University Is Organized As Place For All

Freedom Was the Foundation Stone; Social Betterment Was the Aim

PEOPLE OF STATE HAD CONFIDENCE IN SCHOOL

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles which Mr. Kezer has written for The Daily Nebraskan on the history, development, aims and ideals of the University.

(By Munro Kezer)

In the first two articles we have sketched the development of western state universities and of the University of Nebraska. In this article we want to look at the spirit of the University, which from the beginning exemplified the spirit of the state. We want to see what it has meant to the state.

The leaders of pioneer Nebraska laid the basis for a truly state university, a university whose mission was the betterment of the state, materially and culturally. The first University register and catalog stated that the "advantages of the University are afforded to all citizens of the commonwealth, free of charge for their tuition, without regard to sex or race, on condition only of possessing the intellectual and moral qualifications requisite for admission."

Tuition Made Free
It was a school of equal opportunity, established in a state of great opportunities. Tuition was made free. It was felt that it was the duty of the state to supply educational advantage to students who were unable to make provision for it themselves. It was felt that the aid given these individuals would prove of benefit to the state. No narrow, partisan limitations for entry were made. Ability and character were the sole qualifications.

Freedom, the keynote of intellectual development, was the foundation stone of the University. Open to all, the University opened the way to intellectual achievement of the highest order. Open to all, it opened the way to the progressive betterment of the whole society, the entire state.

The University was founded not as a school for the exceptional but as a school for all. It was designed to furnish the higher instruction from which the exceptional individual could profit. But its purpose did not end there. It was also designed to furnish the average individual with a chance to acquire such training that he would be of more value to society or such cultural development that his life would be of more value to himself.

School For Whole State

It was a University for the people of the state, not just for the geniuses of the state. At first its courses were limited. But the fundamental idea was there. As students were drawn to the University, so new courses were added to meet their needs. The ideal of the University was fundamentally different from the old European university. There, training was offered which interested students came to take. The State University attempted to furnish training which the youth of the state desired. It did so, not by sacrificing the established educational standards, but by adding to them work to meet the different.

DIRECTORY IS SELLING FAST

Management of Student Handbook Says Only 500 Copies Are Remaining

The 1926-1927 Student and Faculty directory has sold unusually fast; the checking Tuesday night showed that there were only five hundred left for sale, a record breaking sale for the directory.

The book contains a list of all the students in the university, which number between 5500 and 6000. After the name of each student are the telephone number and address, the class in the university, the home town and fraternity or sorority affiliations. In the faculty list there are all of the names of the instructors with their telephone numbers and addresses and all the other information that is found in the catalogue. The home town list has proved to be a very interesting part of the book. It shows that Lincoln leads all towns in the number of students attending the university with 1412. Omaha is second with 367 students in school here.

There will be no sales tables in Social Science hall today but there will be in the Teacher's college and in the Law building. Any student may get a directory at either one of the book stores until the supply is exhausted.

"Chick" Meehan

N. Y. BACKFIELD HUSKER THREAT

Chick Meehan's Crew Presents Formidable Lineup For Saturday Clash

New York, Nov. 16.—Five men, the "Four Centaurs" who make up the backfield, and Al "TNT" Lassman, star tackle, are expected to bear the brunt of the attack which Coach Chick Meehan's New York University football eleven will launch against the Nebraska Cornhuskers in the game at Lincoln next Saturday.

In Lassman, Meehan has one of the best tackles in the east. An amateur boxer of more than local fame, Lassman has developed into a valuable lineman on the gridiron.

Lassman Tower of Strength
His effect on the team was best seen in the New York U. victory over Fordham. Late in the second period, Lassman was injured. The Meehanites were trailing 3 to 0 at that time, and they continued to hold that relative position in the scoring until the fourth quarter when the boxer tackle returned to the game. Then the New York U. team ran wild and scored 27 points to win.

The "Four Centaurs" as the Meehan backfield has been named, consists of Captain Frank Briante, regarded as one of the best line plungers in the east; Jack Connor, the quarterback about whom Meehan says his team is built and of whom the New York U. coach says, "he is one of the smartest quarterbacks I have ever seen; he always does the right thing at the right time"; Ken Strong, halfback, one of the longest and most accurate kickers on any gridiron, and Archie Roberts, halfback.

This quartet can plunge, pass, kick, back up a line, and do most anything else a good backfield should be able to do. The four are expected to give Nebraska plenty to worry about next Saturday.

