MASS MEETING FEATURES DAY AT AG COLLEGE

Hon. Duncan Marshall and Pres. Farrell of K.S.A.C. Speakers on Program

RUFUS MOORE, '27, TALKS Describes Value of Activities Hall to Students Before Farmer's Gathering

Rufus Moore, '27, told assembled farmers in the mass meeting of Nebraska Organized Agriculture "What Activities Hall Means to the Student Body" yesterday afternoon in the college activities building of the college of agriculture. "Ag college has more real college spirit than any other college of the University," he said. "That spirit has had too little chance for expression. We all know what it can do when Farmer's Fair comes around and student life points toward that activity. We all know that the finest result of Farmer's Fair has been the fact that it gets the college together working as a unit. The new building extends that opportunity to cover the entire year."

He outlined the proposed athletic and social program for the agricultural college and told of the successful parties that had been enjoyed by the students and faculty of the college. He made especial mention of the Farmers' Formal which was held the first week in December which is hoped to be made an annual affair.

Farrell Talks on Rural Prosperity Harriet Cruise Kemmer opened the program with a group of songs. She was followed by F. D. Farrell, president of the Kansas State Agricultural College at Manhattan. President Farrell spoke on "The Real Basis of Rural Prosperity," showing that the American farmer was in no danger of becoming of the peasant type as is being said by some.

The average man of the middle west handles more land than in other sections, he pointed out, and because of this, has more luxuries, more conveniences, and more liberty than the farmer of other countries.

He also showed that America had been settled by people who were not contented with conditions as they found them in their home country and that America's progress was the result of this discontentment as contrasted with the African savage who contentedly suns himself in the tropical sun.

Marshall Outlines Needs Hon. Duncan Marshall, Toronto, former minister of agriculture of Canada, spoke on some of the needs of agriculture. He said that agriculture was the basis of all industry and proceeded to prove it in a (Continued on Page Three.)

COACHES START TRACK INDOORS

Two Hundred Out but Schulte Calls for Larger Squad. Heavy Work Starts

With approximately two hundred fifty men working out daily on the indoor track under the stadium, Coach Henry F. Schulte is anxious to see the number raised to over four hundred within the next few days. Coach Schulte is pinning his hopes for winning teams this year and next on the development of a host of new men.

Intense early season conditioning work has been started. Middle distance and distance men have been alternating heavy over-distance work one night with pace work the next. Coach Schulte has been having them walk, jog, and occasionally run a lap at pace time over a distance of from four to six miles every other night.

Weir and Rhodes Assisting Weir and Rhodes have been helping Coach Schulte drill the hurdlers, working on starts and form. Krause Fleming and the freshman, Trumble, have been stepping fifty yard flights in nice early season form. Hein and Locke, crack varsity sprinters from last year, have been limbering up preparatory for a season of independent running. They have also been assisting in coaching the sprinters.

DEBATE TRIALS ARE POSTPONED

Iowa State Cancels Offer to Discuss Haugen Bill at State Farm Meet

Arrangements for Nebraska's proposed debate with Iowa State at Ames early in February on the question of farm relief before a statewide farm gathering have fallen through. Tryouts have been postponed a week as a result. Professor H. Adelbert White, varsity debate coach, announced yesterday that Iowa State has notified him that a place could not be found on the week's program for the debate.

A debate with Iowa State may be scheduled at a later date although the matter is now entirely up in the air. Professor White expressed himself as quite disappointed as he thought that the debate had been definitely determined upon. This makes the first debate on farm relief fall on February 18 when Nebraska faces Kansas State Agricultural College in a dual debate at Lincoln and at Manhattan.

As a result of the change in schedule, Professor White has postponed the tryouts for teams on the McNary-Haugen question. The trials were to have been held Wednesday afternoon, January 12th. He states that instead they will be held sometime during the following week. At that time, two teams for the question, "Resolved: That the essentials of the McNary-Haugen bill should be enacted into Federal Law" will be selected. To date about twelve men have signed up to try out for these teams. Seventeen participated in the try-outs for teams on the question of changing to a parliamentary form of government. Coach White is anxious to have a larger number working for places on the team. Students wishing to try-out should notify him at once.

ATHLETIC TICKETS NEARLY EXCHANGED

80 Per Cent of Football Cards Are In. Here There Will Be No Last Minute Rush

About 80 per cent of the football tickets have been exchanged for basketball and wrestling tickets. These will be exchanged at any time but it is hoped that few will try to exchange them just before the game Friday, because to do so will add unnecessarily to the congestion at the doors.

