The rules regulating the elections as set forth in the university catalog are:

GLEE CLUB TRYOUT WILL BE WEDNESDAY

Few Former Members Report Which Leaves Many Openings For New Men

Tryouts for membership in the University of Nebraska Mens' Glee Club will be held next Wednesday, according to Herman G. Decker, director of the Club and chief judge of tryouts. The tryouts will be held continuously from 3:00 to 5:30 and from 7:00 to 8:00 p. m. in Room 301 of the Library building.

Constitutional provision for membership in the club indicates that any properly registered student in any college of the University may become a member. As only fifteen old members have reported this year and as the Club maintains a membership of between forty and forty-five there is an excellent opportunity for new men.

The Glee Club takes a ten to twelve-day trip in the spring during which time they visit Nebraska towns as representatives of the University and the School of Fine Arts. The itinerary for this year has not as yet been arranged, according to Kenneth W. Cook, business manager, but will include several of the largest Nebraska towns. The Club will also appear this year with the University chorus in its performance of Faust, which will be given some time in November.

ELIMINATE YEAR OF INTERNSHIPS

Requirements of Year as Inter-terme Removed by Board Of Regents Friday

The requirement of a year of internship for the degree of Doctor of Medicine was eliminated at the meeting of the Board of Regents Friday, at the recommendation of the College of Medicine faculty. The reason for such a move is explained in the following statement issued by the Board of Regents:

"Though the University approves of the interne as a qualification for licensing, it was found impractical to insist upon it in view of the fact that many of the most desirable internships are beyond the jurisdiction of the State and the state licensing law does not require internships. The faculty of the College of Medicine has already expressed itself as favoring a change in the state licensing law requiring one year of hospital work (under supervision) before license is granted."

A revision of the rules for admitting patients to the University Hospital, prepared by Dean Keegan, was received by the Board and referred to the Committee on Medical Education.

Mr. Wilbur C. Peterson, formerly with the Alumni office, was given a position as general editor of campus publications. This is not to supercede any faculty or student board, but he is to cooperate with all of them in improving the quality and reducing the cost of such material as comes from the University press. Mr. Peterson has already been studying the subject of catalogs with the view of making a considerable reduction in the number of pages printed in the University bulletins.

The Board also accepted resignations previously announced and new appointments, announced from time to time in the press, were confirmed.

The Board met in the Chancellor's office with all members present and took lunch at the University Club with the officers of the Alumni Association who had convened from all parts of the state. The noon hour was spent in a purely social way. The Board of Directors and Executive Committee of the Alumni Association met jointly with the Board of Regents and the Chancellor Friday afternoon and the Board of Directors concluded further business Saturday forenoon prior to attending the Drake game.

YEARBOOK SALE BEGINS MONDAY

Tassels, Silver Serpents, Xi Delta and Corncobs to Conduct Campaign

Subscriptions for the 1927 Cornhusker will be taken this week, beginning Monday morning, by any member of the Corncobs, Tassels, Silver Serpents, or Xi Deltas. The price of the book is $4.50 if ordered before Friday of this week; after that the price will be raised to $5.00.

"There will be no time payments this year," stated Ralph Bergsten, business manager. "In eliminating the system of paying half of the price when the subscription is made and the other half later in the year we will do away with a lot of the expense which the necessary book-keeping incurs, and the funds thus saved will allow us to run some new features in the book. In the end the student gains by getting a more beautiful book," he declared. "And too, the student will have his copy paid for and does not need to worry about paying the other half when he gets his book."

Speaking further about the campaign Bergsten said, "We have chosen what we think are the liveliest organizations on the campus for the subscription drive, and from the interest already evinced we are sure that this will be the most spirited campaign of any held yet this year."

A $75.00 prize will be given the organization getting the most subscriptions. And a $10.00 prize will be given the man and woman getting the greatest number of subscriptions. The prize for the woman getting the highest number last year, was given to Helen Aach who got 95.

"I think also that it will be the most successful," Bergsten continued, "because of the fact that the organizations themselves are so interested and ordinarily there is more interest in the student body when the Cornhusker is concerned. And this interest is justified. This book is one that any one may be proud to have on the library table."

"The 1927 yearbook will include at least five important features which have never been in a Cornhusker before," declared W. F. Jones, editor. "These will put us to a greater expense than previous Cornhusker staffs have had, but we feel assured that the subscription campaign will be enough larger than other years to warrant our going to this expense."

