Nebraska Stops Them Eight Successive Years

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 20.—Eight successive years without a victory! That is the recent story of football between the University of Kansas and the University of Nebraska. It may be termed a "jinx" which has been dodging the tracks of the Jayhawkers the past few years, the same as the one which hung over Missouri for about twenty-five years before they turned in a victory this year. The Mount Orad team is hoping to be able to turn in a victory when they meet the Cornhuskers in Lincoln, Saturday, October 24.

Thirty-one times have these opponents met on the gridiron, and the Jayhawkers have been victorious nine, two ties have resulted, and twenty have been lost. Kansas was victorious in the earlier years. The two ties have been made in recent years, the first in 1920, and the last one in 1923.

Scores of former K. U.—Nebraska games are:

SHOW SOME PEPE!

School spirit adds greatly to the enjoyment of college life. Some of the things that are remembered the longest are rallies, football games, and other demonstrations of the lighter side of life.

Nebraska students are missing a great deal of that this year. Poor attendance at rallies and listless cheering at the games take all the fun out of them. In former years one of the greatest pleasures was in a good rousing demonstration.

From now until the Kansas game spirit can be generated by singing and cheering, by attending the rally the evening before the game, and at the game entering into the spirit of things and putting some snap in the cheers.

About 100 Men Try-out For Pershing Rifles

Nearly 100 basic course men turned out Tuesday night for the first Pershing Rifles try-out of the year. The men were given manual of arms and infantry drill for an hour.

A meeting of the Green Gobblins was held at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house last evening. The following officers were elected:

President—Durward Barnes. Vice president—Don Kelly. Secretary—Fred Dailey. Treasurer—Earl McClure. Sergeant at arms—Ramsey Chapman.

The importance of the freshmen bonfire Friday evening was stressed.

Digs Up Hugs Boulder

A big granite boulder weighing perhaps seventy tons on Observatory hill, at the University of Wisconsin, a relic of glacial days—has been dug from its resting place which was seven feet below the surface of the ground, and will be placed on top of the hill. It will be faced with a bronze tablet prepared by President Emeritus E. A. Birge in order that visitors may know its history.

The boulder has hitherto been visible only a foot and a half above the ground and scientists have long speculated as to its age. It is also thought to have been brought from the interior of Canada during the ice age. Geologists will begin soon to trace its history.

The weight of the boulder is estimated at sixty-five to seventy tons. It is ten to twelve feet high and twelve feet long. A boulder of about the same size stands in Grant park near the Art Institute in Chicago.

Posts List of W. A. A. Points

There is now posted on the W. A. A. bulletin board, in the west end of the Armory, a list of all W. A. A. points earned previous to this year. Every woman who has earned any W. A. A. points should check those posted for her, and if any mistakes have occurred, consult Mildred Wolford, the vice-president. If corrections are not made by Friday, October 23, they will stand as posted.

Forbid Late Serenading

Serenading at the University of Colorado after 11 o'clock is forbidden by a new decree of the social committee. The board decided that any infraction of these rules would cause that house to lose one of its quarter dances.

Only Two Veterans at Iowa

Only two experienced cross-country men are out at Iowa State this fall. They are Conger, who took sixth place in the Big Ten last year, and Drew, who won sixth in the Valley meet last fall. However, a squad of forty-five men are reporting daily to the Ames barrier coach.

Will Hold Sophomore Class Meeting Today

A meeting of the sophomore class has been called by the president of the class, Walter Cronk, for 1 o'clock today. The meeting will be held in Social Science, Commercial Club room 209. The purpose of this meeting is the election of officers.

Members of Kappa Kappa Gamma To Act as Bar Maids at Carnival

Members of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority will be the bar maids at the Military Carnival November 14, Robert Scouler, chairman announced yesterday.

The selection of the bar maids completes the personnel of the bar room, but the bar—an old fashioned one with brass rail, frosted mirror, and all, has not yet been located, and the committee is making a systematic search of the city and neighboring towns in an endeavor to find a suitable relic of pre-Volstead days.

To make the evening more realistic than ever, a free lunch counter will be operated at one end of the bar, where cheese and cracker sandwiches will be served, and possibly pretzels, if some can be obtained.

The full roster of the committees will be announced as soon as the required number of advanced course men register at the military office. Eighteen have signed up so far. All members of the military department whether members or not of Scabbard and Blade, may sign up for work on the committee.

