HUSKERS WIN MAT MEET FROM KANSAS TEAM

Nebraska Grapplers Get Three Falls; Win Match by 21 to 11 Score

HEAVYWEIGHTS ARE FAST

Cornhusker Captain Gains Fall Over Smith; Tuning Wins Decision

Nebraska wrestlers beat the University of Kansas mat team Friday night by a score of twenty-one to eleven. Many of the matches were very even, but the Husker squad as a whole showed superiority. The fastest bout of the evening was between Smith of the Jayhawks and Captain Highley, a Husker in the 175-pound class.

The 108-pound men were Stoklas of Kansas and Jones of the Huskers. Stoklas won the decision with a scant time advantage of sixty-one seconds. The men milled around on their feet for over six minutes. Then Stoklas took Jones for just enough advantage to give him the decision. The remainder of the match was even. The decision counted three for the Jayhawks.

Blore of the home squad more than evened the score by taking Scott to a fall. It was contested for nine minutes and ten seconds. They left their feet in the first minute and Blore went behind. He held the Kansas helpless until six minutes, when Scott crawled out of the ropes. Blore finally downed his man with a half-Nelson and a body lock. The men weighed 115 pounds.

In the 125-pound match, H. Skinner of the Kansas won a decision from Weber. Weber was at a disadvantage most of the time, although he squirmed loose several times. Skinner had a net advantage of nearly seven minutes. The score then stood Kansas six, and Nebraska five.

Kellogg of the Huskers put his team in the lead by gaining a decision over James. They were on their feet for about three minutes. The time advantage was four minutes, thirty-six seconds.

Dale Skinner of Nebraska made quick work of Delp. He downed him in four minutes and a half with a scissors and a bar arm lock. This made the score Nebraska thirteen, Kansas six. These men were in the 145-pound division.

In the 158 pound melee, Hays of the Jayhawks pinned Brannigan just before the whistle blew ending the match. Brannigan slipped out of the Kansas's holds several times, but Hays always managed to regain an advantageous position. The fall was accomplished with a headlock.

Captain Highley cinched the meet by gaining a fall over Smith, the Kansas 175 pound grappler. The match was hard fought, but Highley put Smith's shoulders on the mat with a top scissors and a bar arm lock in a little less than five minutes.

In the heavyweight class, Tuning of Nebraska won a decision over Freese. The big fellows were pretty evenly matched, but the Husker representative handled Freese well enough to gain a three minute and twenty-four second time advantage.

The referee was E. G. Schroeder of Iowa State University, and the time keepers were Gish and Thomas. Farmer Burns gave a short talk before the meet.

Mortar Board Nominations Will Be Made by Senior Women This Week

Twenty-five Candidates To Be Selected from Junior Class; Active Chapter Will Make the Final Elections

Candidates for membership in Mortar board, honorary society for the senior women, for 1926-27, will be selected by vote of the women of the present senior class Wednesday and Thursday of this week. An election booth will be placed in the Library.

Each voter may name from five to fifteen women to be considered for membership. Notifications of the election have been mailed to all senior women.

The twenty-five names receiving the highest number of votes will be submitted to a faculty committee for approval. A low scholarship average automatically excludes any nominee. The faculty committee is free to make any additional recommendations for membership. The list is then submitted to the active chapter, which makes the final selections. New members are chosen by a unanimous vote.

Number Not Definite

The new members will not be announced until Ivy Day, when they will be publicly masqued, as part of the festivities of the day. In accordance with the new ruling adopted by the present active chapter, the number of the new members will also be kept secret until that time. There will be no fewer than five or more than fifteen members next year, but the chapter is not bound to elect thirteen as has been done in past years.

HUSKERS LOSE 15 TO 11 GAME TO BLUEJAYS

Creighton Wins Cage Battle Before 5000 People in Field House

GAME TIED NEAR END

Smaha Events Things Up With Two Baskets but Bluejays Score in Last Minutes

It was a tense crowd that saw the Husker basketball team downed by the Creighton Bluejays in the Field House last night. The score was 15 to 11. With five minutes to play, Smaha tied the score with a pair of field baskets and a free throw, but the Omaha team broke away and took the game right from under Nebraska's nose.

Coch Bearg experimented quite a little with several combinations, and does not consider the loss a serious one as it is out of Missouri Valley circles. Nebraska has played Creighton five times in the last four years, and it is the second time the Bluejays have been victorious. The other time was the first game, played four seasons ago.

Brown and Lawson were the only two Huskers to last the entire game. Lawson started as a guard and Brown as a forward, but later in the contest both men were used in the guard position. Lawson played his usual scrappy game, and it is believed that he showed up better last night than he has on the home floor before this season.

Phil Oerlich, starting his first game for Nebraska, played an excellent game during the half that he was in. He made the first and only field goal for the Huskers during the first period and played extremely well as Lawson's running mate.

Smaha was high point man for Nebraska with two field goals and the same number of free tosses. He couldn't get started in the first period and was replaced by Beerkle, but he came back strong in the last part of the game.

Eckstrom traded places with Ted Page, Husker "giant," who was seen in action here for the first time this season. Elliott was only in the game a few minutes in the last period.

Deising, Creighton center, made the first basket of the game when he made a short one good early in the game. He was closely followed by Oerlich, Nebraska guard, with a shot from the center. That was the first and last field goal the Huskers got in the first period. They did manage to gather three free tosses while the visitors counted four more field goals and a free one.

Land Grant Colleges Stand Pat On Compulsory Military Training

System Endorsed by Executive Committee of National Association of Which Dean E. A. Burnett is the President

Endorsement of the present plan of compulsory military training in state colleges, and an attempt to change methods of distributing federal appropriations for education and research in the several states, were the most important actions of the recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the American Association of Land Grant Colleges, of which Dean E. A. Burnett of the College of Agriculture, is president. Dean Burnett returned Friday night from the meeting which was held in Washington, D. C.

The compulsory training plan, now in operation, was endorsed by the committee. It opposed any of the propositions to make such training optional in the colleges. Also the resolutions adopted by the preceding meeting of the Association were re-endorsed.

Provisions were made also for a committee on radio to protect the interests of the educational institutions.
