PLAN INTERMISSION SKIT Entertainment Feature Will Welcome Guests from Missouri Game

Extra large committees have been appointed to handle the phases of the next Varsity Dance, Saturday night in the Coliseum. ## Miss Gray Recommends Samoa for Interesting People and Scenery

One of the most remarkable vacation trips taken by Nebraskans this summer was that enjoyed by Miss Greta Gray, research worker in home economics at the College of Agriculture, who has just returned home from the Fiji Islands, American Samoa, Hawaii, and Australia. She was accompanied by her sister Miss Isabel Gray of California.

Miss Gray considers Samoa the best for the tourist to see since they have beautiful scenery and interesting people.

The naval station, Miss Gray says, is the one and only government of American Samoa. This station handles all of the foreign trade and all other matters that happen to arise. The whites on the island encourage the natives to keep the old customs, and because of this, one sees many unique things on the island.

Waite Will Lecture To Civil Engineers

The American Society of Civil Engineers is to be entertained by an illustrated lecture Wednesday evening given by Prof. H. H. Waite. The title of the lecture is: "Some Problems of Sanitation." The meeting is at 7:30 o'clock in Mechanical Arts, 106.

PLAYERS' TICKET SALE IS HEAVY

But Seats for All Performances Still Available; Unusually Large Advance Buying

"I am tremendously interested in the work of the University Players, particularly their reviving of old plays, along with the presentation of the new plays," said Prof. J. A. Rice, when questioned today concerning his opinion of the value of the Temple Stock Company. "I have seen many shows during the summer but I enjoyed none of them more than I did those I saw given by the Players last winter."

The heavy ticket sale for all performances is an evidence that the appreciation of the Players' productions have grown. Ticket sellers reported that nearly all people approached upon the campus had either purchased tickets or were willing buyers. The city sales have also been very large in advance.

Coupons at Booths

The exchange coupons will still be sold at booths in University Hall, Library, the Temple and Social Science Wednesday, the last day of the campaign. Students purchasing the coupons are asked to turn them in immediately for reserved seats in Temple 153.

By Tuesday evening over two-thirds of the Friday matinee seats had been sold out and many tickets had not been checked in. It is the hope of the business management that the house will be sold out by Wednesday evening.

Seven Plays

The season coupon entitles the holder to the scheduled seven plays which are being offered on the Players' program this year. The season opens with Austin Strong's "Seventh Heaven," the intensely interesting play in which Helen Mencken starred. Following this will be "The Auctioneer," which was David Warfield's favorite vehicle and a play with a universal appeal. "The Swan," in December, will be followed by "The Music Master" and "White Collars." "Craig's Wife," the Pulitzer Prize play of 1926 will be the February production and the Shakespeare play will be "The Merchant of Venice."

One-Act Plays Not Given For the past several years one evening of the Players' has been given to one act plays, but this will be discontinued, each number consisting of a complete dramatic production. The price of the student matinee is $2.75 and is open only to students. The rate for the Saturday matinee is $4 and all evening performances are $5. Seats for all performances are still available.

Modern Competition Needs Sober Heads

"With our high speed competition we must have clear, sober heads to get there. We must either support prohibition or go back to buzzies. A drunken man can't twist the reins about the dashboard of an automobile and expect to get home as he did with old Dobbin." This was the statement of Badger Clark, cowboy poet of the old west, to the students at Colorado Agricultural College at Fort Collins, recently.

PERSHING RIFLES ELECTS NEW MEN

Thirty-Five Pledged at Meeting Last Week; Harding Is New Sponsor

At a meeting of Pershing Rifles held in Nebraska Hall last week thirty-five candidates for membership in the organization were voted upon and accepted as pledges. The men to receive Pershing Rifle ribbons are among those of the 100 men who tried out last week who had the least number of mistakes in drill checked against them.

Capt. Floyd C. Harding, newly chosen sponsor of Pershing Rifles, was introduced to the company by Capt. August Holmquist, and he made a short talk on future plans and possibilities of the organization. It was decided at the meeting that Pershing Rifle drill would be tentatively held from 5 to 6 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, allowing the participants academic credit for two of the three hours of compulsory weekly R. O. T. C. drill.

First Drill Thursday

The first drill of the year will be held on Thursday of this week at 5 o'clock, when both initiated men and pledges to the company will be present. The list of men who were selected to pledge are:

MASKED FIGURE AGAIN APPEARS

Walks to and from Campus Buildings Between Three Classes; Still a Mystery

The masked figure walked again yesterday. He walked three times between classes, it is reported, although a Daily Nebraskan reporter was unable to locate him. Before 9 o'clock classes he was seen near the Temple and his path led to Chemistry Hall. At 10 he walked back and into Social Sciences Building before an amused crowd of students who took his antics as a joke and were not unwilling to poke fun at him.

Before 11 o'clock meetings a group of students stopped him, surrounded him, and asked his identity and his purpose in the wanderings. He answered in several different ways, none of which gave the posse much satisfaction.

One person reported to the Nebraskan office that he, with three other inquisitive students, stopped him near Administration Building and refused to let him go his way until he gave them some account of his doings. He did not, however, give them a satisfactory answer, and repulsed their attempts to take the mask from his face. He told them that it was none of their business and that maybe sometime they would know.

Rumor now has it that the figure may be part of an experiment carried on by the psychology department, as he has been seen near that department's offices in Social Sciences. Others advocate various theories as to the meaning of the whole thing. Meanwhile the person remains the masked man of mystery.

