

HUSKERS START INTENSIVE DRILL

Bearg Puts Squad Through Practice Intended to Improve Offensive

ARE TAUGHT NEW PLAYS

With all the men in good physical condition Coach Bearg started intensive drill for the Thanksgiving Day clash with Notre Dame yesterday by concentrating his attention on new plays designed to strengthen the Huskers offensive.

A change of major importance was made in the line shifting Hutchison from center to guard on the offensive and putting Westopal in as offensive center. Hutchison will continue to play defensive center where he has been so effective in checking the attacks of the opposing teams.

With all games out of the road except the important intersectional clash with the Irish, Bearg started to teaching the team a number of new plays. The Huskers have outclassed any team they have faced this year in the quality of their defensive work and Coach Bearg hopes that the new plays added to the old will enable Nebraska to go on the field Thanksgiving with a vastly improved offensive. Drills on fumbles which have played havoc with Nebraska scoring this year also is being carried on. Fumbles in critical moments cost touchdowns against Oklahoma and Kansas and were instrumental in leading to the defeat of the Cornhuskers at the hands of Drake and Missouri. This weakness has been gradually overcome and serious efforts are being made to stop the fumbling before the Notre Dame game.

Last night the team scrimmaged with the second team developing the new plays added since the Kansas Aggie clash and was then sent against the freshmen. The rest of the week long hours of scrimmage are planned on both offensive and defensive with the freshmen trying out the Notre Dame plays against the Varsity tonight.

The squad has gradually dwindled until last night there were less than three full teams in the field in the early part of the practice session but Coach Bearg hopes to have three full teams ready to go on the field on Thanksgiving Day against the Notre Dame team.