Captain Floyd C. Harding has been chosen sponsor to act in the place of Captain Victor G. Huska, who is to undergo an operation soon which will keep him in the hospital for about two weeks.

TICKETS STILL ON SALE

"The Significance of the European Agreement" is to be the subject of the talk by Kirby Page, noted author and lecturer, at the World Forum luncheon this noon at the Grand Hotel. The agreement in question is the one recently completed at the European conference.

"No man is better able to realize the significance of this agreement," says Arthur Jorgenson, secretary of the University Y. M. C. A. in regard to Mr. Page. Mr. Page is a man widely traveled and has studied problems and situations in many of the foreign countries, including India, China, and Japan. He has spoken to college students at universities and colleges throughout the country, attempting to arouse the interest of the students in world problems and their relation to the United States.

Aside from his lecturing he spends much of his time writing and in addition to numerous books, he has published a large number of pamphlets on economic and social subjects.

This is the last opportunity students will have to hear Mr. Page. His next stop will be the University of Kansas.

POSTPONE TRYOUTS FOR DRAMATIC CLUB

Will Be Held Thursday Instead of Wednesday at Seven O'clock in Temple

The annual try-outs of the Dramatic Club have been postponed from Wednesday night to Thursday night at 7 o'clock in the Temple Theater. Postponing the try-out will give the contestants more time in which to prepare their parts.

Students may still sign up for the try-outs on the Dramatic Club bulletin board outside of room 151 in the Temple. *Try-outs are open to any student regularly enrolled in the University. The judges have requested that contestants select parts from any play. Students may try out together or separately. Paired students will be allowed five minutes and individual students will be allowed three minutes in the try-out.

The Dramatic Club attempts to gather together all students who are interested in dramatic art. During the year the organization produces a number of musical comedies and plays. The club room in the Temple has been re-decorated during the summer and is open to members at all times.

Members of the Dramatic Club are requested to be present at the try-outs, Thursday evening in order to meet the contestants.

Students of Church Will Hold Get-Together Meeting Thursday

A "get together" banquet for all Presbyterian students in the University will be held at the Grand Hotel, Thursday evening, October 22, at 6 o'clock. The meeting is in the hands of students and will be for the purpose of introducing the new students in school to the University Pan-Presbyterian Club.

There will be a small amount of business to transact at the first of the evening after which there will be talks by various students and a program of college songs in addition to some special numbers being planned by the committee in charge. New students are especially urged to be present and any who have not yet made reservation should do so at once at the office of Rev. D. R. Leland, University Pastor, in the Temple. Tickets are fifty cents.

NEIHARDT TO SPEAK TODAY

Poet Laureate of Nebraska Is Presented by the Convocation Committee TO DISCUSS POETIC VALUE

A discussion of "Poetic Values and Our Need of Them" will be given this morning in the Temple Theater at 11 o'clock by John G. Neihardt nationally famous Nebraska poet.

Mr. Neihardt is being presented by the convocation committee by the efforts of Dean L. A. Sherman of the Graduate College. He has appeared here before addressing University convocations and has given some very impressive talks. His subject is bound up with his life work poetry, in which he has achieved an unusual place.

Last year the state legislature chose him poet laureate of Nebraska because of his poetical compositions depicting and immortalizing the early history of the Nebraska plains. Mr. Neihardt is the first and only person ever accorded this honor. He holds a position on the University faculty as honorary professor of poetry. Several lectures were given by him during the summer session.

His greatest work is considered to be "The Song of Hugh Glass," a piece of epic poetry dealing with frontier days in Nebraska. This and such works as "The Song of the Three Friends" and "The Song of Indian Wars" have given him a position as one of the best living American poets.

All who have classes this morning at 11 o'clock may hear Mr. Neihardt at the Armory Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Instructors are permitted to take their classes to the lecture this morning if they desire.

Could Find No Adequate Explanation of Blindness of Christian People

EXPLAINS EVILS OF WAR

"The real reason, the explanation of the failure of the church, and the failure of the Christian people to follow Jesus is found to be a combination—a lack of faith in His life; a lack of love for their fellowmen; a lack of courage to follow His way in life," declared Kirby Page, in his delineation of the contradiction between war and the principles expressed in the life of Jesus at the Vesper services Tuesday evening.

