GEORGE JESSEL, PATSY RUTH MILLER and VERA GORDON in "Private Izzy Murphy" A comedy drama of Izzy's Irish Woes. Stage Act News Reel Ralph Scott, Organist

Every day the Coliseum is demonstrating its usefulness and value as a University Unit. The thousands of State Teachers who enjoyed the privileges of this wonderful building are loud in their praise of Lincoln as a convention city. Another educational show place that has become a mecca for the campus family, as well as outstate teachers, is George's Import Store and Gift House. A common expression among the visitors "There is nothing like it in the west, it certainly is unique." 1213 N Street. You are invited to see this exhibit.—Adv.

YEARLINGS WIN 23-16 FROM KAGS

McBride turned in 4 more to make it first and ten. Another pass, Elkins to Sloan, netted 16 yards and placed the ball on the Ag 33 yard line. With Elkins and McBride alternating in carrying the ball, the yearlings were soon on the 10-yard line and functioning smoothly. Sloan turned in 2 yards and McBride crashed through for a touchdown. Sloan booted a perfect dropkick for the extra point. The half ended a few minutes later, Nebraska's ball on the Aggie 24-yard line. Score: Nebraska freshmen 7; Kansas Aggie freshmen 2.

In the first half the Ags made two first downs and the Nebraskans ten. Eight of these were earned and two presented by penalties against the Aggies.

Starts With Flourish

Nebraska started off with a flourish in the second half. Line plays featuring, McBride advanced the ball deep into Ag territory. Elkins passed to Sloan for 12 yards and McBride carried the ball to the Aggie 10-yard line. Balked by a suddenly tightening line, Sloan dropped back to the 20-yard line and booted a perfect dropkick through the uprights for a three point addition.

With the score going against them, the Aggies opened up a puzzling overhead attack that pushed the yearlings back on their heels. Russell passed to Shay for 23 yards and later to Fletcher for 16 and a touchdown. Fletcher's dropkick was wide. The score was 10 to 8 at the end of the third quarter.

Heavy scoring featured the final canto. A pass by Russell was intercepted by Sloan who ran 25 yards for a touchdown. Russell retaliated by passing and plunging from mid-field to a well-earned touchdown. The excitement caused by the narrow 16 to 15 lead was short lived. Ryan's pass was intercepted by Elkins who threw off numerous tacklers in a 35-yard sprint for a counter. This ended the scoring for all concerned and soon afterwards the game ended with Nebraska in possession of the ball on her 27-yard line.

Calves are Shipped To Ag College For Experimental Work

One hundred and eighty head of calves are being shipped to the Agricultural College this week from the herd of Shockley Brothers at Brownlee, Nebraska to be used in the experimental work at the Nebraska Experiment Station this winter.

These calves have been raised in the sand-hill region of Nebraska, according to Professor Gramlich of the animal husbandry department. He also says that the Agricultural College of Purdue University at Lafayette, Indiana has purchased a carload of similar calves from Dewey Gilfoyl for experimental purposes at Purdue University.

Different rations will be tried this winter in connection with the feeding to determine the effect of these rations on the quality of meat. The majority of them will be fed for a period of six months.

Dr. Center of Omaha, who was a member of Dr. Barbour's first geology class in the University in 1891, visited at the Museum a short while Monday.

Purdue Professor Requests Booklet

A request from Professor Knapp of Purdue University for additional copies of Bulletin Number 16 of Nebraska Studies in Business, a booklet published in July 1926 by the Nebraska University Extension Division, has been received by Dean Ferguson of the Engineering College.

The booklet is a result of a request of a special committee consisting of members of the College of Business Administration, the College of Agriculture, and the College of Engineering, and was prepared by Dr. Robb, chairman of the Committee on Business Research.

"Professor Knapp indicates that his committee is making a study of manufacturing in the state of Indiana and that they wish to use the bulletin in helping to direct their study," Dean Ferguson stated.

Fort Crook Sergeant Drills R. O. T. C. Band

Serg. J. H. Kemery, of the Fort Crook barracks has been assisting the R. O. T. C. band in drill for the past two nights. Kemery, who is a band sergeant at the barracks, is a friend of Prof. William T. Quick, the director of the R. O. T. C. band, and in the past has always helped drill the band before the first review of the season.

Sergeant Kemery stressed the necessity of smart cadence in marching and commented favorably on the band's playing. His visit here is unofficial, being in Lincoln on a furlough.

The band plays for all military reviews as it is a unit of the military science department.

The freshmen at Roanoke were made to assemble the first Sunday of the year at 7:30 o'clock in the morning and stage a race in stocking feet. Then the seniors collected them and marched into church, still without shoes.

PICTURE OF LAMME GIVEN TO ENGINEERS

The College of Engineering has been presented with a picture of B. G. Lamme, formerly Chief Engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Many former students of Nebraska have worked under Mr. Lamme, and it is to be noted that he displays great personal interest in the men, as well as a technical interest.

The picture has a dark frame, and represents Mr. Lamme sitting at his desk at work. It is the gift of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, and will occupy a place on one of the walls of the office. At the base of the picture a small metal tablet is set in the frame, upon which the following is inscribed:

"In my thirty-five years of work with the Westinghouse Company I have seen many young men grow from pupils to assistants and associates. This has been one of my greatest pleasures. I have aimed to instill in them fundamental ideas of engineering honesty and honor, square dealing and fair fighting—that there should be pride in accomplishment and that true engineering means much more than merely making a living—that it means advancement of the art for the benefit of mankind."

—B. G. Lamme.

Victrola Serenade Unprofitable

From results obtained by a poor collegian at Williamette College it seems that serenading with a Victrola is not successful. Nowhere on his serenading tour of the sorority houses was he invited in to eat, or even presented with a box of candy.

The University of Georgia is beginning a campaign to wipe out child illiteracy in Georgia before 1930 when the next National Census will be taken.