There is a reserved seat for every basketball ticket given out. A sufficient supply of ushers will be there to seat the crowds easily. The game will start promptly at 7:30 P. M.

Hendricks Suggests Rating High School Students as to Ability

An article entitled "Salvaging the Superior High School Chemistry Student" by Professor Bernard Clifford Hendricks, University Associate Professor of Chemistry appeared in the December number of the "Journal of Chemical Education", a monthly devoted to the interests of Chemistry teachers. Professor Hendricks is a contributing editor of this magazine. The article concerned the grouping of students upon their ability and achievements and stated that "For the past three years of the beginning of Nebraska has, by means of tests or monthly grades, grouped its students upon the basis of ability and achievement. This practice has proved so helpful that for several months the writer has been trying

HUSKERS MEET KANSAS AGS IN SEASON OPENER

Basket Tossers Inaugurate Conference Season at Coliseum Tonight

THURSDAY DRILL LIGHT

Coach Black Winds Up Week With Short Signal Practice And Free Throw Drill

The Missouri Valley cage season opens tonight for the Nebraska Cornhuskers when they meet the strong Kansas Aggie aggregation from Manhattan. The Kaggies are doped as Valley contenders and Nebraska fans will be assured a real battle when the two teams meet on the coliseum floor tonight.

Head basketball coach Charles Black has not released the starting lineup for tonight's game, but the opening whistle will probably find Captain Clark Smaha at one of the forward posts, with "Jug" Brown or Oleson his running mate. Tom Elliott or Page will hold the pivot position and Phil Gerelick, Anderson, or Holm will be the Husker guards.

Hold Final Practice The Nebraska coach sent his cagers through the final practice last night with a light practice and limbering up. A short signal drill and the usual free throw practice was the program for the final workout before the opening game tonight.

The past week has been spent in hard workouts for the Husker quintet, with long drills on short shots, which seems to be the Nebraska coach's chief worry. A lot of attention has been given to free throws. Fifty each from the foul line has been the average for the squad each night, followed by the usual drill on various shots and recoveries. Angle shots, short shots and shots from mid-court were all on the daily program of the week.

Kaggies Defeated Hilliards Coach Black realizes the strength of the Kaggie crew and is expecting a great battle with the Kansas Farmers. Byers, Stradsky and Edwards are flashy cagers and a combination that will make competition keen in the valley this year. Stradsky, center on the Aggie team made the final basket that beat the Hilliard National A. A. U. champions at St. Joseph last week.

The probable line up for the Kansas Aggies will be Byers and Discus at forwards, Stradsky at center and Mertel and Edwards at guard. Eleven members of the Purple cage squad will make the trip to Lincoln and go from here to Omaha where they meet the Creighton university five on Jan. 8.

"Red" Brown of Kansas City will handle the game which will start at 7:30.

Bishop McConnell Will Be Here For Three Days

Florence McGahey, University Registrar, will again have charge of the University Publications as a result of the resignation of Wilbur Peterson. He has left his position of University Publisher to go to Des Moines with the Associated Press.

This work with the University bulletins has been in the department of the Registrar before Mr. Peterson was assigned it at the beginning of this semester. It will now revert to its original department unless some other disposition may be made of it in the future.

Article in Cornhusker Countryman Discusses Origin and Types of Fads

Fads! You have one or more, though you may not admit it. Yet, whence do they come? What causes them? What kinds are there? An article by Della Caster and a committee of the Home Ec club tells the story in the January issue of the Cornhusker Countryman.

The fad originated in the surprise or interest excited by novelty. Charleston dancing, slickers, vegetarianism, new words and phrases, etc., always attract those restless folks who are continually running hither and thither after something new. This creates a swirl which rapidly sucks into its vortex the soft-headed and weak-minded and at last, grown bigger, involves even the more sane. The great mass of men have always had their lives ruled by usage and tradition. Not for them did novelties chase each other across the surface of society. The common folks left to the upper ten thousand the wild scurry after the ruling fancy or folly of the hour. In their mating, their child-rearing, their money getting, their notions of right and duty, they ran antiquately in the ruts deeply grooved out by generations of men. But a century or so ago it was found that this habit of back-lock, opposed to need reforms, the brutish ignorance, the gross stupidity, the rhinoceros-hide bigotry, of the unenlightened masses. Accordingly, the idea of the humanitarian awakening that accompanied the General John J. Pershing, who came to the University of Nebraska in 1891 as Commandant of Cadets, has been talked of as the next Chancellor of the University, according to recent newspaper dispatches.

