HUSKERS RATED STRONG ELEVEN IN MID-SEASON

Beargmen Victorious in Three of Four Games; Two Valley Games Left

MEET AMES SATURDAY

Workman Gridsters' Record Gives Warning of Real Tussle

With half of the 1926 season finished, the Nebraska Cornhuskers have taken rank as one of the strongest elevens in the west. In four games, the Beargmen have emerged victorious three times.

Drake, Washington and Kansas are the three teams that have tasted defeat at the hands of the Nebraskans, while Missouri scratched a win in the second game of the season.

Two more Missouri Valley games remain on the Husker schedule before the Beargmen step forth into a pair of intersectional contests, both of which promise to be classics of their day.

While Iowa State was threatening the Missouri prestige, Oklahoma came near giving the Kansas Aggies the short end of a grueling contest. It was not until the last few minutes of play that the Aggies scored a field goal to win the game, 15 to 12. Nebraska meets the Kaggies at Lincoln November 13. The Bachman eleven has scored wins over Texas, Creighton, Kansas, and Oklahoma, and promises to give the Huskers a tough battle when the two teams meet at Sciences, Irene Davies; Business Ad-Lincoln November 13.

Training of Student Compared To Process of Manufacturing Shoes

Education is more than reading, writing and arithmetic, geography and history but must likewise take on attitudes, appreciation, and ideals; it is knowledge plus, asserted Professor H. C. Koch of the department of secondary education in his speech on "Vital Scholarship" Tuesday, October 26, as a part of the University Extension Department's radio program broadcasted daily over KFAB, The Nebraska Buick Company station. Professor Koch, quoting a man of great accomplishments, compared the process of manufacturing a shoe with the manufacturing of a graduate student. "What a striking contrast is this. On the one hand, a necessary article of utility, formed and fashioned for the lowliest service, to house the feet of the world. On the other, living buoyancy; surging, dynamic energy; glowing happiness; life on the wing. Shoes or animate beings.
