UNI PLAYERS TICKET SALE ENDS TODAY

Salesmen Will Be Stationed in the Lobby at Temple This Afternoon.

STARTS THE PLAYS TONIGHT.

There is Absolute Lack of Conflict in Dates With Other University Activities.

Students who have not yet secured their season tickets to the University Players' productions will be able to get them this afternoon at the Temple.

Ticket salesmen will be stationed in the lobby on the first floor all afternoon, giving those persons who have delayed their purchase a last-minute opportunity to get coupons before the drive closes tonight.

Coupon exchanges for seat reservations continued Wednesday indicating a very strong student support of the players for the season opening tonight with the presentation of "The Goose Hangs High."

Matinee tickets for Saturday have had the strongest sale among members of the University community. The price of the matinee coupons is $3.00. Evening season tickets for the seven shows scheduled are priced at $4.00.

Thursday Is Popular Night.

Thursday evening, the initial night of each play's presentation, is a very popular night with students following an announcement of a special ruling of the University that freshmen will be allowed to attend the performances.

Care in arranging the dates of the shows has resulted in the absolute lack of conflict with other University activities, particularly athletic events, throughout the entire season.

Ticket salesmen are to check on their sales with A. L. Erickson, business manager of the players, Thursday evening, Friday or Saturday, at room 201 in the Temple, according to announcement by V. Royce West, '27, Elmwood, chairman of the ticket sales committee.

K. U. GETS READY TO MEET IOWANS

Kansas Football Squad Prepare for the Contest With Ames on October 10.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 8.—Victorious over Oklahoma A. & M. in their first Missouri Valley football debut, 13 to 3, the University of Kansas squad is preparing for their contest next Saturday, October 10 at Ames, Iowa with the Iowa State College of Agricultural and Mechanical Arts.

White Kansas was winning her contest, the Iowa Aggies were swamped beneath a 30 to 0 score by Wisconsin. But regardless of this defeat, the Jayhawkers are not undervaluing the worth of their opponents who handed them a 13 to 10 defeat last season, and which is still fresh in the minds of the coaches and players.

In 1898, the two schools which meet at Ames next Saturday met for the first time, and the moleskin clad athletes from Mount Oread emerged victorious 11 to 6. Then followed a period of years when the two schools did not meet, terminating in an Ames' victory in 1916, 13 to 0, the most uneven score of all the history of football contests between the two schools.

Jayhawkers Repeat Victory.

However, the next year the Jayhawkers again returned victorious and resumed the lead of total victories and have never been headed since by a score of 7 to 0. No game was played in 1918 and when relations were resumed in 1919, a scoreless tie resulted.

The games of 1920 and 1921 were Kansas years, the Mount Oread teams returning victorious in the two contests, 7 to 0, and 14 to 7. Then came the game last year when Iowa School took their second contest 13 to 10.

Thus the results above set forth show that the Jayhawkers have won four, lost two and tied one; scoring a total of 49 points to the Iowans 39 in the years the two schools have met on the chalkmarked gridiron.

The earthquake which laid the city of Santa Barbara, Calif., in ruins last summer was predicted by a professor at Stanford University, according to the Daily Californian, who warned that the earth south of Monterey was under terrific strain.

Call For Schedules of Cornhusker Applicants

All persons who have applied for work on the business staff of the Cornhusker must turn in a schedule of their vacant periods to Tom Varney, business manager. This is necessary to determine the time they can work during the subscription campaign which starts Monday, October 12.

FRESHMEN MUST HAVE GREEN CAPS

Strict Enforcement of Rule Will Begin Friday Morning; No Excuses Accepted.

All freshmen must have their green caps by tonight, announced the green caps committee yesterday. Ten dozen caps are now on hand at Farquhar's clothing store for those who were unable to secure them before. Strict enforcement of the green cap rule will begin Friday morning.

Freshmen are urged to get their caps as soon as possible today. No excuses will be expected for not wearing them as the supply now on hand will more than meet the demand.

Beginning Friday morning the Iron Sphinx, sophomore men's organization, will supervise and check up on the wearing of caps by the freshmen. The green caps must be worn until November 21, the date of the Olympics, the annual tussle between the sophomores and freshmen. If the freshmen win the Olympics they will be allowed to discard the caps, but if they lose they must continue wearing the caps until the snow flies.

Second-semester freshmen must also wear the green caps, announced the committee in reply to the remark made that several second semester freshmen were disregarding the rule.

PUT RIFLE RANGE IN M. E. BUILDING

New Quarters Made Necessary by the Recent Condemnation of Nebraska Hall.