EXPERTS TREAT FARM SUBJECTS

Meetings of Nebraska Organized Agriculture Continue; Dr. Hedger Speaks

Dr. Caroline Hedger, member of the staff of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial Foundation of Chicago spoke before the Home Economics Section yesterday morning as part of the meetings of Nebraska Organized Agriculture.

Dr. Hedger has spent many years as a physician studying child welfare and educational work with mothers. Her topic of "The Problem of the Adolescent" was full of helpful suggestions for the farm women present. The morning session of the dairymen was devoted to a consideration of boys' and girls' club work. Carl R. Gray, president of the Nebraska Dairy Development Society presided. After the meeting several university students who received Union Pacific Scholarships from their club work were introduced to Mr. Gray. He told them that they were in no way obligated to the Union Pacific as they had earned their right to the scholarship.

Discusses "Combines" Combined harvesting and threshing was the topic of the morning session of the farm equipment association. C. D. Kinsman, a former agricultural engineer of the University of Nebraska told of the disadvantages and advantages of this method of harvesting wheat and other grain crops.

Mr. Kinsman is working with the United States Department of Agriculture studying this work and thoroughly explained the possibilities of the "combine" to those present. The annual meeting of the Nebraska Poultry Association was held with Mrs. J. J. Donahue telling of her impressions of the Burlington Special which toured the state last spring. Other topics discussed were "Quality Eggs for Quality Markets" by J. A. Lothrop of Crete; and (Continued on page three)

REGENTS TAKE NO ACTION ON CHANCELLORSHIP

Governing Board Adjourns Without Filling Vacancy in Chancellor's Office

SHERMAN FILLS POSITION

Ranking Dean of the University Will Continue to Serve as Acting Chancellor

No action was taken in regard to the election of an Acting Chancellor to serve for the balance of the present year by the Board of Regents in their first regular session of 1927 held yesterday afternoon. The next meeting will be held on January 15. In the meantime, Ranking Dean Sherman will serve in the capacity of Acting Chancellor.

According to an arrangement made last spring when Dean Sherman was appointed Ranking Dean, he was to assume the duties in the absence of the chancellor. Since that time he has taken charge on various occasions when the chancellor was called from the University. Dean Sherman came to Nebraska in 1882, and was chairman of the department of English and dean of the graduate college when he was appointed to Ranking Dean last spring. He resigned from his position as dean of the graduate college in order to accept his new duties.

Warner Elected President Regent Wm. P. Warner of Dakota City was elected president of the Board yesterday, and Regent Harry D. Landis of Seward, was elected vice-president. The resignations of Charles W. Taylor, director of teacher training and principal of the Teachers College high school; H. A. Nedom, instructor in geology; and Wilbur C. Peterson, general editor of campus publications, were accepted.

Much discussion is being made concerning the man who will be selected as the next chancellor. The man most talked of for the position is Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard Law college, native Nebraskan. But late reports state that Dean Pound would not consider such an offer.

Pershing a Possibility Another person who is being suggested by many is Gen. John J. Pershing. While his attitude towards such a proposal is not known, he would be free to consider such an offer as he has concluded his work as arbiter of the Taena-Arica dispute. It is known that his name was in the minds of several prominent alumni some time ago when it was thought that Chancellor Avery's retirement was imminent. Those who urge his appointment point out the fact that he is a native of the middle west, a graduate of the University, and that he was an educator during his early career.

Another who is being considered is Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, former president of Amherst, and now professor of philosophy of the University of Wisconsin. He is one of the foremost educators in the United States, especially famous for his liberalism which forced his retirement from Amherst.

REGISTRATIONS HIT 2000 MARK

Students Move More Rapidly To Complete Signing Up for Second Semester

With one day left for registration all colleges reported a decided increase in the day's registration. A little over two thousand students had registered in a check up Thursday evening. An accurate report could not be made because several colleges had not made a complete check up. All students must be registered tomorrow.

The College of Business Administration reported 200 students registered on Thursday making a total registered in this college of about 425.

The College of Engineering reports 102 students registering to-day with a total for the four days of about 400.

The Law College stated that they would all be registered by Friday night, having a total now of 122.

The Teachers College registered about 275 to-day, now has a total of 307.

In the Dental College all the students have been in to see about registration but the office has filed about 80 or 90.

The Fine Arts College has a total of 400 registered.
