Station A. Lincoln, Nebraska. OFFICIAL PUBLICATION UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA Under Direction of the Student Publication Board... Published Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday mornings during the academic year.

The condition is quite natural and quite laudable. For the student who is disgusted begins to take stock of what he has accomplished. Often he finds it is little. But he inquires into his reasons for going to college and tries to understand just what his goal is.

Such thought is excellent, for by it the student may, if he stays in school, profit immensely in wiser selection of courses to work toward his goal. He also thinks over the courses he has taken and begins to grasp their relation to one another and to his life.

We recommend that all students become as disgusted with college as possible at the end of the sophomore year. They will profit greatly thereby.

DR. BUTLER ERRS

(Syracuse Daily Orange) "This is an intolerant and barbaric era, which hounds men for their convictions and crushes minorities by force." From address of President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University at annual Newman club convention.

Dr. Butler, we fear, has become too much of a pessimist. His conclusion apparently reveals that the Columbia executive has seen so much of blue laws, so much of censorship, so much of suppression, that he has been led to believe that there is nothing else but intolerance in this growing land of ours.

True, one does not have to go far to find intolerance. Every community in the world possesses it in some degree. It is only natural; wherever there are liberals, there are bound to be conservatives, and so the other way around. No Utopia exists either for liberals or conservatives.

Degrees of liberalism vary. What is considered even radical in the United States may be regarded as ultra-conservative in some other part of the sphere, Europe, for example. But that is because the Old World is the Old World and that the thoughts the New World today cherishes were long ago digested by the Old World. Of course, there are in this country today a number of thinkers whose minds are of the same stuff as those across the seas; these are different, and they do not represent the great majority.

Obviously, many institutions are founded on a conservative basis. A safe and sane policy is the most advisable in establishing the policy of the administration of these entities. After all, there is a far greater chance of going wrong on the adoption of a liberal policy than there is in the acceptance of a conservative policy; at least that is the case today. The time may come when more liberal stands may be assumed; in many instances wisdom advises a take-it-easy plan.

So there is little occasion for Dr. Butler's education. The age is not one of intolerance and barbarism. We are not living in an era in which minorities are crushed by force. Minorities that allow themselves to be erased are unhealthy; they lack independence.

The world has many of these minorities. Some will never exterminate minorities that have real of them thrive. Others are silent, awaiting for the time when they, too, may thrive. But force backbones.

Ten Years Ago

The Nebraska State Historical Society celebrated its annual banquet at the Lincoln Hotel. Approximately two hundred well-known citizens and friends attended. The banquet was preceded by a reception which enabled friends to get together and recall the days gone by.

The pre-medics held a meeting and listened to an illustrated lecture on "Advantages of the Medical Man in the East." This was followed by an oyster stew and a talk by Dr. F. M. Patton on the "Necessity of Specialization in Modern Medicine."

The Nebraska Legislature Reference Bureau was made a state department, placed by legislative act under the Board of Regents of the University. The purpose was to "carry on research in subjects of special public interest."

Twenty Years Ago

The Commons of the University was the name given to the newly organized Junior Club, which was an organization in the barb association. Its purpose was closer fellowship and equitable distribution of college honors.

The management of the University Band decided to give a concert at the Oliver theater to raise funds for the remainder of their pledge to the Temple fund.

The regents required that candidates for all athletic teams pass a satisfactory physical examination before taking part in all athletic contests.

The annual girls' interclass basketball tournament was planned. The winner of this tournament was to have possession of the girls' pennant for one year.

A musical was planned at the home of Miss Pound to raise money to defray the expenses of Nebraska delegates to the Nashville Convention. This was under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.
