Arrive Today
The properties which are being brought from Omaha for the "Streets of Cairo" will arrive early this afternoon. These materials are being borrowed from the Ak-Sar-Ben of Omaha especially for the Carnival and will be added to by new Carnival properties. The "Streets of Cairo" will occupy one-half the floor space and will be entirely different from anything ever staged on the campus. The side-shows of the attraction are unusual, clever and entertaining. Twice during the evening the inhabitants of the "Streets of Cairo" will parade down the mid-way in a colorful march which will be a reminder of the old-time circus parades.

Prizes for Costumes
The prizes which are to be given as the picture for the best man's and best woman's costume in the fancy dress competition among the organizations on the campus are on display in downtown windows this week. Today they may be seen in Miller and Paine's windows. Wednesday and Thursday the display may be seen in Mayer's, and Friday, the day of the Carnival, they may be viewed in Magee's window. The pictures are each worth $50.00. The judges who will choose the prize-winning costumes will be announced later.

Biggest Held Here
The Carnival will be the biggest affair of its kind ever staged at Nebraska. No expense is being spared nor energy saved to make it a success. Work on the Field House is being rushed to have the building available for the carnival and other round-up events which will be staged there.

Admission and dancing at the Carnival of Fun are free. A slight charge will be made for such things as candy, pop, ice-cream sandwiches, and confetti to cover cost of these products. Everything else will be free of charge.

New Floor Laid
A new floor is being specially laid for use during the Carnival of Fun and it will be big enough to provide room for all. Dancing will start at 7:30 o'clock and will be continuous until 11:30. The University Band and the Collegians will play. The Band will play from 7:30 until 9:30 and will then be replaced by the Collegians who will play the remainder of the evening.

Prizes will be given for the clever.

Members of Class of 1906 Gain Prominence Throughout Country

The class of 1906, honor class of the Fifth Cornhusker Round-up, has among its members many who have gained prominence and distinction in their chosen fields of work. Some have received international recognition.

Probably the most outstanding of the ex-students of the class is Miss Grace Abbott, formerly of Grand Island, who is chief of the U. S. Children's Bureau in Washington, D. C. Miss Abbott was formerly executive secretary for both the Massachusetts and the Illinois state immigration commissions.

During the war she served as the technical advisor to the war policies board and in 1920 and 1921 was a member of the committee on women in industry. Miss Abbott was appointed to the League of Nations committee on traffic in women and children in 1922 and in 1919 was secretary of the children's commission of the first international labor conference. Her best known book is "The Immigrant and the Community."

Another woman whose work carried her to foreign fields is Miss

FIRST DAY'S CORNHUSKER SALES LARGE

More than 1200 Distributed From Administration Building Office

EXTRA COPIES PRINTED Enough for Those Who Failed to Reserve Books Last Fall; Should Call Early

More than 1200 Cornhuskers were distributed yesterday from the office in the southwest corner of Administration Building. Students are urged to call for their copies before the beginning of Round-up week. The office will be open from 9 to 12 o'clock and from 1 to 4:30 this week, with the exception of Thursday afternoon.

The first day's sales show a great increase over those of former years. A large number of books have been printed and there will be enough for those who did not reserve their copies last fall. Organizations are urged to call for their books this afternoon.

Twentieth Number
The 1926 Cornhusker is the twentieth annual publication of the University of Nebraska. The book is bound in a dark cover with the Nebraska "N" embossed on a background of gold. Its simplicity and dignity has aroused much favorable comment.

The Cornhusker has seven sections arranged in the following order: Administration, College of Medicine, Classes, Activities, Athletics, Military, and Student Life. The annual is dedicated to Dr. H. B. Alexander, chairman of the Philosophy Department.

"Greater University"
"The Greater University" is stressed throughout the book. The first few pages are devoted to a detailed explanation of the future campus as given by George N. Seymour, chairman of the campus planning committee.

The division pages are made with a three-color process. The sub-division pages have border with still-life half-tones inserted appropriate to each section. Each page is bordered with a light green panel.

Campus Events
The Campus Events features the illustrated story of Jake Cornassel and his many adventures during his freshman year at the University. The professional and honorary societies have been grouped in a separate division instead of being placed with their colleges as in former years. Another improvement is the grouping of all publications into one distinct division.

The athletic section contains many interesting pictures of Nebraska athletes in action. The student life section is an interesting feature of the new book. A unusually large amount of space has been devoted to articles and pictures containing sarcasm and jokes.

The publication of the book was under the supervision of Donald Sampson, editor-in-chief, and Tom Varney, business manager.

Frankforter Heads Chemists
The local section of the American Chemical Society recently elected as its president Prof. C. J. Frankforter of the department of chemistry.

Fannie Drake, now general secretary of Lincoln Young Women's Christian Association. After several years as student secretary of the University of Nebraska Y. W. C. A. she had built it up until it was the largest in any university. In 1919 she was appointed by the National Board as pioneer secretary for the association to be opened in Montevideo, Uruguay, South America, where she served for five years.

In the field of education and psychology Dr. Harry Levi Hollingsworth of the Columbia University faculty in New York City is well known. In 1921 he was awarded the Nicholas Murray Butler medal in recognition of his book "Psychology of Functional Neuroses." He has written several other books relating to various branches of psychology and during the war was commissioned in the Sanitary Corps and assigned to the task of re-educating soldiers suffering from mental disturbances.

