STUDENT LIFE SECTION

Tom Varney Reports Falsity of Rumor That This Part Is Omitted

The 1926 Cornhusker will be placed on sale in the south-west corner of the Administration Building Monday morning. The student life section has been approved and will contain nearly every bit of original copy, announced Tom Varney, Business Manager, when notified of the numerous rumors on the campus that most of the section had been censored.

Campus events of the year have supplied the student life section with an unusually large amount of copy. To attempt to hint about the special features of the section or even to describe its general characteristics would detract from the numerous pleasant surprises afforded the reader when the book is released next Monday.

Objections Removed

In such a section there are nearly always certain features which do not meet the approval of the censor. Such objections had been removed and the section was printed and ready to be sent to the binders. The first notice of any disapproval was voiced when complaint was made at that time concerning certain stories and pictures or sorority escapades.

The section was recalled and the articles in question were again submitted for censorship. Since the omission of the entire feature would necessitate much expense in re-printing the section, only two articles were censored. The other stories and pictures were allowed to remain in the book.

Cornhusker of 1921

The subject of forbidden articles, censorship, and student opinion recalls memories of the Cornhusker of 1921 and the national publicity and student disapproval resulting from the vivid Student Life section of that time. Students were bitter in their denunciation of the section and hundreds tossed their books in the huge bonfire built on the drill field.

Older alumni tell of the time when one of the early issues of the Cornhusker was condemned because of certain antics of football players which were made public. There will be no cause for disapproval among the student body when the 1926 Cornhusker is placed on sale.

Miss Colcord is one of the most forceful and stimulating figures in social work in the whole country according to Miss Anna M. Cameron instructor in social work for the University Extension division. The institute will be part of the accredited summer school course in the elements of family case work given by the department of sociology through the University Extension division. Six hours University credit will be allowed.

Among prominent social workers of the state who will take the course are Mrs. Carrie A. Arrangements are being made to have all the people enrolled for the institute have rooms in the same place so that they can meet groups from other parts of the state for discussion of problems. The daily conference periods will consist of discussion of actual problems which workers bring up. The class will have the benefit of first hand case work.

Grey and Striped Ground Squirrels Used by Zoologists for Research

There are many interesting experiences and experiences in Bessey Hall. Mr. Otis of the department of zoology, has several ground squirrels which he is using as part of his research work. There are two kinds, the grey ground squirrel and the thirteen striped ground squirrel.

The striped one is commonest around here. It is a friendly little animal and is easily tamed for a pet. They are not nearly as injurious as the average person thinks, although in the springtime they eat a good deal of planted grain. Their burrowing habit is also harmful. However, they eat lots of injurious bugs, insects, and worms. Grasshoppers are especially liked by them. Mr. Otis is inclined to think that their bug-eating tendencies offset the injury done by their burrows and grain eating. It is very probable that about one third of their diet is meat. They are fed meat three or four times a week and Mr. Otis is trying to obtain exact records of their daily consumption and how much of each type of food they eat.

The grey ground squirrel is a very pretty little animal, but is not as common as the striped type. It is a little smaller than the tree squirrel but a great deal larger than the striped ground squirrel.

HALF-MILE WORLD RECORD TEAM

Here is Coach Schulte and his world record holding half-mile relay team. They are ready for the Valley meet in which they hope to establish a new record, and will have a chance to aim at their own world's record established this spring at the Kansas Relays. From left to right they are: Wyatt, Hein, Locke, Davenport, Dailey, and Coach Schulte. Wyatt will probably replace Hein if the latter is kept out of this last meet by the leg sprain which has been bothering him since the Drake Relays.

GET INDIAN MANUSCRIPT

A. L. Green Gives Paper To State Historical Society

Mr. A. L. Green, of Beatrice, has recently furnished the State Historical Society with a series of interesting manuscripts which he has written relating to the customs, history, language, and religion of the Otoe Indians. Mr. Green, who is now past eighty years of age, was an Indian agent for this tribe from 1869 to 1875. The tribe was then located in the southern half of Gage county—then known as the Otoe Reserve; subsequently this reservation was sold and the Otoes removed to Oklahoma. Mr. Green's long residence with the Otoe Indians make him one of the best authorities in the country on the subject of this once famous Indian tribe.

The annual conference vesper service will be held next Tuesday at the regular vesper hour of 5 o'clock. This service is held each spring and is given for the purpose of giving some idea of the outdoor services which are held at the Y. W. C. A. Conference every summer at Estes Park. This is a beautiful and effective vesper service and being the last of the year, all University women are urged to attend.

It will be held at Antelope Park near the O Street entrance. Those who have no means of transportation meet at Ellen Smith Hall at 5 p. m. Cars will be furnished for transportation.

"Cycle of the Hours", W.A.A. Dance Drama, Is Part of Alumni Round-up

The "Cycle of the Hours," to be presented by the Women's Athletic Association in the dance drama May 26, has an unusual theme. This year's presentation promises to be the best production given to the public by this organization. The women have been devoting much time to the drama, and with the assistance of Dorothy Simpson, instructor in the Department of Physical Education, and Leora Chapman, leader, the drama has progressed with success.

