PHARMACY WEEK BEGINS APRIL 12

Melvin Gulley, Chairman, Promises Varied Program of Exhibits And Lectures

The sixth annual Pharmacy Week will be observed April 12 to 17 by the students of that college.

Melvin Gulley, chairman of Pharmacy Week promises the program will be well staged. It will consist of exhibits, illustrated lectures, and talks by authorities in the different aspects of pharmaceutical work.

Pharmacy Night, which will be held Wednesday evening during Pharmacy Week, will be of special interest. The exhibits for this evening are planned with the express purpose of familiarizing the ordinary person with the work and service rendered by a pharmacist.

One of the many interesting exhibits this evening will show the various stages of change a drug store goes through from the time the plant is gathered until it becomes the finished product used in the medical profession. Students will be present to explain the different processes to the visitors.

GLEE CLUB'S FIRST CONCERT IN FREMONT

Today Chorus Goes to Herman; One Recital in Sioux City on April 7

The University of Nebraska Glee Club presented its first program of the twelve day trip last night in Fremont. The chorus left Lincoln at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon and arrived in Fremont in time to present their first recital. The final plans of the tour were outlined to the members making the trip Wednesday night at the library building.

At the same meeting, the secretary of the alumni association, Harold Holtz, spoke to the members concerning the impression that the members making the trip would make on the people of the state.

Today the chorus will present a program at Herman. Besides the Nebraska towns on the schedule the Glee Club will present a concert in Sioux City, Iowa, on April 7.

Optional Drill Backers Meet Before Circulating Petitions In Vacation

WEATHER FORECAST

Friday: Unsettled; probably snow; continued cold.

Weather Conditions.
The eastern storm is over Lake Huron and Ontario, and snow continued during the past 24 hours from eastern Iowa eastward to the North Atlantic coast. The western storm is moving southeastward, and is now centered over northern Arizona and New Mexico, and snow has resulted in the Mountain states, Kansas and Nebraska. Temperatures have risen considerably in the Southwest and slightly in most of the Missouri Valley, but are still unseasonably low.

Pi Lambda Theta Society Has Seventeen New Members After Election

WILL INITIATE APRIL 17

Pi Lambda Theta, honorary Teachers College fraternity for women, pledged seventeen new members yesterday following the election which was held Wednesday evening. The pledges met last night at 5 o'clock.

The election is based on personality, professional interest, scholarship, and campus activities. The initiation will be held April 17.

BOYS AND GIRLS WEEK PLANS MADE

May 31 to June 5 Are Dates Set For Agricultural College's Annual Affair

The eleventh annual Boys and Girls Club Week dates has been set for May 31 to June 5, inclusive, according to L. I. Frisbie, state club leader.

The first Boys and Girls Week was held at the Agricultural College campus in 1915. The total attendance that year was seven. The total attendance of the 1925 Boys and Girls Club week was 387, including 146 club girls and 198 club boys.

Although the program for the 1926 Boys and Girls Club Week has not been definitely announced, Mr. Frisbie stated that the mornings would be given over the class work for the boys and girls and to leaders' conferences. R. A. Turner, a representative of the United States Boys and Girls Club work in the North Central states, will be present to take charge of the leaders' conference.

Boys' Class Work Divided
The class work for the boys will be divided between the dairy and agricultural engineering work, with the college faculty of these departments in charge. The faculty of the Department of Home Economics and several outside speakers will entertain the girls each morning of the week. Quarters for the boys and girls attending will be at the Agricultural College campus and a full program is promised each day.

There will be trips to many points of interest in the city. The visitors will be entertained by commercial establishments of Lincoln. On Friday of the Club Week, the boys and girls will visit Omaha and make an inspection trip through the packing house, stock yards, and to other points of interest.

Boys and Girls Club Week is open to two groups, the club members and local leaders. Application blanks are secured by the members from the local leaders.

Made To Lengthen Skirts
The women who refused to comply with the new regulation of the Adventist College at Walla Walla, Washington, which fixes the height of skirts at 12 inches from the floor, were sent home and told to lengthen their dresses.