ANDREW T. ROY IS VESPER SPEAKER

Traveling Secretary of Student Volunteer Movement Talks; Winifred Sain Leads Meeting

Andrew T. Roy, traveling secretary of the student volunteer movement for foreign missions, spoke at Vesper service on Tuesday at Ellen Smith Hall at 5 o'clock. Winifred Sain led the meeting. Viola Forsell gave a violin solo.

"Religion should be our very life," said Mr. Roy. "Many people put religion on like a coat and cast it aside as soon. Giving yourself to God produces a feeling of unity within. A true Christian is able to feel other people's needs."

"Christians and missionaries mean the same thing. A missionary wants to see growing life. He must throw Christian seed into the wind so that it may find soil to develop in and grow. Missionaries lead heroic lives. They must be willing to die for their cause."

Missionaries Make Progress
"Today we have to think of missionaries with a broad point of view. Our scientists, for example, are visionaries. They invent medicines which are of untold value to the human race. All missionaries are the very core of the world's progress." was one of the world's progress.

"The Milwaukee Conference to be held on December 28 to Jan. 1 is first tremendous possibility. It is the first joint conference that the national student Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. has undertaken. Its purpose is to discover the resources of Christianity for life today and how to make these resources available to the present student generation."

Seattle Football Team Makes Special Schedule
The Burlington-Northern Pacific special train to Washington for the Thanksgiving Day game with the Washington Huskies will follow a bee-line route and schedule from Lincoln to Seattle in order to get the team there as soon as possible. On the way back a more leisurely schedule has been worked out which will permit short stopovers.

A short work-out during a two or three hours stop-over at Sand Point, Idaho, will be the only stop on the trip to Washington.

Mr. Kaufmann, passenger agent of the Burlington, reports that more than 100 reservations on the train have been made by Omaha, Norfolk, Central City, Fremont and Lincoln people, not including the team and members of the coaching and training staff.

Alumni Association Formed At Oklahoma
An active association of Nebraska Alumni is being organized at Tulsa, Oklahoma. A meeting of alumni was held on November 13, officers were elected and a future program was planned. There are now some seventy alumni residing in Tulsa.

Harvard Freshmen X-Rayed
Silhouettes and X-ray photos are being taken of all the freshmen at Harvard in search for physical defects.

PLANS FOR BALL ARE UNDER WAY

Victor Recording Orchestra To Furnish Music At Opening Of Formal Season

"The executive committee of the eighteenth annual Military Ball to be held in the University Coliseum December third is pleased to announce that they have been able to secure Charles Dornberger's Original Victor Recording Orchestra to furnish music for the formal opening of winter social functions of Lincoln and the University," stated Robert Hoagland yesterday following the receipt of a telegram from the Music Corporation of America.

Hoagland who is in charge of the music for the Military Ball has been at work for several weeks in an attempt to book Dornberger's band which is rated as one of the country's best musical attractions today. Dornberger and his artists come to Lincoln to fill the December 3 engagement direct from the "Fleet Wood of Fairyland" at Chattanooga. The M. C. A. boasts of this orchestra as an aggregation of real novelty musicians who know how to deliver the pep and sway of syncopation and harmony.

Band Said Real Treat

It will be the first time that a Victor orchestra has played for a dancing party in Lincoln's history and after playing at the Ritz and appearing at the Ziegfeld Midnight Frolics in New York less than a year ago, students of the University and Lincoln residents who are able to secure tickets for the Ball have a real treat in store.

Besides the music attraction which is being brought here at considerable expense, the Military Ball will surpass all collegiate parties ever held at Nebraska. The grand march led by the Honorary Colonel who is to be presented to the student body for the first time is considered an attraction in itself. Novelty favors (Continued on Page Two.)

Daily Nebraskan Inquiring Reporter

Every day he asks a question of different students picked at random on the campus.

Today's question: Do you think a cheerleader along with the team would help win the Washington game Thanksgiving Day?

Asked at different places on the campus.

Donald Russell, Law '29, North Platte.

"If there is anybody there to cheer, I think there should be a cheerleader along, because it would help win the game. A school the size of Nebraska University should send a representative of the student body."

Edith Stander, A. S., '27, Louisville. "Organized cheering always helps to win the games whether it is at home or elsewhere."

John Shaffer, A. S., '29, Hastings. "Some one should go along to lead the routers that go to Washington; a cheer leader would be certain to help win the game."