"It is easy," he said, "for the people after us to look back at our work and see how blind we had been. He referred to his grandfather who could not see the contradiction, as we now see it, between a Christian life and the institution of slavery. Of the major institutions in the world now, there is one which presents as grave a social sin as the institution, as slavery—the institution of war. Yet war is sanctioned by the best men and women.

War is Combination of Evils

"War," says Mr. Page, "a combination of great evils of our days, is supported by the devout in the name of religion." The lecturer also named the five elements fundamental in the religion of Jesus; first the value of the human being, which regards every person as human being of inestimable value—more value than the whole realm of human possessions; second, the fatherhood

START FIRING ON NEW RIFLE RANGE

Detail Method of Firing Is Used Because of Temporary Nature of Gallery

Prescribed firing by fourteen of the freshmen was completed on the new rifle gallery yesterday. Several University team candidates fired also in their initial practice of the year for the 1925-26 winter season of intercollegiate matches. Freshmen from Company B will fire today. Remaining Company A freshmen may come and fire also, although preference will be given to members of Company B.

The gallery can accommodate forty-eight freshmen a day for the entire prescribed firing of four cards. The men are firing in detail of eight men on the firing point, all firing their required number of shots per card in the same period of time. "Cease firing" is then given and targets are changed.

The detail method of firing is being used because the old target carriers were not installed, on account of the temporary nature of the present gallery.

HOMECOMING RALLY TO BE FRIDAY NIGHT

Every Freshman in School is Expected to Contribute Bonfire

NO PARADE IS PLANNED

Efforts Will Be Made to Impress on Students Their Responsibility At Game Saturday

Nebraska's annual Homecoming rally, in preparation for the Nebraska-Kansas game on Saturday, will be held next Friday night at 7 o'clock on the drill field. As no parade is included in the program, students will be free for the evening after 7:30 o'clock.

In accordance with Homecoming tradition, a huge bonfire will be the feature of the rally. Every freshman in school is expected to bring a box to the drill field by seven o'clock, where a place will be marked off for the fire. Lincoln merchants have cooperated each year by letting freshmen have boxes for the affair.

When the fire is under way the rally will begin. Definite plans will be announced at a later date. Everyone is expected to attend the rally, last year it was thought that it was restricted to freshmen only.

Last week's rally was a decided success, the students body being well represented. Coach Bear, in a speech before the students, expressed himself as heartily in accord with the idea. Efforts are being made to have the rally as short as possible, but impress upon the students their responsibility at the game Saturday.

Nebraska is confronted with two hard home games in the next two weeks, not including the one just passed. Kansas is always a formidable rival for the Missouri Valley honors, but a home game with the Cornhusker spirit aroused should prove an advantage for Nebraska's team on Saturday.

HUSKY SQUAD HAS ALL TO BE ASKED

Football Fans Agree That Washington Aggression Is One of Best Ever Seen Here

University of Nebraska football fans are this week fully decided on one subject: The University of Washington (Seattle) football team is one of the best seen on Nebraska field in many a moon.

The Huskies from the Pacific Coast had just about everything a coach could ask. They had weight, they had speed, and they had football sense. Give their line, which is all new except for the two ends, a little more experience and no team in the country will be able to say that the Huskies are easy prey.

The Huskies have two plenty good ends in Cutting and Cole. But the thing that impressed Nebraskans the most was their backfield, an all-star quartet if there ever was one.

In George Wilson, Captain Elmer Tesreau, George Guttormsen and Harold Patton, the Washington Huskies have a backfield with plenty of speed, with forward passing ability and with line plunging ability seldom excelled. Besides, in Guttormsen, they always threaten to score three points by the dropkick route.

Wilson Always Gained

And this man George Wilson, the star halfback of the Pacific coast, is all that he is cracked up to be. He has drive. Not once, we believe, in Saturday's contest was he stopped without a gain of two or three yards, and once he broke loose for an eighteen yard sprint that ended in front of the Nebraska goal.

Wilson drives fairly slow, but when he hits something gives and it keeps giving until Wilson is downed and downed securely. The Washington halfback can sidestep his way

Women Wishing to Sell At Game Must Sign Up

The Women's Athletic Association has charge of all concessions in the stadium for the games. Those women who are willing and want to help by selling, must sign up before Thursday evening, October 22. This week end will be the Homecoming game, and W. A. A. will need many women to be able to take care of concessions properly. A pass is given to the game, and the women who sell are busy selling only when the game is not in progress. W. A. A. has complete charge, and needs the loyal support of all her members.
