

BEARS LOOM BIG IN TRACK TRIALS

Schulte None Too Optimistic As California Track Trip Approaches

FINAL TRIALS SATURDAY

Final tryouts for Nebraska's track and field squad for the California trip are to be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock on the stadium track. Because of the bad track conditions from the melting snow, the tri-color meet scheduled for Tuesday has been postponed a week.

Coach Schulte was none too optimistic after the preliminary tryouts last Saturday. The snow which forced them indoors slowed things up but there is still room for plenty of development before the California trip. The veteran valley coach is planning to take twenty men on the trip, sufficient to have two men entered in every event.

Denver Reported Strong

Three meets are on the schedule for the coast jaunt. The Huskers open in a triangular meet with Colorado Aggies and Denver University at Denver, April 2 and then meet the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque, April 4. The meet with the University of California is at Berkeley April 9. The first two meets were originally expected to be fairly easy contests. Reports from Colorado, however, indicate that the Cornhuskers may expect a tough meet at Denver. Both Denver and Colorado Aggies are boasting the strongest track teams in recent years and local supporters there are doping them as likely to give the Huskers some real competition.

Early season marks at California indicate that the Bears will again have one of the strongest track and field squads in the country. Expected weakness in the sprints is failing to materialize as the result of the unciviling of a 9.9 second man in Ewing. The only event in which the Huskers appeared to have a decided edge over California on the basis of early season dope was the broad jump. With Stephens temporarily out and his shape by the first week in April still uncertain, prospects are none too bright for Nebraska.

Light workouts were held on the outdoor track Monday on the high and dry spots which had already melted from the Saturday snow.

27 IOWANS ENTER WRESTLING MEET

National A. A. U. Championships to Be Held at Ames Thursday, Friday and Saturday

Ames, Iowa, March 21.—Special: Twenty-seven Iowa State wrestlers, 18 varsity grapplers and nine freshmen, have been entered in the National A. A. U. championship meet to be held at Iowa State Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Of the men entered Harold Boyvey is the only national champion. He will defend his title in the 126-pound class. Ralph Prunty, runner-up in the 160-pound class last year, will wrestle either as a 147-pounder or a 160-pounder this year. Both men have finished their college competition and will wrestle for the Ames Lions Club.

Art Holding, Missouri Valley 126-pound champion, looks like one of the best bets for the Cyclones. Captain Curt Lawrence, lightweight, and captain-elect Clair Grooms of Ottumwa, a 147-pounder, are regarded as likely prospects in the national meet. Chelsea Beach, 135-pounder, who along with Grooms took second in the valley grappling meet will also wrestle. Rex Campbell, Mid-West National A. A. U. champion in the 147-pound division last year, is one of Iowa State's best entries.

Among the freshmen, Goodale of Marshalltown, captain of the yearling mat team, and for three years state high school heavyweight champion, is good. Pat Righter, yearling 147-pounder from Broken Arrow, Okla., and Charlie Soderstrom of Newton, a 118-pounder, are good bets.

Nebraska Graduate Receives Promotion

Albert M. Candy, '09, has recently been made a section head in the Westinghouse company of Pittsburgh, Pa., according to word received by Dean O. J. Ferguson of the college of engineering. His specialty is arc welding, and in this work he has been actively engaged in the design of apparatus and the construction and testing of buildings, using the new arc welding method instead of riveting.

He reports exceptionally fine results of tests of completed structures and is preparing technical reports covering the work. Mr. Candy has been in great demand as a speaker to emphasize the new practices before workshops of engineering students, practicing engineers, and architects.

IN THE VALLEY

By JACK ELLIOTT

Kansas University established a precedent the other day when they elected two captains for the 1928 Jayhawk basketball team. Glenn "Zake" Burton, All-Valley guard and James "Jip" Hill will act as co-captains of the 1928 University of Kansas court team as a result of the election held by the eight lettermen at the annual banquet given by the Kiwanis Club last week. Two ballots were taken and as both men received an equal number of votes, it was decided that both should act as captains.

This is the first time in the history of Jayhawk sports that two men have been elected to lead an athletic team. Burton has played at guard for the past two years and has been a unanimous choice on all first team All-Valley selections, while Hill has played at forward. Both men were awarded their second letters Thursday.

Iowa State will open the 1927 outdoor track season with the Texas relays at Austin, Texas, Friday and the Rice Institute Relays at Houston, Saturday. Five Iowa State men will make the trip south.

The National A. A. U. wrestling meet will be held at Iowa State on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Ames has entered 27 wrestlers, 16 varsity grapplers and 9 freshmen. Oklahoma Aggies, champions of the Missouri Valley for the past two years have the largest entry list, 35 Oilers being entered in the A. A. U. meet. Six of this number are Missouri Valley champions, three are national champions and one a Canadian champion.

