

Utah Seniors Will Caps and Gowns
The seniors of the Utah Agricultural College are leaving about 125 caps and gowns as a gift to the school. It has become a tradition at the college for each member of the graduating class to leave the school a $5.00 gift upon graduation. Because of the hardship in getting the caps and gowns at graduating time, the seniors are purchasing their own. After the exercises they will be turned over to the college where they will be rented each successive year. The money received from this will go into a special fund which will be used either to finance a yearly lecture or else a research scholarship.

ed legislative benefits. He declared the farmer was entitled to legislation which would give him equal benefits. Declaring that the McNary-Haugen bill stands for the creation of a monopoly and of a Federal contribution to finance it, Jay O. Rodgers, in opening the case for the Kaggies, challenged the bill as being a stupendous undertaking. He showed that one-crop farming, inefficient production, and inefficient marketing, were the chief causes of the agricultural difficulty and that the proposed farm relief bill would not help them.

Nationalists Hope For Democratic Government, States Chinese Student

That all China may be freed and a democratic form of government established in the aim of the Nationalist party in China, Yin Mei Lin, Chinese student at the University of Nebraska who is a member of the party, stated to a representative of the University News Service.
"The government which we hope to set up for all China will be similar in many respects to that of the United States," he said. "It will be the materialized dream of the founder of the party, Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who was responsible for the overthrow of the Man Chow dynasty and the establishment of the republic of China in 1911."

Strife Between People and Generals

The warring in China is not a conflict between north and south, according to Lin, but a strife between the Chinese people as a whole and a few northern generals who do not want to give up their power. "I put it more plainly," he said, "it is a fight between nationalism and imperialism."
Through the efforts of the Nationalists women have been emancipated from the century-old customs with which they have been bound, Lin declared. Young women have been responding to the call to fill the department in the party reserved for them, he said. Lin explained that practically all of the young men and women of China were adopting Christianity and that they frowned upon the pagan religions practiced extensively in various parts of the country. Likewise old marriage customs are being abolished, he continued.

LISTEN LADIES

"In the spring a young man's fancy—" and you know the rest of that old line but just the same it pays in more than one way to squander your allowance at the right places so follow the column.

Different Hats For Different People

I dropped in at Orkin's smart shop for women today to see their new stock in hats. Do you know there is not a factory made model in stock? And no two alike? Black and white are prominently featured in the Normandies and the Black Bottom hats, but black and white do not hold undisputed sway. There is a new type of soft hat made of a silk which is neither taffeta nor satin, with a soft French straw brim. You can roll it up most any way and it comes up smiling just the same. Crocheted hats are in all their glory, and a world of colors. But of course the university girl knows that she can get her smart hats at Orkin's—a moderately priced French shop where you can buy "different" things.

Any Irish In Your Line?

The horseshoe and the shamrock are bound to bring good luck to you and your party. March is the month when everyone remembers his Irish ancestors whether or not they were Irish, and no one will hang you here for "awearin' of the green." Little green pins, stuffed with candies, make distinctive favors; or perhaps you'd prefer diminutive top hats modeled after that of St. Patrick himself. Furnish the guests with paper caps; scatter shamrocks around the room—use them for invitations, place cards or tallies. And remember to stop at George Bros. for suggestions. You can rest assured that your party will be different if you get your decorations and favors there.

Want A Good Looking New Spring Coat?

Sarah couldn't find a spring coat to suit her, but when I came back from Sternberg's this morning I sent her right down. Now let me tell you about THE coat. It is an answer to fashion model's prayer. Straight up and down. The kind you wrap around and sail down the street feeling like a million dollars. A combination of black kasha cloth and satin. The upper part is genuine kasha and the satin skirt comes up onto the kasha in points. You'd love the lining, too. And as for sports coats, if you had seen the clever tweeds and a certain model in russet and cream plaid you'd never again say that black and white had no competition THIS spring. At Sternberg's 1317 O

New Records Are Just In

The "BIG 3" in records, The Victor Orthophonic, The Columbia Neva-Tone, and The Brunswick Panatrophe have added new stock down at Schmoller and Mueller Piano Co., so don't forget to remind me to drop in to hear them. The titles certainly sound good. Irving Berlin's "Blue Skies" is there and on the other side "Since I Found You." And then there is Jess Crawford's record with the pipe organ, "In A Little Spanish Town" and "Just a Bird's Eye View." And you must not forget to hear Leo Reisman and his orchestra playing "My Little Bunch of Happiness" and "Angel Eyes." If you hear them you'll never be satisfied until you have reinforced your stock of records with these numbers.

Genuine Alligator For Collegiate Feet

Beauty may be only skin deep but the make-up doesn't wear off an alligator skin in all the time it is a shoe. The same insect stays—which means you don't have to get a shine so often. This point made such an impression on Elice that she went right down and indulged in the darlinest pair of stubby toed oxfords. Now she says she has at last found shoes that will withstand campus dust. The moderate heel makes walking a delight instead of a necessity, and WEAR? You get real service from genuine alligator—you have a right to expect it when some alligator spent from fifty to one hundred and fifty years raising that skin. Now I am hesitating over a pair of the slippers in alligator skin, and I've a feeling that I'll fall before long. If you're curious drop in at Magee's.

PHI SIGS DEFEAT MEDIC CHAMPIONS
The two quintets played a fast and close game the first half and were evenly matched, but in the last half the Phi Sigs opened up with a rampage of basket shooting that was too great for the Omaha five. The champions from Omaha never failed but once on the foul line while the Lincoln champions could only make half of their gift shots.

Talks of eating at the
Central CAFE

You had just ordered your soup for lunch when we "signed off" the last installment. On that day it was "Chicken Broth with Rice" and cost you 15 cents, unless you decided to have a meat order also, in which case it would be 10 cents. This seems to be an arbitrary reduction in price as an incentive for you to order more food. In reality it is a sort of service charge.
The average cost to Manager Harris for serving a customer, whether at the counters or the tables, is in the neighborhood of ten cents—and rather above than below that figure. So that if the lower price were charged for soup, served alone, there would be no margin of profit whatever.
On the day when the mimeographed menu had "Chicken Broth with Rice" soup, the Fish was "Baked White Fish Maitre d'Hotel", 50 cents. This was served in a three-division plate containing the fish, a portion of American Fried (or possibly Lyonnaise) Potatoes, and something in the way of canned or stewed fruit, pineapple, or other food. And without charge is furnished bread and butter; but coffee, milk or tea will be charged for in addition.
On that day (which happened to be Sunday,) there were eight items under the Entrees heading: "Chicken Croquettes, a la Princes", 50c; "Baked Domestic Duck with Celery Dressing and Apple Sauce", 65c, also braized veal sweetbreads, 60c; leg of spring lamb, 50c; beef tenderloin, 50c; Stewed chicken with dumplings, 65c; Stuffed pork tenderloin, 55c, and baked sugar cured ham, 50c.
These prices included the bread and butter and the two portions of the "line" served with the three-division plate.
