifteenth of each month except July and August and is edited by Wilbur C. Peterson, '25.

GEOGRAPHY STAFF RETURNS

Members of Department Who Spent Summer in Scientific Work Are Back for Winter Term.

Members of the staff of the department of geography have taken up their work again at the University after spending the summer in scientific work throughout the country. Prof. N. A. Bengston conducted courses in economic geography at the University of Wisconsin summer session, after which he did field work in southern Nebraska on geological and geographic investigations, giving particular attention to the upper and permian areas of the state.

Miss Esther S. Anderson made a trip through the Black Hills and continued her investigations of the beet sugar industry in western Nebraska.

Miss Phyllis Rice was in charge of geography instruction at Seton College, Pennsylvania, during the early part of the summer, after which she visited in New England and studied at the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C.

Prof. E. E. Lackey taught both terms of the University of Nebraska summer session and made a tour through Kansas and the Colorado Rockies.

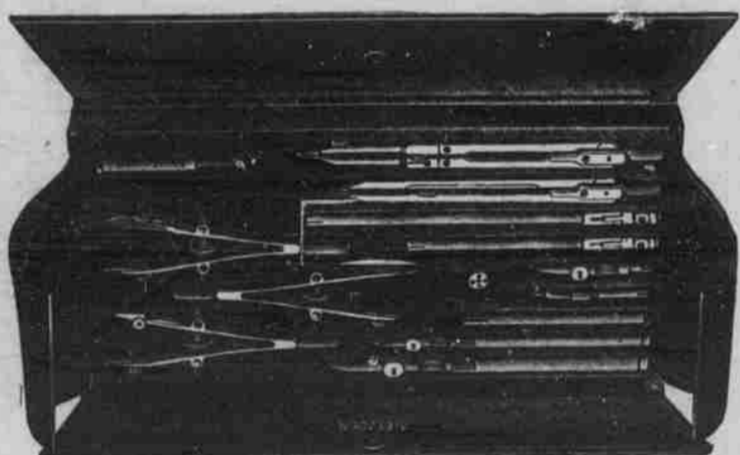

Davis Publishes Dairy Circular "Feeding the Dairy Cow" is the title of a circular by Prof. H. P. Davis, of the department of dairy husbandry, published this summer by the College of Agriculture. It includes instructions concerning summer feeding, silage, balancing rations, grain mixtures, and similar material.

Life Sketches of Five In September Alumnus

The "Who's Who" section of The Nebraska Alumnus for September contains biographical sketches of Frank Webster Smith, Ph. D. '04, educator, Ridgewood, N. J.; George Lewis Towne, A. B. '95, editor and publisher, Lincoln; John James Thornber, B. Sc. '95, A. M. '61, botanist, Tucson, Ariz.; Oscar Van Pelt Stout, B. C. E. '88, C. E. '97, civil engineer, Lincoln; and Warren Simpson Thompson, A. M. '11, sociologist, Oxford, Ohio.

The Call of Fall

You can feel it in your bones. The air is dryer—Frost is far away—leaves are ready for new tintings. There's activity in the stadiums. Soon there will be the roar of thousands as pigskin spirals down the field and time honored rivals are locked in the struggle of the gridiron. College and college life soon to hold the center of our interests.

A Special Showing in College Room

This week our complete activity is pointed to the pleasant task of preparing the young men of Lincoln for their return of Alma Mater. A special room in our store has been dedicated to the needs of college men and here you'll find the newest in college vogue ready for you to wear.

Kuppenheimer COLLEGE CLOTHES

Especially the "U" Suit

You'll find here many correct styles for college wear but we want to call your attention especially to the new styles from the House of Kuppenheimer. You can be absolutely sure that you have the smartest suit that money can buy if it is one of the new "U" models.

This suit was designed according to specifications furnished by selected groups at leading Eastern and Western colleges. It is beautifully tailored. Its style is distinctive and thoroughly collegiate. Advance style showings indicate that this above all other styles is the most in demand by college men. See it this week in the College Room at
