

PLAY TRIO OF VALLEY GAMES

Missouri Valley Gridsters Have Three Conference Games on Schedule Tomorrow

KANSAS TEAMS GO NORTH

This Week's Valley Games
Nebraska vs. Missouri at Columbia
Iowa State vs. Kansas at Ames
Kansas Aggies vs. Drake at Des Moines.

Three games within the conference adorn the schedules of Missouri Valley teams this week. In addition to the Nebraska-Missouri game, Ames plays Kansas and the Kansas Aggies meet Drake.

Kansas, with one Valley victory to its credit—the Jayhawks defeated the newcoming Oklahoma Aggies last Saturday—has the odds over Ames. The Iowa State team lost to Wisconsin last week, 3 to 0, but will have a fighting team for the first home game.

Another Kansas team which invades Iowa territory is the Kansas Aggies, playing at Des Moines with the Drake Bulldogs. The outcome of the game will be watched with interest by Nebraska fans, because the Huskers meet both of those teams this season.

The Aggies and Drake each have a Missouri Valley victory to its credit. The Manhattan team handed a lemon to Oklahoma last week while Drake was winning from Washington University at St. Louis. Dope matches the two teams about evenly.

Grinnell College will journey north to meet a Big Ten competitor at Minneapolis. The scarlet mixes with the University of Minnesota. The Oklahoma Aggies play an out-of-conference game with Kansas Normal, and Washington has no game slated for tomorrow.

Games which might be called "great" are comparatively scarce on tomorrow's slate. In the East Yale plays Georgia at New Haven, Harvard plays Middlebury at Cambridge, and Princeton meets Washington and Lee at Princeton.

Cornell and Williams will clash at Ithaca, Syracuse meets William and Mary on home ground, and Pennsylvania plays Brown at Providence. The Army and Navy elevens plays Knox and Marquette, respectively.

Notre Dame, Nebraska's opponent here on Thanksgiving Day, will play its last "small" game tomorrow with Beloit. The Irish, who have so far this season run rampant, will play the Army team at New York City the following week, and Minnesota on October 24.

The most interesting game on the coast this week—to Nebraskans—is the Washington-Montana affair at Seattle. Coach Owen Frank left on Thursday to scout the game.

WEATHER DELAYS TENNIS MATCHES

Meet Between Proud and Gregg McBride Postponed Because of Muddy Courts

The exhibition match of tennis to have been played on the College of Agriculture courts between Dean Proud of Wesleyan and Gregg McBride of the Lincoln Daily Star, has been postponed until some time next week due to the unsettled weather and muddy courts.

Forty-four students and faculty members have entered the tournament to be held at College of Agriculture, which will start as soon as the weather clears and the courts are dry.

The courts have been put into first class condition. New wire is being put on the backstops which will, it is hoped, stop the balls from going out upon the drill field.

Other exhibition games are planned for the future. These games are designed to give the College of Agriculture people a chance to see tennis stars in action.

"It's a great aid to scholastic efficiency"

ONE professor makes this remark, and countless others are saying the same thing. They know the value of a typewriter as a time-saver, as a means of compiling data, and as a help in the expression of thought. Then, too, it frees the "prof" from that tedious task of deciphering longhand, and keeps him in perfect "reading humor." And perfect "reading humor" tends to mean better marks.