Ed Cahow, A. S., '30, Omaha. "Whether a cheer leader is needed or not depends on the number of supporters who make the trip. A cheer leader couldn't help win the game if there was no one there to lead cheers for."

Alvina Olson, T. C., '30, McCook. "A cheer leader would give those more pep who were there, this would help win the game."

Evelyn Angle, A. S., '27, Lincoln. "The team would know that they have our support if there was a cheer leader present."

Thelma McCoy, T. C., '30, Lincoln. "If there was a cheer leader to represent us the team would know that we wanted them to win."

Iris Ludden, T. C., '28, Lincoln. "By all means I think we should send a cheer leader. This will show the team that they really have the backing of the student body. We can't all go to Washington, but we can send our pep and enthusiasm in the form of a cheer leader."

BAND BENEFIT DANCE PLANNED

University Organization May Be Sent to Seattle For Washington Game

Plans for the Band benefit dance November 20, to send the band to Seattle Thanksgiving, are well under way. Committees are concentrating their efforts on making the party the biggest ever held in the Coliseum.

The ticket sale started this morning. A representative in each fraternity has been given tickets with which to canvass that house. The ticket sellers will also be active on the campus the latter part of the week. A committee has been appointed to call all the fraternity houses Thursday and Friday and urge them to support the dance in order that the band may make this trip.

This is the one organization on the campus which can best carry Nebraska spirit to Seattle according to Professor W. T. Quick. He also declared that the band can do more good, and spread more spirit at a game than any other body of rooters. He expressed the wish that the students would realize that in sending the band they are doing all that is possible in the way of giving the team moral support, since it is impossible for a very large number of students to make the trip.

Committees Are Chosen

The committee chosen to plan the party and work out the details are: General chairman—Robert V. Hoagland.

FORSTER SPEAKS ON CANADIAN WILD LIFE

Visitor Says Photographing Animals Gives More Pleasure Than Shooting Them

"Photographing wild animals gives more satisfaction than shooting them," urged Captain F. G. Forster of the Department of Interior of Canada while speaking on "The Preservation of Wild Life" in convocation Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock in the Temple Theater. Moving pictures of Canadian scenery and wild life accompanied the talk.

Mountain scenes from the Banff National park in British Columbia illustrated the work of Canada to further wild life. "Captain Forster explained that harm to animals or destruction to scenery in this park is considered a crime in Canada.

The Circle Road, part of the Columbia Highway, starts at Portland, Oregon and continues north along the coast to British Columbia and Banff National Park. "Some of the most beautiful country of the world may be seen from this road," continued Captain Forster in describing the western part of Canada.

Twenty-five years of living in these unsettled regions of Canada have given Captain Forster an unusual preparation for his position as official lecturer for the Division of the Interior and Information, Canadian National Parks, Department of the Interior. During the World War he served overseas as a chaplain in the Canadian army.

Captain Forster also talked before 150 Lincoln people Monday evening at a joint dinner of the Ad Club, The Isaak Walton league; and the junior chamber of commerce held at the Chamber of Commerce.

Senior Class Meeting Will Be Held Thursday

Senior class meeting has been called for Thursday morning at 11 o'clock by President Joe Weir. The meeting will be held in the Social Science auditorium for the election of minor officers for the first semester.

These offices include vice president, secretary and treasurer. Announcement of class committees for the first semester will be made following the Thursday morning meeting.

Record Stands

Roland "Gipper" Locke, Nebraska sprinting ace, who finished his last year of intercollegiate competition last spring by gaining recognition for his record-breaking performances on the cinders, has been given a clear title to the 220-yard dash record, which he made in 20.5 seconds on the Nebraska track.

HUSKER CATTLE TAKE 8 FIRSTS

College of Agriculture Animals Show Up Well in Kansas City Exposition

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 16.—Four championships, eight firsts, three seconds, and one third prize were won by the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture show herd of six steers and thirteen barrows at the American Royal Livestock show at Kansas City in strong steer and barrow classes.

Cornhusker Kenyon, 16-month old purebred Angus steer, bred by the college, was made champion Angus steer and Indianola Bill, a June yearling Angus, was made champion grade Angus. Royal Marvel 3rd, the third full brother that has been bred and exhibited by the agricultural college was made second in a very large Shorthorn class. Oteo Type, a purebred Galloway, bred by Straub Brothers of Avoca, was made first and reserve champion in the Galloway class.