The new University rifle gallery will be located in the southwest basement of Mechanical Engineering building, where space for a standard fifty foot range of six or seven firing points will be made by rearrangement of experimental apparatus now stored there.

New quarters for the gallery were made necessary by the recent condemnation of Nebraska Hall where the gallery was formerly located on the third floor. The location was decided upon following a meeting of Professor W. L. DeBaufre, head of the department of mechanical engineering, operating superintendent L. F. Seaton, and Commandant F. F. Jewett, held Tuesday.

It is planned to open up the ground floor doorway to the outside, to make access easier. The space is now one-third filled with experimental apparatus which will be moved to another part of the basement.

Rifle practice by University rifle team members will start as soon as the place is cleared away, and gallery protection installed.

WILL PUT UNI NEWS ON AIR

The Daily Nebraskan Thought to be First College Paper to Start Service

TO GIVE DAILY REPORTS.

Starting this morning the University broadcasting station cooperating with The Daily Nebraskan will inaugurate a new feature. News from each day's paper will be broadcast through station KFAB. Broadcasting of news has been a common feature of the large metropolitan dailies but as far as is known this is the first college paper to attempt such a service.

Up-to-date information on the activities of the University taken from the columns of The Daily Nebraskan will be broadcast daily. It is planned to send out all information concerning the University of Nebraska and its students, athletic activities, elections, campus activities, and other items which might be of interest to the people of the state and Nebraska graduates.

This will supplement but not supplant the other information which KFAB has been broadcasting. KFAB is on the air every morning except Sunday at 9:30 o'clock.

Other information broadcast includes the weather report as prepared by Professor T. A. Blair, director of the U. S. weather bureau, and a report on the roads in the state prepared by the Lincoln Auto Club. This week reports on the Missouri roads are being broadcasted for the benefit of those football fans who plan to drive to Columbia. Reports are also given on the best routes to take. The station is also on the air five times daily on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday at 10:30 o'clock, 1:15 o'clock, 3 o'clock and 8:05 o'clock.

Students are urged to listen in, come up and visit the radio studio which is located on the campus. The parents of Nebraska students, if informed of the hours KFAB will be on the air, might also like to listen in on the school activities.

STAFF WILL MAKE DIRECTORY PLANS

Meet This Afternoon at Four O'clock in the Y. M. C. A. Office in the Temple.

Plans for this year's student directory will be laid at a meeting of the business staff this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. office in the Temple building.

The following are requested to attend: Kate Goldstein, Horace Noland, Glen Buck, Merle Jones, Betty Webster, Julian King, Lee Rankin and Oscar Anderson. All other students interested in positions on the business staff of the directory are also asked to attend the meeting.

Arthur Jorgensen, secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., states that the date that the student directory will be out cannot be set with any certainty as a big task lies ahead of them. He says he hopes to see the book out in three weeks however. Typing the lists of students has been started.

The lists will be posted on the bulletin board in the Temple for corrections. Each student is expected to check up on the spelling of his own name, address and phone number, thereby making the student responsible for any errors in his own name. The fraternity and sorority lists have already been corrected by each organization.

Appears in Production Of Uni Players Comedy

Professor H. Alice Howell, head of the dramatic department who will appear in the University Players' production of "The Goose Hangs High" which will be presented October 8, 9 and 10 with a Saturday matinee.

PLAYERS WILL GIVE COMEDY

Presents "The Goose Hangs High" by Lewis Beach This Week at Temple Theater

TICKETS NOW ON SALE

Direct from the Bijou Theater, New York, after a successful run of 200 performances, comes an American play par excellence, "The Goose Hangs High" by Lewis Beach, to be presented in the Temple Theater October 8, 9, and 10, by the University Players. Professor H. Alice Howell will appear in the play in the role of the mother.

Besides Miss Howell, Theodore Diers, Harold Sumption, Harold Felton, Frances McChesney and Herbert Yenne will appear in the play.

Mary Yabroff and Fern Hubbard are also in the cast.

The play was first presented by the Dramatists' Theater which is composed of some of the most famous authors and playwrights who are striving to raise the standards of American drama. Edward Childs Carpenter is president and James Forbes, director of production in the corporation. Is Comedy of American Life.

The play is a truly American comedy, full of novelty and of human life. A few tears for those who must weep to enjoy, many laughs for those who care, and tense scenes for those who must have excitement are to be found.

The play has its setting in a small western town. It pictures a truly American family engrossed with the difficulties of modern life. The author of the play strongly defends the modern youth in the play. In the first of the play they appear to be care-free creatures, but in the final act they prove to be true blue.

Those who have seen the movie version of the play are invited to see the stage presentation of it and then to draw a comparison between the two. A play is written to be acted by real people who are to express the emotions, the mental attitudes, and the physical positions of people who are in such predicaments. "The play is the thing."

