

HUSKERS TRAIN FOR WASHINGTON

Two Very Different Types Of Basketball Will Be Displayed

TEAM NOT YET PICKED

When the Nebraska Huskers meet the Washington Bears at St. Louis Friday night two extremely different coached teams will appear for battle. Washington employs the man-to-man style and takes recourse to long shots by both guards, while Coach Black is drilling his Scarlet and Cream quintet for the short shot, fast passing, five-man defense game.

The Nebraska coach is not optimistic in regard to the outcome of the Husker-Washington contest, and predicts a very close game. Washington University is always a hard foe, especially in early season, and are hard to beat on their own hardwood. Last year the Nebraska quintet took a 26 to 20 win over Washington.

Hard Practice

Last night Coach Black took the Varsity through a lengthy and harding, and fast floor work. The practice, drilling on guarding, practice showed great improvement in the Cornhusker five, and Black is working his team hard in preparation for this week-end road trip to Missouri.

The starting line-up is very indefinite and it is not known who will make the 1,000-mile trip, but ten men will entrain, according to reports from the athletic office. Several different quintets and combinations have been used throughout the week in practice, but the combination that will start against the Bears and the Missouri Tigers is unknown.

NUMERAL TRACK MEN KEPT BUSY

More Than 300 Work Out In Stadium Daily; Good Prospects Seen

The attempt to have fifty new track and field numeral winners by February is under way. Eleven men had spring numeral points recorded Tuesday evening and several others who have made points have not had them recorded as yet. More than 300 men are working out on the indoor track at the stadium daily.

Coach Schulte has been varying pace work with over-distance work for the distance and middle-distance men this week. The sprinters and hurdlers are going through short runs with plenty of starting drill. Prospects in the weight events indicate that some promising material is at hand although development is still problematical. Coach Schulte is working daily with a corps of new men in the shot-put, attempting to find someone to take the place of Kriemelmeyer, who was capable of defeating any contestant in the Valley last year in this event, with the exception of Richerson of Missouri, Valley record holder.

The men who have made numeral points to date with their marks and points are:

Campbell, 1 lap, :30.4, 3 points, 440 :55.4, 3 points; Dornie, Pole vault, 10 feet, 3 points; Griffen, 1 lap :31.2, 1 point, 440 :58.1, 1 point; Rowe, Pole vault, 11 feet, 6 points; Lemly, 440 :56.3, 1 point; Kezer, 440 :58.2, 1 point; Ritcher, 1 lap :30.6, 1 point, 440 :58.1, 1 point; Rice, 1 lap :31, 1 point; Sloan Broad jump, 20 feet 4 inches, 3 points; Witte, Pole vault, 10 feet, 3 points; White, 50 yard low hurdles, :6.8, 3 points. Twelve points are necessary for a numeral.

AMES AG CONTEST WILL DRAW CROWDS

High School Competition Will Be Held During Farm and Home Week, February 4, 5

Ames, Iowa, Jan. 11.—Special: The annual high school agricultural contest which will be held at Iowa State College during farm and home week, on Friday and Saturday, February 4 and 5, is expected to attract between 400 and 500 contestants to compete in the five divisions which will be held this year.

Livestock and grain judging have been standard features for many years. Two years ago demonstration contests were arranged and last year a community program contest was inaugurated. The innovation on this year's program is a farm shop contest for the purpose of demonstrating the knowledge a farmer should have of practical shop work.

Representative from any Iowa high school are eligible to compete for the twenty cups which will be awarded the winners of the contests in addition to the ribbons. Presentation of awards will be made at a mass meeting of Farm and Home week participants on Friday, February 4.

Persons coming for the contests are privileged to take part in the Farm and Home week events if they wish. All contests will be public, and the results will be broadcast over WOL. Entries are expected by January 15.

IN THE VALLEY

By JACK ELLIOTT

Three games in four days, coupled with a 1,100 mile road trip, will be the basketball assignment for the Cyclones this week-end when they go to Manhattan Friday for a game with Kansas State, play Kansas University at Lawrence Saturday, and then swing back to Iowa again for a game with Grinnell at Grinnell Monday.

Elliott, Ames star forward, is second in early season Valley standing for individual honors, with 21 points marked up in the column. Cogoshell of Grinnell is first with 22. Elliott scored six baskets against the Sooners, and four against the Oilers. From all appearances it looks like Elliott will keep up the fast pace he set in Valley basketball circles last year or even faster.

If personal fouls are an indication of the brand of basketball that is being played in the Missouri Valley, the casual observer might say that so far this season it was pretty rough. Friday night's games were full of personal fouls and here are the offenders in their order. Grinnell had 17 called on them, Oklahoma Aggies 14, Iowa State 12, Nebraska 9, Kansas Aggies 8, and Oklahoma 6.

Tonight the Kansas Jayhawkers meet the strong Kansas City Athletic Club, and it will almost be a game of two Jayhawk teams. The K. C. A. C. Blue Diamonds are led by "Tus" Ackerman, all-Valley center and all-Western forward who played with Kansas a few years ago. At the guard posts are two former Kansas stars, both all-Valley men under "Phog" Allen, Mooby and Wilkin. Proudft at forward is the other former Kansan who is now on the Club team. Bentz, high scorer of Grinnell last year is the other forward.

Carroll "Bud" Honea, diminutive but flashy forward of Coach Hugh V. McDermott's Sooner basketball squad is leaving Oklahoma as he receives his degree the end of this semester. "Bud" was one of the mainstays of the Sooner squad last year and was eligible for their first road trip this season.