The theme of the "Cycle of the Hours" reads as taken from E. E. Tucker. "At the call of dawn the early morning hours come forth to begin the day. The clarion calls to the chase echoes in the hills, as the huntresses dash through the morning coolness of the forest. Then come the Gleamers, who wind their way light-heartedly to the distant fields. Apollo approaches, flooding the world with his brilliance, and drives before him the hours of the day. Wine carriers hasten to the toilers in the field, that they may refresh them during the noon-tide rest. Nearby a shepherd lad, reclining in the purple shade, entertains a pretty Shepherdess to play with him. Mellow afternoon finds the gleamers and reapers bending over the sickle. As twilight falls, they stand in prayerful attitude until the last notes of the Angeus have died away. Night brings peace to the word, and darkness.

"Tis thus, the ever-turning cycle of the hours, which grings waking, toil, and sweet repose, fulfill the promise of each new-born day."

In the creative dance classes, and practices which the organization has been holding for the past two months women have been working on phases of this theme, and dancing to suit the music. The dances to be used are those which have been suggested by this work.

The drama is to be presented on the evening of May 26, at 8:15 o'clock, on the campus north of the Administration Building. The public is invited. Tickets may be purchased from Ross P. Curtice Co., or any W. A. A. member for fifty cents. As it is to be given on the eve of Ivy Day, which is a traditional event at Nebraska University, it is hoped that alumni and former students will be interested in seeing this presentation. It is the wish of the organization that the drama would be included among the activities of round-up week.

HUSKERS FACE REAL FOES FOR VALLEY HONORS

Missouri Seems Most Feared By Coach Schulte's Track Squad

NINE SCHOOLS ENTERED

Iowa State Team Bases Hopes On Conger, Crack Middle Distance Runner

Coach Schulte's 1926 track and field squad will have a chance to walk away with the Missouri Valley title when the nine schools clash in the nineteenth annual meet at the Nebraska Memorial Stadium Friday and Saturday afternoons.

Missouri is doped as the team most likely to turn the Scarlet back in its attempt to regain valley honors on the track and field. But a report from Iowa State indicates that school to have an idea that the points may be well enough split that they can end the day with the title safely in their grasp.

K. U. and Kaggies Strong

Then Kansas University and Kansas Aggies, although defeated by both Nebraska and Missouri, are bringing strong squads down, and in the melee of competition that is bound to result Friday and Saturday, anyone might emerge victorious.

Iowa State is basing much of her claim on being placed among the leaders on the stellar performance all season of Raymond Conger, whirlwind middle distance runner. He is entered in everything from the 220 up through the 2-mile and also in both relays. Furthermore, the Iowans are keeping it quiet just what races he intends to run.

Crawford on List

But Conger isn't all that Iowa has. Captain Fred Crawford, second in the valley meet last year in the half-mile, figures on making things interesting for Conger if he runs and for such other stars as Kimport, Kansas Aggies, Roberts and Lewis, Nebraska, and Van Laningham, Drake. Another half-mile who hasn't been mentioned much is Willman of Washington. He is expected to hit the half in around 1:57 also. With this group entered, it will probably take faster than a 2 minute half to even place.

Drake Backs New Man

Drake is backing a new man, Caulum, to make a good showing against the Valley's best in the 440. Caulum was on the Iowa State relay team which showed to advantage in its victories in the Illinois indoor relays this year and Coach Willman has expressed confidence that he can give Grantello of Missouri, Rooney of Kansas, Wyatt of Nebraska, and the others a good race.

Iowa High Jumper

Iowa State, in Payton, hopes to furnish a javelin thrower who can furnish Cox, Oklahoma's outstanding star and Missouri Valley record holder, some real competition.

Iowa State is laying claim to have the least poor of the many high-jumpers that infest the Valley this year in Kingery, winner of the high-jump in the Grinnell-Iowa State dual meet last week. Kingery is also a good man with the discus.

And last but not least, in Iowa State's statements of what they expect to do and how they expect to push the leaders, must be mentioned the fact that they still have Owens for the pole-vault. He won the Missouri Valley indoor meet at Ames early this spring.

Drake's chances should also not be underestimated. With a fair sprinter, two crack hurdlers, some good jumpers, and a scattering of other men, they will be out to get a goodly measure of points.

ALUMNAE BANQUET OF W.A.A. PLANNED

Letters To Be Awarded at Meeting At Lincoln Hotel; Program Of Toasts

The Woman's Athletic Association will hold its annual Alumnae Banquet Friday, May 28. The Garden Room at the Lincoln Hotel has been reserved for the noon hour. All those wishing to attend must sign the poster on the W. A. A. bulletin board, before Friday, May 21.

The committee in charge has planned a program of toasts and special numbers. Several girls have earned the right to wear the scarlet "N". Letters and numerals will be awarded. The baseball season ends May 21 and this banquet will also be the after-sport treat customarily given at the close of the tournament. All girls who completed ten practices in either indoor or outdoor baseball are privileged to attend.