The ticket sale for the University Players season tickets will close this week end. Seats for "The Goose Hangs High" only, will be reserved at the Curtice Music store where the season tickets may also be purchased.

URGES STUDENT RESPONSIBILITY

Says that College Men Must Uphold Principles of the Constitution.

HARTMAN GIVES ADDRESS

Honorable John P. Hartman, in his address at the Temple theater Wednesday afternoon, emphasized that every college student today, "cannot, dare not, shall not escape the responsibility to lead the world in its great march to better things—to harmony, peace, good will and happiness. We college students must carry on the banner so that the principles in our constitution will continue to be the beacon light they have been.

"That it can't be done," the byword of pessimists, has always been a hindrance to the country's development. These doubters scoffed at the idea of a long distance telephone; at railroads, especially in far-off places like Alaska; and at the possible thought that human beings would ever be able to fly. Today figures prove that it has been done. In Civil War times, the wealth of the country totalled between sixteen and eighteen billion; now, it is between four hundred-fifty and four hundred seventy billion. At that time there were sixty-five million inhabitants, now there are one hundred ten million; formerly there were 45,000 thousand miles of railroad, now there are four hundred thousand miles. We used to ride at a pokey rate behind some old mare, now we buzz forty or fifty miles in an auto, or clip off one hundred twenty miles an hour thru the air.

Mr. Hartman favors athletics because they teach the principles of self control which is not only to players, but also to spectators. Here is developed a control of mind, muscle, desire, disposition, and a desire for fair play. In employing men, Mr. Hartman tries to pick those who have graduated from a school where athletics have been stressed, for he feels they have learned at least in part this principle of self control.

He greatly disagrees with some educators who feel that too much time is being devoted to athletics. Mr. Hartman missed an important meeting in New York to see Nebraska trim Illinois 14 to 0.

Mr. Hartman urged that every one get the most possible out of the years spent in college, even though at times the work is discouraging. In his work he has found that "one-half of those who possess degrees either don't know how to punctuate, are lame in composing, or fail in paragraphing." But he has also found that the college graduate will more than double the income of the man who didn't go to college, or that a college graduate has in two years accomplished what it takes a non-college man five years to do.

HUSKER TEAM LEAVES TODAY FOR MISSOURI

The University of Nebraska football team leaves this afternoon at 1:45 for Columbia, Missouri, where they will meet the University of Missouri Tigers in their first Missouri Valley conference game and the second game of the 1925 season.

Plans have been made for a student rally at the Burlington station just before the team leaves. The rally is scheduled for 1:30, fifteen minutes before the squad departs. There will not be a parade starting from the campus today as the singing and cheering will disturb the classes that are in session.

The University band and the cheerleaders will be at the station to assist in giving the team the proper send-off. It is hoped by those in charge that every student that does not have a class or laboratory period will be at the Burlington station to see the team off.

FUTURE NEBRASKA OPPONENTS SCORE

Notre Dame, Washington, Kansas and Kansas Aggies Make Good Showings Saturday.

Four of the future opponents of the Nebraska Cornhuskers showed powerful teams in the opening games played Saturday.

Notre Dame, the Thanksgiving day opponent of the Huskers, again demonstrated superb touchdown power by trouncing Lombard college 69 to 0. The week previous, the Irish team conquered Baylor college, undefeated in three years, 41 to 0.

Washington, which will come from Seattle for the opening game in Nebraska stadium, October 17, again demonstrated its scoring power by romping away from U. S. S. Oklahoma for a 59 to 0 win. This victory added to the 104 to 0 triumph over Williamette the Saturday previous, gives the Huskies the honors of being the fastest scoring college team in America.

Kansas, which will meet the Cornhuskers at Lincoln on Homecoming day, October 24, showed its power by trouncing the Oklahoma Aggies 13 to 0. Kansas has a strong team of veterans, to which has been added an army of promising men from the 1924 freshman team.

Kansas Aggies Defeat Oklahoma. The Kansas Aggies, the last opponents of the Huskers before the Notre Dame game, downed the University of Oklahoma, dad's day opponents of the Huskers at Lincoln, October 31, 15 to 0. The Aggies apparently have another team which will make the Huskers hustle.

Drake, which will oppose the Huskers at Des Moines, November 7, won a victory over Washington University of St. Louis—this is not the Washington which meets Nebraska, October 17—by a 6 to 6 score.

Missouri, apparently overconfident and pointing for the contest with Nebraska next Saturday, could draw nothing better than a 6 to 6 tie from Tulane in a game at New Orleans.
