

HUSKERS DRILL FOR TIGER GAME

Bear Bolsters Up Weak Spots After Opener With Drake Last Saturday

Coach E. E. Bear and his staff of assistants started work yesterday preparing for the invasion of the Missouri Tigers next Saturday. Having seen his proteges in action for the first time in an intercollegiate contest, the Husker mentor was convinced that there were a number of weaknesses that need to be bolstered up before the Nebraskans will be ready to battle the team that gave them a 9 to 6 drubbing last year.

That Missouri will be no easy opponent was indicated when she battled Tulane to a scoreless tie last Saturday. The Green Wave last year enjoyed a prosperous season, the only thing resembling a blotch being a 6 to 6 tie game with Missouri. Except for that game Tulane was all victorious.

Gwinn Henry has seven lettermen in his 1926 backfield, and several freshman stars who have been showing mighty promisingly. They are Swofford, 143 pound halfback; O'Sullivan, 155 pound halfback; Scannell, 160 pound quarter; Flammank, 190 pound fullback; Tuttle, 165 halfback; Stuber, 155 pound quarter, and Clark, 155 pound halfback.

On his line he has Tarr, 180 pound end; Miller, 190 pound guard; Bacchus, captain, 200 pound end; Lucas, 225 pound guard or tackle; Smith, 161 pound center; Gann, 188 pound guard.

DISTANCE RUNNERS READY FOR TIGERS

Final Workout Will Be Held on Cross Country Course Wednesday Afternoon

Six or seven mile workouts were the order of the day Monday for the cross-country team as it swung into its final week's practice before the meet with Missouri here Saturday, October 9, opening the year's schedule.

Tonight the men are scheduled to run a mile and a half on the track. They were out on the cross-country course last night and will go out again Wednesday for the last time until the meet Saturday.

Chadderton had a strained ankle last night but was able to take a workout after it had been carefully taped. Otherwise the men seemed in good shape. The strength of the Missouri team is unknown. Their team was weak last year but they had a number of promising freshmen.

Y. M. C. A. BUREAU HANDLES 556 JOBS

Many Students Accommodated During 1925 and 1926 by University Employment Agency

The University Employment bureau, during the school year, 1925-26, accepted 979 applications of students for employment, according to a report by William S. Trumbull, employment secretary. A total of 556 positions was obtained by the bureau for these students. Of these positions, 211 were permanent part time with an estimated earning of $59,187.20 and 345 were odd jobs paying approximately $1,192.70. The total estimated earning was $60,379.90.

From the above figures it should not be inferred that several hundred students desirous of obtaining employment were disappointed. A number of applications were made by men who really did not need the work. Since the employment bureau tries to aid those who must do outside work in order to remain in school, the man who does not need to work is considered last. Some of the above applicants were also able to find work themselves without the aid of the bureau.

The first year man has undoubtedly the hardest situation to face. He comes, in many instances, into an entirely new environment; he does not know where to look for possible openings; oftentimes he cannot make himself walk into an employer's office and ask for a job. The employment bureau states that its most important function is to take the new and inexperienced students who need to earn all or part of their expenses and help them get started right.

The total enrollment at the University of Minnesota for the 12-month period ending with the closing of the regular term in June was 23,610.

Students Urged to Buy Grid Caps Before Game

The Grid Cap committee has requested that all students that have seats in the cheering section of the stadium will buy their Grid Caps before the Missouri game, October 9. By the spectators wearing these caps, the committee has planned to form a huge "N" in the east stand. The people having the border and diagonal seats will buy white caps and those in the background will have red ones.

The committee announces that any student refusing to buy a cap, will be asked to change his seat, as they are the best in the stands and plenty of people can be found who will buy one. The white caps can be purchased at Mayer Brothers and the red ones at either Ben Simon and Sons or Mayer Brothers.

163 REGISTER IN COLLEGE OF LAW

Freshman Class Is Said Smaller But Number of Graduates Remains Constant

The number of students in the College of Law this year is 163. Of this number forty-seven are seniors, forty-five are juniors and the remaining seventy-one are freshmen. Of the seventy-one first year students, approximately three-fourths of them are planning on getting both the A. B. and the L. L. B. degrees.

In the last few years the requirements of the Law College have been steadily raised. This has tended to lower the number of incoming freshmen.

The first year that Dean Foster came to the University of Nebraska, the Freshmen class numbered 125, and the graduating class was around fifty. Now, although the Freshmen class is decidedly smaller the graduating classes are approximately the same. The heavier requirements for entrance to the Law college has been instrumental in having students registered who are really interested in their work and who have the "staying" ability.

Better Conditions

To the Editor:

Last year I made a speech on your campus, concerning conditions found in factories in which I worked during the summer of 1925. That speech seems to have been reported, and somewhat exaggerated in your paper according to reactions I have had from people who read it.

I have never seen the article published, but it has caused comment from the concerns mentioned. The "Baby Ruth" candy bar, made by the Curtis Candy Company, of Chicago has suffered from the report, it seems.

Since then conditions in their factory have been improved, by building of more adequate factory, and installation of better equipment. According to reports from the factory, the conditions are now approved by the Chicago health authorities.

In justice to the firm, will you kindly publish a statement concerning the conditions of that firm as they are now reported, in an early issue, and mail me a copy of that issue of your paper.
