Which of these two men will steer his gridiron ship to victory in the Thanksgiving day game at Lincoln, Nebr., when Notre Dame and Nebraska meet in their annual football classic? In the ten years that the two schools have been rivals, Nebraska has won four games and Notre Dame five, while the tenth was a tie. Dope is worth nothing in predicting the result of the Nebraska-Notre Dame games. Now these coaches are planning for their Turkey Day game. Which will win?

Welcome Notre Dame--But

Nebraska's famous torchlight parade and rally on the eve of the Notre Dame game comes tomorrow. To Notre Dame our demonstration is a welcome but to Nebraska it is the last chance to raise Cornhusker spirit to the highest pitch. Every student will be present.

That demonstration will organize the team and student body into a fighting unit, a spirit that cannot be beaten. And with the same idea in the mind of every Cornhusker "Beat Notre Dame" the team and student body will work as a unit, a machine, every part functioning, every part carried on by the splendid performance of the other parts. To every Nebraskan that rally will clinch the idea to fight and concede nothing-for Nebraska.

No wonder Nebraska spirit has driven so many Husker teams to victory. Such force cannot be stopped. Welcome Notre Dame, but fight and concede noth-

Denominations Report Large Attendance of Students On Sunday

Local churches that lie within the student residential section, were well attended last Sunday. Following a custom, the Sunday preceeding Thanksgiving is considered by University students as a day of universal attendance at the church of their choice. Some of the favorite churches have encouraged the tradition by setting aside the event as church affiliation day and sent invitations to the students of that faith.

One hundred and ninety-nine students affiliated with the First Presbyterian church, fourteen of whom made permanent connection. At Westminister Presbyterian, students were taken into the church for the length of their school term from a congregation that overflowed the congregation that overflowed the church building. All possible seating facilities were brought into use and with a large number attending more were turned away for lack of room. The service was one given largely for the benefit of the young

Must Keep Up Spirit

Captain Ed Weir who will lead the Cornhusker team on the field emphatically stated: "Nebraska students must keep up the spirit and fight of this last week. It is up to the student body to make this rally the biggest rally and most spirited one ever seen at the University of Nebraska."

Reassured by these statements and confident of the fighting Cornhusker spirit, members of the committee in charge expect that 10,000 will be present at the rally. Speakers at the rally will be Coach Bearg, Coach H. F. Schulte, Monte Munn, Nebraska's giant ex-football star, "Choppy" Rhodes, Roland Locke, Harold Hutchison and Joe Wostoupal, who are the members of the Nebraska football squad who will play their last game for Nebraska on Thanksgiving Day.
