

HUSKERS DRILL DEFENSE HARD

Yearlings Keep Varsity Busy As They Cross Goal Line Twice in Afternoon

The freshmen were making it a long afternoon for the varsity in yesterday's scrimmage. Using the Mizou attack the yearlings made consistent gains through the line.

A defense seems to be woefully lacking in the Husker eleven, and unless Coach Bearg can develop a line to stop the charges of the Missouri backs there may be a sad story next Saturday.

On the offensive the Husker machine was running smoothly. After the freshmen had failed to score on an attempted drop-kick, Avar Mandery started the march down the field with a thirty-five yard run around the end. A pass, Brown to Weir, was good for twenty yards. The Varsity lost the ball on the next play, but Bronson recovered it on a freshman fumble and raced twenty yards for a touchdown. Brown kicked the extra point. Elmer Holm made the second touchdown later in the game when he snagged a pass on the fifteen yard line. Presnell made a pretty run when returned a punt fifty yards through the freshman squad for the third counter.

Bud McBride, freshman halfback, made the best run of the day when he raced eighty yards through a broken field for the first touchdown for the yearlings this season. Later in the game he slipped through for another counter.

The Huskers are in none too good condition for the Tiger encounter. As a result of the tussle with Drake, two of the regular linemen, Cliff Ashburn and Evar Lee, are out of the scrimmages with injuries. Vint Lawson's shoulder bruise is still keeping him on the sidelines, and Dailey came out of the Tuesday scrimmage with an injured knee.

The Husker mentors have plenty of good backfield material on hand. That was in evidence Saturday when thirteen ball toters were used in a display of offensive strength seldom equalled at Nebraska.

The varsity squad which started against the freshmen was composed of Shaner and Weir at ends, Randells and Stiner at tackles, Zuber and Whitmore at guards, James at center, Bronson at quarter, A. Mandery and Brown at halves, and Howell at fullback.

PRACTICE STARTS FOR RIFLE TEAMS

Competition for Men's and Women's Rifle Team Begins Next Tuesday On University Range

Competition for positions on both men's and women's rifle teams will begin in earnest on Tuesday, October 12, with the opening of the University Gallery range in Mechanical Engineering building. Capt. Lewis W. Eggers will again have charge of rifle firing. The range will be open from 8:00 to 11:30 A. M. and from 1:00 to 4:30 P. M. each day except Monday and Saturday, and on Saturday from 8:00 to 11:30 A. M. Freshmen wishing to do their compulsory R. O. T. C. shooting will not be allowed on the range until a future date.

A larger turn-out for the teams is expected than was on hand last year, due to increased and improved equipment and a possibility of shooting on a larger range. All rifles and ammunition are furnished free by the military department to both men and girls who try out for the teams. Everyone who is eligible for other activities is eligible to shoot on the rifle teams. Minor sport N's are awarded to those who shoot well enough and who compete in a sufficient number of matches.

Men's Glee Club Tryouts Continue

So many candidates tried out for the University Men's Glee Club at the tryouts Wednesday that Director Herman Decker has decided to hold a second tryout Friday from 4 t. 6 o'clock in Library Hall 301. Almost a hundred tried out Wednesday. The announcement of those picked for the Club will be made next Sunday.

TRACK TEAM TO MEET MISSOURI

First Cross-Country Race Will Be Held Saturday Jointly With Foot-ball game

Nebraska's cross-country team will receive its first test this year when it meets Missouri in a dual meet here Saturday in conjunction with the Nebraska-Missouri football game.

Captain Hays has been troubled by a muscle in his stomach but Dr. McLean says he should be all right for the race Saturday. Chadderdon's ankle is steadily improving. The rest of the team is in good shape.

Nothing is known as to the caliber of the Missouri team. The team was weak last year but they had several promising freshmen track men. Epstein of Missouri won the 880-yard run in the Missouri Valley freshman telegraphic meet last spring, setting a new freshman valley record.

The strength of the Nebraska team is really doubtful also. Captain Hays and Johnson looked fine in the opening run but have not taken the course in time trials since. The rest of the team showed up well in the opening trials but not as well in the final trials last week. Three miles on the course was the schedule for last night. Tonight the men will take a light warming up with no workout Friday.

The men have been under the supervision of Jimmy Lewis all week. Coach Henry F. Schulte has been attending meetings at Chadron and Scottsbluff this week.

NEW YORK GRIDMEN IN LIGHT WORKOUT

Violet Players Kept Constantly At Work; None Injured in Allegheny Game

New York, Oct. 6.—Despite the warm weather, the New York University football squad was sent through a long, though light, workout on Ohio Field yesterday. The Violet players came through the tough game with the hardy Allegheny team in fine shape, every member reporting to Head Coach "Chick" Meehan prepared for another hard week of practice in preparation for the battle with West Virginia Wesleyan next Saturday.