In the barrow classes, a spring Duroc Jersey barrow won first in his class and champion Duroc barrow of the show and a pen of three Durocs won first and champion pen of Durocs. The other winners were: Poland China spring pig, 3rd in his class; Hampshire spring pig, 1st in his class; and three cross-bred Chester White barrows won 1st and 2nd as individuals, and 1st as a pen.

The livestock judging team from the college won third in competition with ten other teams from as many other agricultural colleges. This is the start of intensive training in preparation for the student's judging contest to be held at the International Livestock Exposition to be held in Chicago the latter part of this month.

RICE WILL SPEAK AGAINST GREEKS

University Professor To Talk In Answer to Mr. Rosborough's Argument Last Week

Professor J. A. Rice, professor in the classics department will speak against the fraternity-sorority system at World Forum this noon at the Grand Hotel. This will conclude the two-address pro and con discussion of fraternities before the Forum.

Professor Rice is an Oxford graduate, a keen and witty speaker, and a lively discussion is assured this noon. He spoke before the Forum last spring during the series on "Progress." His address provoked more comment than perhaps any other in that series. He is expected to meet the arguments in favor of fraternities advanced last week by Professor Rosborough of the University School of Music.

Mission Study Class Will Meet Wednesday

A mission study class, starting this evening and continuing every Wednesday evening for five weeks, will be held at Pilgrim House, on 1504 Q St. from 7:15 to 8:00 o'clock. Mathews, entitled "Young Islam on the March" will cover a book by Basil Trak. All are invited to attend.

DOUBLE RALLY WILL BE HELD FRIDAY NIGHT

Pep Session In Old Armory And Annual Torchlight Parade on Program

LETTERMEN TO SPEAK

Coach Schulte and George E. Condra Named as Principal Speakers of Session

Nebraska's annual torch light parade will be staged Friday night following the final football rally to be held in the Armory. The New York and Washington rallies will be held in the form of a double rally Friday since the Cornhuskers leave following the game Saturday for the west coast.

The closing rally of the 1926 season will be most impressive with every graduating football performer saying a few words before the student body for his last time. Coach E. E. Bearg and Dr. George A. Condra will be the chief speakers at the Friday night meeting.

Parade Feature of Rally

The rally in the Armory will be short and the torch light parade will be formed in front of Social Science on Twelfth street immediately after the close of the campus meeting. The entire student body led by the University Band, the Tassels and the Corn Cobs will form the parade and will march to the Lincoln hotel where Coach Meehan's New Yorkers will reside while in the Capital City.

A generous welcome is being planned for the New York aggregation since it is the easterners' first trip to the middle west. The week's football slogan "Welcome West, New York" suggests the prevailing spirit of greeting to the visitors.

OLYMPICS TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Sophomores Gain Advantage With Addition of Games; Push Ball Is Feature

This year's Olympics, to be held next Saturday morning as previously announced, will be much different from those of any previous year according to an announcement by the Olympic committee. Several changes have been made in old events and one new event has been added.

The "push ball" is the new event this year. In this event about 100 freshmen will do battle with a like number of sophomores in an effort to push a ball 8 feet in diameter over their opponent's goal line. This event promises to be one of the features of the program.

Numbers No Advantage

The "bull pen" has been changed so each team instead of trying to remain on the side of the center line away from its goal, will try to stay on its own side of the line. When the whistle blows at the end of ten minutes, the team having the greatest number of men on the half of the field nearest the line from which it started will win the event.

Sophomores are given a much greater chance for victory this year as the only event in which numbers will count is the pole rush. In previous years the frosh have won by numbers in other events, but this year only a limited number will be allowed to compete.

Instructors have been given authority to excuse all first and second year men from Saturday morning classes.

SPECIAL COURSE TO BE GIVEN FARMERS

Automobile and Tractor Instruction Will Be Offered Beginning December 27

An automobile and tractor short course will be offered at the Nebraska College of Agriculture this winter. Registration will be held either December 27 or January 24. The first course will open December 27 and runs four weeks to January 21. The second course will start January 24 and continue to February 18. Both courses cover the same work.

The reason for offering the same course at different times is to allow men on the farms to come when they are the least busy. By offering the course in this manner, men can leave their farms for a short period when the work is slack.

The course consists of four weeks work, eight hours a day, and will cover ignition, carburetion, valve timing, lubrication, bearings, batteries, starting and lighting, tractor operation, and other phases that have to do with tractors and automobiles. The registration is limited to 25 men for each four week period.