FARMERS' FAIR IS DISCUSSED

Convocation at Agricultural College Held to Boost Coming Event

DEAN BURNETT SPEAKS

Dean E. A. Burnett, in opening the convocation at the Agricultural College Thursday morning said, "There are just thirty days left before Farmer's Fair, and in order to make a success everyone must boost for it all the time, be ready to do the work the committee asks you to, and now is the time to get started. The faculty stand ready to help in every way possible, and are willing and anxious to co-operate to help make the fair a success."

Dan Seibold, manager of this year's Fair had charge of the rest of the program. He said, "It is very fitting that a convocation should be held just before vacation, and we hope that you will tell the home folks about it. He also paid a very fitting tribute to Dean Burnett, because of his cooperation. It is the duty of the freshmen who have never seen a Farmer's Fair to learn as much about it as possible, and watch the bulletin boards that you can keep yourselves informed."

Miss Benson Speaks
Miss Edna Benson, a member of the Faculty Advisory Committee, was the next speaker on the program. She said in part, "You have a splendid Farmer's Fair Board but they alone cannot make it a success. It takes the cooperation of every one in school, and from the interest shown it looks like the Fair was going to be the best one yet."

Prof. H. J. Gramlich, chairman of the Animal Husbandry Department, was called on. "The Farmers' Fair is well known all over the state through the publicity it has received during the past few years and it means much to the institution, to Dean Burnett, the faculty, and to all the students."

Chairmen Need Help.
"The chairmen of the committees cannot attend to all the incidental affairs and each person must function when he is called on. We must overlook the shortcomings, we must forget petty jealousies, politics, or pessimism, and every one must be an optimist in order to make the Fair a success."

The following chairmen gave a short report on the activities of their committee: Amos Gramlich, parade; Gladys Martin, pageant; Erma Collins, pageant costumes; Eiml Glaser, publicity; Arthur Hauke, guide book; Glen Buck, educational exhibits; Don Ray, materials; Wilma Perry, follies; Hortense Allen, institutional management; and Melvin Lewis, dance.

President Absent.
In the absence of Edith Carse, president of Omicron Nu, National Home Economics Fraternity, Lois Jackman announced the following new pledges: Gladys Trullinger, Lincoln; Wilma Perry, McFall, Missouri; Betty McVey, Haigler; Tressa Haley, Holbrook; Krissie Kingsley, Seward; Ella Wiedman, Meade; and Mildred Nelson, Wahoo. The latter two are now at Merrill Palmer School. Character, personality, promise of leadership, and scholarship are considered in choosing members for Omicron Nu.

It was started at the University of Michigan in 1912, and Zeta chapter was installed at the University of Nebraska in 1914. It has always been one of the most active organizations of the Agricultural College campus.

Miss Hooker Gives Postgraduate Recital
Miss Halycon Hooker, pianist, student in the University School of Music, appeared in her postgraduate recital Thursday evening at the Temple. Orchestra parts were played on the second piano by Mrs. Will Owen Jones.

"I hope that no one is intimidated by the criticism aimed at us," he concluded. "We have many good people on our side and next November when the bill is passed, we will be thanked for our action."

Three New Courses Offered Next Year by Engineering Department

Three new courses open to all students in the University will be offered by the Mechanical Engineering Department next year. They follow:

Power Production: Sources of heat and power; steam boilers, engines, turbines, and their auxiliaries; gas producers; internal combustion engines.—Haney.

Industrial Processes: Descriptions of representative industrial processes from the raw material to the finished product, illustrating the application of engineering principles.—Sjogren.

Engineering Applications in the Home: Fuels and combustion; heating and ventilation; sanitation; plumbing; electrical appliances; refrigeration; the automobile; care of wood work and of metals; job study and fatigue.—Luchs.

Modern industrial civilization is based upon engineering. Yet there are very few engineering courses which can be taken by others than engineering students by reason of the prerequisites in mathematics, physics, and chemistry. Every educated person should have some knowledge of the sources of heat and power and of the industrial processes supplying our necessities and luxuries through the use of machinery operated by mechanical power. Also, the conveniences of the modern home have become possible only through applications of engineering.