EDITORIAL IN BOOK

New Publication Includes "Portable Park" by Nebraska Alumnus

Mamie Meredith of the Extension Department is the author of "The Portable Park," an editorial printed in the Outlook for July 23, 1924. "The Portable Park" is included in a new book, "Freshman Readings," compiled by Roger Sherman Loomis of Columbia University. The article, illustrated with a photograph of the little park east of George Brothers' store on N Street in Lincoln, now the site of a moving picture house, was sent to the Outlook by Miss Meredith.

The distinguishing feature of the "Portable Park" was that its shrubs, flowers, and other equipment were moved from one vacant lot to another as new buildings were erected, but it was always kept in the heart of the city.

Professor Loomis included the article in his book as a model of a certain type of writing.

OKLAHOMA WINS TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Royer Defeats Sigloff of Washington in Singles; On Doubles Team

KANSAS GOES TO FINALS

The University of Oklahoma swept off the honors in the Missouri Valley tennis tournament Sunday. Royer defeated Sigloff of Washington in the morning for the singles championship, and Royer and Brandenburg won from Hoag and Rogers of Kansas for the doubles championship.

Royer's defeat of Sigloff was somewhat of a surprise to tournament followers. Sigloff had defeated Royer in the dual meet between Washington and Oklahoma and he was favored to win, but Royer's consistent pounding of Sigloff's backhand won the match for him. Royer went into the lead in the first set at 4-3 after taking Sigloff's serve. Sigloff rallied and tied the count but Royer won out in duce games, 7-5.

Play Slackens
Royer played much poorer tennis in the second set, however Sigloff failed to take advantage and Royer won the set and match, 7-5.

In the afternoon Oklahoma had an easy time winning from Kansas. Kansas was in the lead only once, leading 4-2 in the first set but this lead was short lived. Oklahoma won the set 7-5, and the remaining two 6-1, 6-3.

Juniors Get Keys of Seniority in Traditional Ivy Day Ceremonies

The 1926 Ivy Day will soon be here. For twenty-five years this has been one of Nebraska's dearest traditions. The crowning of the May Queen, the planting of the ivy, the daisy chain, and all the ceremonies attached to this day have been dear to every Cornhusker. The senior class, in the masking of the Black Masques, and in the tapping of the innocents, presents the keys of seniority to the juniors in this symbolic way.

It affords students an opportunity, as students, to give formal expression to the high estimation of their alma mater, and to consider the chief things for which they are indebted to their University experience. As a symbol they plant ivy. The characteristics of this plant represent pleasant recollections and deep affection. The vine grows, year after year, climbing higher and higher, and spreading in its embrace of the structure. This is significant of the growing appreciation of the student body.

The class of '01 is commended for giving Ivy Day to the University. In 1902 the ivy was planted on the

Walter Kiener, the famous Swiss mountain guide and Long's Peak hero, who is enrolled as an advanced special student at the University of Nebraska, will be stationed as a National Park ranger on top of Twin Sisters' Peak in Estes Park this summer.

After the tragic winter ascent of Long's Peak in which Miss Agnes Vaile of Denver lost her life despite the heroic services of Kiener, he took the post at Twin Sisters' look-out last summer.

Twin Sisters' peaks are directly across from Long's Peak and furnish one of the finest views available in the park. Their height is 11,428 feet. From their summit, one may also secure one of the finest close-up views of mountain scenery that can be found. It is a much easier climb than Long's Peak and is so situated that the details which are quite distinct.

There were local showers in the north Pacific states, and widely scattered light showers in the Missouri and Mississippi valleys and the Lake region, but no rainfall of much significance is reported.

COUNCIL VOTES TO REORGANIZE CONSTITUTION

Faculty Representative May Be Admitted Next Year Is Meeting Decision

PARTY COMMITTEE STAYS

Announce Present All-University Members Fitted to Keep Their Positions

Plans were made for a complete reorganization of the constitution of the Student Council at a meeting held in Faculty Hall, Temple Building, at 5 o'clock Monday evening. Either a new constitution will be drawn up or the present one will be completely revised, according to the vote. Members of the committee on the constitution expect to examine Student Council constitutions of other universities before formulating the new one.

The council resolved that it should make itself a worthwhile organization, taking active interest in the activities of the various departments in which a Student Council might be properly helpful. Suggestion was made that a faculty member be asked to meet with the Council next year but no definite action was taken.

No Action on Committee
No action will be taken regarding the appointment of the members of the All-University Party Committee. The new council members stated that the three council representatives, Eloise MacAhan, Ernestine McNeil, and Ruth Palmer would act in accordance with any suggestions they might have to offer in regard to the All-University parties and they believed it unwise to push the matter at present.

"The new student council believes that it has adequate representation on the All-University Party Committee. The council feels that Hoagland having had two year's experience on the Committee, is better fitted for the chairmanship than anyone the council might have to offer," stated Glen Buck, chairman of the new council.

Well Qualified
All members of the All-University Party Committee appointed by the retiring Committee several weeks ago have at sometime taken active part in connection with the parties and it is needless to say they would be more capable of administering their duties than would Council members who had perhaps never even been in attendance at an All-University party, was the opinion brought out by members of the new council.

The next meeting will be held early in the fall.

School for Young Actors Opens Soon

The new season of the Theater Guild School of Acting opens on July 6, 1926, and will run until July 31, 1927. The last day of registration for this course is June 10.

The plan of this school is to give adequate training to the young actor, and to do this by keeping in close touch with what is actually going on in the professional theater. Full information about the course may be obtained by writing to the school secretary, at the offices of the Theater Guild.