NIGHT CLASSES TO BEGIN SOON

Courses in Twenty-two Subjects Offered; Heavy Enrollment Sure

Early registrations and inquiries received indicate that the night classes to be offered this year by the University of Nebraska for the benefit of those unable to attend classes during the day will prove more popular than last year, when more than five hundred persons took evening work each semester. For the first time in evening class history there will be a Friday evening class to accommodate the students who are unable to attend on the other four evenings.

Courses in twenty-two subjects are offered this fall. First classes will meet this week. Most of the courses will meet one evening each week at seven-thirty, there being a number of classes each evening except Saturday. Residence credit is given for all courses, but many of them may be carried without credit.

Demands of a wide variety of people have been filled by night classes in past years. The practical needs of the businessman and the school teacher have been met, as well as those of persons working toward college degrees. Nearly all of the courses offered last year will be repeated this year because of the popular demand for them. Business English and American History have drawn unusually large numbers in the past.

Among the new courses which are attracting attention is one in business forecasting. A study is to be made of the various systems of forecasting (Continued on page two)

PLAYERS DRIVE STARTS MONDAY

Sale of Season Tickets for University Players This Week

University Player's season tickets will be placed on sale on the campus, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. These dates have been set aside for the students sale of coupons entitling purchasers to view seven performances of the University Players productions this winter. An exclusive student matinee will be given Friday afternoon beginning at 3 o'clock at an extremely low rate.

Booths will be placed in Social Sciences hall, Library, the Temple and at the entrance to U. Hall. The tickets sold will be exchangeable for reserved seats in Room 153 Temple building. Students purchasing tickets are urged to get their reserved seats as soon as possible. The season ticket insures the holder of a good seat for any performance and will save last minute confusion.

The price of the student matinee coupon is $2.75. Season tickets may be purchased for Thursday, Friday or Saturday evenings for $5. The Saturday matinee, which is open to the general public is offered at $4. The reduction of $1.25 for the student matinee tickets is not open to faculty members, University assistants or house mothers.

Due to the intense interest shown by students in the work of the dramatic department, the Players felt that they should cooperate with the students and give them their best at a student price.

Dates have been so arranged that there is no conflict between the shows and athletic or other University events. Freshmen are allowed Thursday evenings out to attend the Players' presentations, according to a ruling of the Executive Dean last year.

The company making up the University Players is in the twelfth year of its existence. It is a distinctly professional organization, the players being in advanced dramatic work or alumnus members with much experience. Many of the instructors also appear in the casts.

The University Players will open their season with "Seventh Heaven," October 17, 18, and 19, in the Temple Theater. The list of the plays includes several of the latest New York successes, famous comedies, and a Shakespearean tragedy. "Craig's Wife," the Pulitzer prize play of 1925-26 will be offered to the public in December. "The Music Master," one of the few best plays in recent years will be presented by request. George Arliss' "Green Goddess," "White Collars," and "The Auctioneer," are other plays which have been chosen.

More Than Three Full Teams Get Into Action Against the Visitors. Howell, Brown and Presnell Make Great Showing as Ball-luggers

By OSCAR NORLING

Using practically every man on the squad, the Cornhuskers avenged last year's defeat by trampling the Bulldogs to a 21-0 set-back here yesterday afternoon in the opening game of the season. The rain, which had poured down all morning, stopped about noon and fifteen thousand people witnessed the tussle, an unusually large crowd for the initial struggle.

DAD'S DAY IS NEXT SATURDAY

Special Appropriate Edition Of Nebraskan Will Be Issued Tuesday

A special Dad's Day edition of the Daily Nebraskan, which will be issued Tuesday, will be sent to the fathers upon request of students, it will contain a letter from "Son Jack" to "Dear Dad" which will give the features of the day in detail. All that is required is that the address to "Dad" be turned in at booths located in various places on the campus.

The feature of the day next Saturday, which will be the fifth annual Dad's Day celebration of the University, will be a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce at noon. A regular hot luncheon will be served, instead of the cold cafeteria lunch which has been the custom until last year.

Governor McMullen, Verne Hedge, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and others will speak. Music will also feature the affair. The program, however, will last only during the noon hour so that sons and fathers can get to the Missouri-Nebraska game in plenty of time.

Everything is being planned to induce as many fathers as can possibly come to attend the affair. The Missouri-Nebraska struggle promises to be one of the best of the season. Arrangements are being made so that Dads and Sons may sit together at the game.