The above courses will therefore have cultural value for all University students in enabling them to understand better the industrial civilization in which they will live. These courses will also have utilitarian value, particularly to certain groups of students.

To the Business Administration College students, the courses on Power Production and Industrial Processes will be of direct value in many lines of work in which they may engage after graduation. This is apparent for those who become connected with manufacturing enterprises. Since jobbing houses and retail businesses largely handle manufactured products, it would seem that the two courses mentioned should be of value to the majority of these students.

To the students of industrial arts in the School of Fine Arts, the course on Industrial Processes will

Spring and Easter Time Bring a Short Vacation

The annual Easter exodus of University students from Lincoln begins today, with spring vacation near. Students and faculty alike will take a brief rest—vacation ends next Thursday morning at 8 o'clock—before the "last lap" of the semester begins. Vacation, for some of the students, will be more or less permanent, since mid-semester reports go out from Dean Engberg's office this week.

Most of the University offices will be closed during vacation. The Daily Nebraskan ceases activity, temporarily with this issue. The next will appear Sunday, April 11.

CHURCH GROUPS PLAN LECTURES

Student Committees Charged With Bringing G. B. Smith As Speaker Here

TOPIC IS MODERN LIFE

Student denominational members of the general committee in charge of bringing Prof. G. B. Smith here for a series of lectures on "Religion and Modern Life" were announced Thursday by John M. Allison, general chairman. The committee consists of representatives from all the churches.

The committee will have cards printed telling about the lectures. They will be distributed by the members of the committee and may also be obtained at the Y. M. C. A. office.

Six Lectures
Professor Smith will give a series of six lectures on the general subject. He will be here April 13, 14 and 15, speaking twice each day. In addition to the six lectures Professor Smith will speak at All-University convocation at 11 o'clock Tuesday, April 13.

The committee will meet at noon the Friday after vacation at the Grand Hotel to discuss further plans. The members of the committees announced are as follows:

Baptist: Dorothy Thomas, Margaret Hyde, Kenneth Lewis, Kenneth Reed.

Congregational: Douglass Orr, Newell Joyner, Helen Falsonin.

Unitarian: Alva Selk, Julius Frandsen.

Presbyterian: Fred Chase, Lloyd Marti, Mabel Donemus, Elizabeth Tracy.

Disciples: Glen Jackson, Thomas Maxwell, Esther Garrett.

Lutheran: Dorothy Brown, Katherine Dean, William Zimmerman.

Methodist: Walter Ruden, Clarence Cook, Carrol Dubrey, Fred Winer.

Epicopalian: John Paul Bennett, Dudley French, Louise Freeman, Mary Murchison.

MARCH AWGWAN NUMBER IS OUT

Students Can Secure Copies at Station A Post Office Till Saturday Noon

The Awgwan for March is being distributed from the Station A post-office. Students will be able to secure their magazines until noon, Saturday, and Merle Jones, business manager, urges that the students procure their copies before this time so as not to have a large number hanging over spring vacation.

The feature article of the "Booster Number" is "The Captain of His Soul," the love story of a booster, satirizing the use of business methods in love. The cover design "The Uplift Movement" is by Lloyd Tucker. T. A. Knudson has a full page of cartoons giving a little ancient history of the various campus organizations.

A list of contributors follows: Lloyd Tucker, Catherine E. Hanson, Francis Martin, Fill Fent, Jr., T. A. Knudson, Verne Carlson, M. Stanglard, Merle Thomas

BOHEMIAN COLLECTION MADE

State Historical Society Is in Charge of Literature

A collection of literature in the Bohemian language is being made in the rooms of the State Historical Society with the assistance of Rose Rosicky, Omaha. Miss Rosicky's father was a native of Bohemia, and the family have been engaged in the publication of various kinds of Bohemian literature.

This collection will consist mainly of books and brochures and will be a contribution to the story of Bohemian people in Nebraska.