Members of the Oklahoma Aggie grappling squad, which has a record of having been defeated but twice in dual collegiate meets in eleven years, champions of the Southwest conference for nine years, Missouri Valley champions for three consecutive years, national champions of the Amateur Athletic Union for 1925, runners up to same championship in 1926 and holders of various other crowns, including two Canadian crowns are expected to add further trophies at the A. A. U. meet in Ames this week. Six of the Aggie grapplers who will make the trip are unattached and will contend for the national honors without the Aggie colors.

The Hillyard basketball team was successful at Kansas City last week and took another National A. A. U. title to add to the numerous titles they have captured during the last few years. The Oklahoma Sooners defeated the Hillyards early in the conference season as well as two other Valley schools, Kansas Aggies and Kansas University. The 1927 National tournament had more close and exciting games than ever before, the majority of the games in the last three divisions being won by four or five points. The Hillyards met the Ke-Nash-A quintet from Kenosha, Wis. in the final round and won 29 to 10 for their second consecutive A. A. U. title.

The spring practice football game which was to be played on Memorial Stadium field Saturday afternoon was snowed out. The Nebraska pig skin luggers will appear in the first practice tilt of the spring session on Wednesday afternoon and another practice game on Saturday. Coach Earnest Bearg will run the game under the new 1927 football rules which will be tried on a basis of twenty plays in each half and Saturday's game will be tried with forty plays, the suggested number for a regulation game.

Supervisor of Vocational Work For Disabled Tells of Accomplishments

"Disability does not create new energy or give a man another sense, as is the popular opinion among the majority of persons," says J. R. Jewel, supervisor of the civilian vocational rehabilitation program in Nebraska. "And it either makes or breaks a man. That is the reason that this department wants to get in touch with disability cases as soon after the injury as is possible. Then we can establish a contact for them and help to rebuild their lives."

Nebraska's department of vocational rehabilitation of 231 men and women in the past six years. "That many men and women have been returned to self-supporting citizenship," Mr. Jewel declared. "At the present there are 172 cases in the state which are being trained toward self-support by the department here."

Cases which are appealed to the vocational department vary in degree from the loss of both eyes to the loss of legs, hands, arms, hearing, and injury to various other parts of the body. Investigations are made and if the case is worthy the department starts at once to help the injured person to adjust himself so that he can earn a living and be independent.

"That the blind see and the lame walk is figuratively true in rehabilitation work," Mr. Jewel continued. "We try to adjust the injured to the community in which they lived at the time of the accident. Blind are taught to do work with their hands such as rug weaving and the like. Deaf are taught lip reading so that they may continue as useful citizens, and persons who lose arms or legs are trained to readjust themselves to work which can be done without the use of these members."

Mr. Jewel cited a case of a violinist who lost three fingers of the left hand and was considered unable to continue his work. By training him to use his right hand for playing he was restored to his former usefulness. The average time required for rehabilitation is about a year and five months, according to Mr. Jewel.

The majority of disabled persons who are injured while working have less than a high school education, while the larger number injured in public accidents are those with a professional education. It is interesting to note that agriculture produced almost as many disabled as either common labor or all combined trades and manufacturing industries. There are now 631 cases registered with the department of vocational education.

The total cost of 72 rehabilitation cases handled by the department was $18,846 and these persons now have a combined annual earning of $65,946. "Rehabilitation does pay," Mr. Jewel concluded.

SIX CONTESTS ON TENNIS SCHEDULE

Coach Bearg Takes Charge of Practice on Indoor Courts; First Match with Kaggies April 29

The Nebraska tennis team has six dual contests lined up for the coming season. An indoor court has been marked off on the main floor of the Coliseum and the Nebraska tennis team will begin training for the coming net season this week. A regulation double court has been marked off where basketball court No. 3 has been. Coach Bearg is coaching the tennis team.

The Nebraska coach will take charge of the tennis team in morning workouts while spring football practice is in session and as soon as it is over, which will be April 2, he will devote his entire time to the net men. Before the snow last week, the outdoor courts were being worked on to get them in shape for immediate use, but it will be a matter of two or three weeks now before the courts can be put in use.

The 1927 season opens with Kansas Aggies on April 29 when the Manhattan Aggies come to Lincoln for a dual match. Iowa State will be the next on the card and will meet the Nebraska net team in Lincoln on May 2. The third game will be either on May 5 or 6 when Grinnell comes to Lincoln to meet the Husker racket wielders.

The Oklahoma Aggies are booked for May 9 in Lincoln, after which the team will journey into Missouri to meet the Missouri University team and the Washington team on May 13