Graduate Chemists

The University of Wisconsin is graduating more chemists with the degree of doctor of philosophy than any other institution in the country except Columbia University.

WEATHER FORECAST

For Lincoln and vicinity: Fair tonight and Wednesday; not much change in temperature; possibly light frost tonight in low places. For Nebraska: Fair tonight and Wednesday; not much change in temperature; probably light frost tonight.

Pressure continues high over the Rocky mountains and the northwest but the storm area has moved eastward to the northern Great Lakes. Cloudy and unsettled weather prevails in most of the Missouri and Mississippi Valley area, and light rain has fallen in many places, and heavy rain in Louisiana and parts of the Ohio Valley. Temperatures are below normal in southwestern Nebraska and somewhat above in the rest of the state. It is cool over the Mountain region and warm in most of the country east of the Mississippi river.

300 DAD'S DAY PAPERS MAILED

Viking's Plan of Sending Copies Of Special Edition Out in State Is Successful

More than three hundred copies of The Daily Nebraskan were sent to the dads of University students yesterday in preparation for Dad's Day to be held on Saturday, October 9. The fraternities are being urged to cooperate by closing their tables for the banquet Saturday noon at the Chamber of Commerce.

All students who wish to secure seats with their dads for the game may do so by going to the Student Activities office in the Coliseum. Student tickets will be exchanged for other tickets at no extra charge. Students wishing to exchange their student tickets to get two tickets so that they may be with their dads during the game should make the exchange at once as the best seats left are being given on the exchange. At the same time that tickets are exchanged, reservation should be made for the banquet at the Chamber of Commerce.

Lively Program

A lively program is planned for the noon banquet with short talks by Governor McMullen, Chancellor Avery, Verne Hedge, and others. The program, however, will be short so that the dads and sons will have plenty of time to get to the Nebraska-Missouri game. Booths in front of Social Science Building, Library, and Mechanical Arts Building were established yesterday morning by the Vikings where all students desiring to have their dads could have a free copy sent by signing their dad's name and address on the lists.

AG SCHOOL STARTS FALL ENROLLMENT

Ten Per Cent Increase of Boys Is Estimated This Year; Number of Girls Decreases

The School of Agriculture has started registration for the fall term. Although the final statistics are not available to-date, it is estimated that the attendance of the boys will increase at least ten per cent. However, it has been noticed that the registration of girls has decreased so far this year. Over one hundred students had enrolled up to noon Tuesday.

The first convocation of the year for the School was held on Tuesday morning. A good crowd attended, and from all indications the school of Agriculture will be a success.

Temporary Change

A temporary change in the teaching staff has been made necessary due to the sickness of Miss Wittwer. Miss Morse will take her place until such time as her health will enable her to take up her occupation of teaching again.

The student activities are already in progression at the school. A number of men are reporting for football practice and there first football game is scheduled for next week. A chorus is being formed Tuesday evening and indications are that a good turnout can be expected. The School of Agriculture orchestra will be organized within a few days, however, this will be withheld until the classes and other activities have been started.

Come from Other Places

Half the students in the University of Wisconsin summer session come from other states than Wisconsin.

New Supply of Green Caps to Arrive Soon

Freshmen who have been unable to procure green caps have only a few more days of grace until they have to don the freshman millinery. The supply of caps was exhausted early the second day of selling. Mages immediately sent in a rush order that is being filled by the manufacturers at the present time. The order will be shipped the latter part of this week, and the caps will be on sale Monday morning. After this shipment arrives each freshman must wear a cap at all times, under penalty of punishment by the sophomores.

MEN TRY OUT FOR GLEE CLUB TODAY

First Competition from 3 to 5:30 O'clock in Library 301; Also 7 to 8 P. M.

All candidates for the Mens' Glee Club will try out today from 3 to 5:30 o'clock and from 7 to 8 p. m. in Library 301. According to Paul Morrow, secretary, there are only about fifteen old members returning to school this year and there is a splendid opportunity for new members.

Herman Decker, recently appointed director of the club, will be judge of the tryouts. He stated that all candidates will be judged on a basis of voice quality, musical ability, and appearance. Members of the club may obtain an hour of credit for their work, which comes under the supervision of the School of Fine Arts.

Announce Thursday

It is hoped that the new members chosen can be announced Thursday and the first rehearsal held Friday at the regular class period. One of the first acts of the club will be the formation of a Varsity quartet for the coming season. Activities of the Glee Club included in the past have been singing at convocations, at banquets, in joint recitals with other musical organizations, presentation of a local program, appearing at theaters, and making a ten-day trip through the state during the spring holidays.

With every prospect for an excellent organization this year it is hoped that several activities not heretofore included in the roster of the club's entertainment may be added to the programs to be presented.

Care of University Signs and Keys Is One of P. J. Harrison's Tasks

Do you ever wonder how the signs around the campus go up and down with such promptitude? Or where the seals which appear on University publications come from? Or who takes charge of the thousands of keys that lock the doors and drawers and desks of the University? These are all phases of the work of Mr. P. J. Harrison, whose office is in the Administration Building.

Most of the drawings seen about the campus come by way of Mr. Harrison's ink-well and facile pen. He makes all of the teachers' certificates and some special diplomas. Formerly, before the University attained its present size, he also printed the names and dates on the regular diplomas, but that task has now been relegated to the printer. Another of his jobs in past years has been to make the bulletins so striking that the student will stop to read them. It has taken quite a time to train the student to read a bulletin when he sees one, but this result has finally been achieved to a certain degree. Special testimonials also form part of Mr. Harrison's work, and often blue prints of these are kept.