There is no breathing spell on the New York University gridiron schedule this season, and for that reason Meehan is forced to keep his men at work almost constantly. The Allegheny tussle was such a bruising affair that Meehan will subject his men to only one scrimmage this week, probably tomorrow.

In the drill yesterday, the varsity squad was sent through signal rehearsal for many minutes, in an effort to speed up the "huddle-shift", the Meehan creation which is proving so successful at N. Y. U. The head coach is so pleased with the progress being made on his "huddle-shift" that he will have it on display again in the game against West Virginia Wesleyan this week-end.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS LONG AT NEBRASKA

W. A. A. Membership Based on Sport Participation; Variety of Games Are Offered

What is W. A. A.? What can one do to become a member? How can a girl earn an "N"? These are questions often asked by new students.

The W. A. A. is the Women's Athletic association of the University. In this organization the Nebraska woman, be she slender or obese, or any of the degrees between, can find a sport to suit her fancy and her figure. The variety of sports offered has included even skiing which was attempted for a short period.

Membership to W. A. A. is earned by participation in some sport. Marksmanship fascinates certain co-eds. Last year matches were held with Universities as far away as Hawaii and Porto Rico.

Previous experience in a sport is not necessary for participation as instruction is always given during the ten practice periods. In the point system of awards used, it is possible for a girl to earn one hundred points by capturing a first team position in her particular sport. The membership requirement is 125 points.

Nebraska was one of the first schools to adopt the game of basket ball. In early days of voluminous bloomers, the contests were not open to spectators. The story of the two curious males who resorted to hiding in the pipe organ of the Armory in order to see for themselves is now ancient history.

Track events and field hockey for women were introduced in 1899, followed by the advent of soccer and swimming a few years later. The list of women's athletics has grown until it now includes tennis, hockey soccer, hiking, basket ball, swimming, skating, volley ball, archery, indoor and outdoor baseball, dancing, rifle marksmanship, track events and horseback riding.

M'BRIDE SHOWS UP ON YEARLING TEAM

First Year Men Worry Varsity With Missouri Plays in Wednesday Afternoon Drill

Bud McBride was the shining light in the freshman backfield Wednesday afternoon. Getting away for twenty on up to seventy-five yards was his favorite pastime. Playing against the Varsity on stadium sod he and his cohorts scored two touchdowns to the first string's three.

The openfield running of Rols, Dayton, Ohio, youth, also drew Coach "Choppy's" attention. He is a newcomer with quite a reputation as a sprinter.

Elkins, as usual, heeded his opponent in the punting end of the tussle, one of his attempts soaring sixty yards.

On account of numerous injuries, a scrambled lineup was sent against the Varsity. The lineup:

Toms and Lewandowski, ends.
Richards and Broadstone, tackles.
Morgan and Jeffreys, guards.
Case, center.
Rols and McBride, halves.
Elkins, quarter, and Sloan, full.

CYCLONE FULLBACK INJURED IN GAME

Iowa State Coach Seeks Man to Replace Klug Hurt in Tussle With Washington

AMES, Iowa, Oct. 6.—Special—Faced with the problem of finding another fullback of Valley caliber to replace Bill Klug, who is out the remainder of the season with a broken leg, the Iowa State coaches have a troublesome job on their hands. Klug, a sophomore from Norfolk, Neb., broke his leg in the fourth play of the Cyclone-Washington game Monday, and is still in a St. Louis hospital.

The fullback job is now left entirely to Lamson, another sophomore, who was shifted early in the season from the line to fullback by Coaches Workman and Schmidt. The fact that Lamson's broken thumb is not fully healed, forcing him to carry his left hand in a cast, has hampered him considerably.

Walt Zellers of Redfield, a reserve fullback from last year's squad, is available this year and is being considered. Rudi of Glidden, who seems to be the man without a country on the Cyclone team, will probably be shifted to full in this week's preparation for the game with Hohnie Maulbetsch's Oklahoma Aggies. Rudi started his freshman year as a quarter, has been shifted to half this year and now seems to get a crack at the fullback assignment. Rudi is a hard driving line-plunger and may fill the hole in the green Iowa State backfield.

Iowa State's showing against the Bears points to a promising backfield. The new Iowa State machine registered 11 first downs to the Bear's 6. In the game Monday Iowa State used the forward pass four times, each time successfully, while Washington tried 13 passes, only three of which were successful. Two were intercepted. The terrible condition of the Washington field made passing and running attacks quite difficult. The Iowa State forward pass defense also looked unusually