Six of the eight captains of Missouri Valley football teams for 1927 are backfield men and three of these are fullbacks, one of them a quarterback and the two others alternating at calling signals and holding down a half back berth. The two linemen are tackle and end.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers take an extensive road trip this week end when they journey to Columbia and St. Louis to meet the Missouri and Washington fives. "Old Man Dope" has not passed out any prediction as to how the non-conference games will turn out as Nebraska has not met any of the opponents of the Bears nor the Tigers, but the way the Huskers looked in practice last night, they will make it rough going for both teams.

Eight games are to be played by Missouri Valley schools during the week. Drake has three games on the schedule, two with conference schools and the third with Simpson College. Iowa State, Kansas, Nebraska, and Missouri each play two games.

PRAIRIE SCHOONER WILL APPEAR TODAY

New Quarterly Literary Magazine Has Short Sketch by Bess Streeter Aldrich

A new literary magazine, The Prairie Schooner, makes its appearance at the University of Nebraska Wednesday. The new publication, which will be issued quarterly, is edited by a group of students and members of the faculty of the department of English, and will furnish an outlet for the truly literary productions of students and all Nebraskans who care to contribute.

Especially featured in the first issue are a dozen short stories, essays, and poems by students and faculty members. Bess Streeter Aldrich of Elmwood, noted Nebraska authoress, contributed a short sketch of herself.

Honorable Mention Marie Macumber, '27, Ellsworth, who won honorable mention in a short story contest conducted by Harpers magazine last summer, has a new story in The Prairie Schooner "The Vine." William Card, scholar in the department of philosophy, who won first place in the undergraduate

20 PERCENT FLUNK!
20 percent of students were dropped last year because of poor scholarship. N. Y. U. had the highest mortality with 30 percent — Yale the lowest with 12 percent. England and France Show Little Interest In Iowa State Requests

That England and France are disposed to be very cool in their attitude towards the United States may be inferred from the recent refusal of these countries to requests made by the Iowa State University for educational pictures to be used in class work there. The article, appearing in the Iowa State Student, follows:

"Action which may be interpreted and brought home to Iowa State as a mirror of the feeling of foreign countries toward the United States was found yesterday in the answers to correspondence of Harold Kooser, extension assistant in the Visual Instruction Service, with ambassadors of various foreign powers.

"Two or three months ago, Mr. Kooser sent letters to the ambassadors of six foreign countries, asking if they could supply him with pictures from their native countries, to be made into slides and used by the Visual Instruction Service. These six countries included England, France, Germany, Austria, Italy and Sweden. An attempt was made to communicate with the ambassador from Russia, but as the Soviet government is not represented in Washington, the letter was sent to the purchasing agent of the Soviet Government, who is in New York City at the present time.

"An answer was soon received from the German ambassador referring Mr. Kooser to a German railroad association in New York City. An inquiry to this company was answered with a shipment of 60 slides, which are now being copied, and will soon be ready to release.

"The Austrian ambassador answered with a set of 60 large photographs, showing architectural beauties of the country, statues of famous music composers, and various scenes of life in Austria.

"The inquiry to the Italian ambassador was referred to an association in Milan, Italy, and yesterday Mr. Kooser received a letter from them stating that they had a collection of 60,000 photographs on file, and would be glad to furnish any that people of this country would be interested in.

"Replies to the letters sent to the English and French ambassadors were of a quite different nature. Both letters were practically the same, stating that no slides or photographs were available to be furnished for this purpose.

"As yet no reply has been received from the letter sent to the representative of the Soviet government at New York City. No reply has been received from the Swedish ambassador to date but Mr. Kooser stated that he expected a reply at any time.

"A letter was also sent to the office of the Pan-American Union, an organization which includes most of the countries of South America and Central America, as well as the United States and Cuba. A reply from this organization stated that a collection of 60,000 photographs was available in Washington, and that representative pictures could be selected from these.

"Along this line, the Visual Instruction Service has also made two sets of slides on the Hawaiian Islands, the pictures of which were secured from a steamship company in essay competition at the University last year, has an essay, "With Names of Poets."

The poems include a series by Gilbert H. Doane, University librarian, entitled "Arizona Studies." V. R. West, '27, Elmwood, is business manager. His address is box 1232, station A, Lincoln.

John Coolidge May Not Have Guard

An action will be instituted in Federal Court to deprive John Coolidge of his personal bodyguard at Amherst College, Raymond Cannon, attorney, announced here yesterday.

California. One of these sets deals with scenic beauties of the islands, and the other set the industries of the people. Another set of slides has also been made on Australia, the pictures being secured from the Australian Commissioner in New York City.

"These different sets of slides will supplement those on purely technical subjects such as have been sent out in the past by the Visual Instruction Service. These are planned to be entertaining as well as instructive.

"If a sufficient number of photographs are obtained which deal with architectural works of other countries, they will be used by Prof. A. H. Kimball in his architectural engineering instruction, Mr. Kooser stated.

"An attempt will also be made to secure a number of photographs having to do with famous composers of music, and arrange them into a set of slides on this subject. Already, several photographs of statues and memorials erected for certain of these men have been received."

Daily Nebraskan Is Real Student Paper; Printers In School

The Daily Nebraskan is a student publication in the strict sense of the word. There is only one person working on The Daily Nebraskan that is not registered in the University. All those on the editorial and business staffs are taking work in school. The printing staff is composed entirely of students, except the pressman.

Those students who are working on the printing staff follow: Lambert L. Slagel, a sophomore in the School of Journalism, is the night foreman. Wendell Morris, a freshman in journalism is the floorman. Kenneth Lewis, a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, and Ralph Pray, a freshman in journalism are doing the linotype work. Except for Slagel, all are working for their first year on the printing staff. Carl Wurm is the pressman.

These students are all union men and have worked for several years at the printing trade.
