

HEAVY WORK FOR TRACKMEN

Injury List Includes Many Bright Prospects But Some Good Marks Are Made

CHADDERDON DOING WELL

Stiff workouts were the order for the Cornhusker track and field men Tuesday afternoon at the stadium. A few good marks made the Husker fans feel a little better over the season's prospects.

Chadderdon turned in a 3:17 three-quarters mile which means that the University Place runner is going to be dangerous in any of the distances this season. Chadderdon placed well up in the freshman telegraphic last year. He finished fourth in the mile run at the valley indoor two weeks ago, good work for a first year man. He was a close competitor of Captain Hays on the cross-country squad last fall. Sprague and Lemly, two other of the younger distance runners also looked well in the three-quarters. They both clipped the distance in 3:23.

Janulewicz Looks Good

Janulewicz, recent mile-run find, continues to look good. Like the bulk of the promising material on the Nebraska team this spring, his handicap is inexperience. Dexter made the 880 on the indoor track in 2:05 Tuesday. If Dexter becomes eligible, he will give the distance runners a good race for a position on the team. Bob Davenport, varsity quarter-miler, went through three laps with Dexter. He is beginning to get back into shape after being bothered by his legs since shortly before the valley indoor.

Stephens' knee is still badly swollen. No one is able to predict whether he will be in shape for the coast trip or not. Coach Schulte is still hoping that he will be able to run within the next two weeks. Wyatt went through a 660 in 1:31.8 last night but was favoring his injured leg. Wyatt is coming along but the strained tendon has greatly slowed up his development. Krause, sophomore hurdler, is still running off-form.

FIRST SPRING GRID TUSSLE HELD TODAY

Coach Ernest Bearg's Football Candidates Will Meet on Memorial Stadium Field

Coach Ernest Bearg's spring football candidates will meet in the first game of the spring session this afternoon on Memorial Stadium field at 4:15 o'clock. The snow which halted the first practice game last Saturday has been cleared from the field and the field is in excellent condition for today's game.

The squad was put through an hour and a half of drill last night and Coach Bearg expressed the opinion that the spring practice sessions as being the best so far this season. The Nebraska coaching staff is down to fundamentals and individual attention. Head line Coach Oakes has been instructing his forward-wall men in blocking, charging and passing, and drilling some of the candidates for the center position, giving them special attention.

Coach Leo Scherer, of the Nebraska coaching staff, is coaching a promising group of new ends. In last night's scrimmage these candidates were put on the offensive to stop Bearg's backfield as they went through some end-run plays. Sloan, Peaker, and Sturek showed up well in the offensive game.

Howell and Frennell Given Attention
The Husker football mentor is working to build "Blue" Howell and Glen Frennell into a pair of triple threat backfield men who will be hard to figure out. Both backs are being drilled on punting, along with Bill Bronson and "Chief" Elkins. Howell is nursing a broken hand that he received in the practice sessions last week but this is not hindering him from the extensive workouts given by the Nebraska football coach.

Following the regular workout last evening, a short signal drill was run through by two elevens. The two teams meeting on the field this afternoon will engage in only a regulation half and not the regular 60 minute period as planned at first. Bearg intends to get in an eighty-play practice session this afternoon and another game of the same kind on Saturday.

Bearg will run both games on the new 1927 football rules which require setting the goal posts back 10 yards in the end zone and running the signals off in 30 seconds with but 15 seconds allowed in the huddle.

IN THE VALLEY

By JACK ELLIOTT

With the new 1927 football rules going into effect this autumn, quarterbacks on football elevens will probably be wearing wrist watches to see that the signals are run off in the required 30 seconds, and that 20 plays are completed within each half. Or maybe the football rules committee will place twelve men on a team, one to manage affairs and see that there is no overtime in the affair.

The reaction over the new gridiron rules is of a varied nature throughout the country. Some sections of the country seem to rather approve of the new ruling for next year, while other sections approve of the game the way it was played last year. Regardless of what the coaches and players think, it is going to make it a faster and more thrilling game to watch from the spectator's point of view. The majority of the football fans think it will aid the game in its march to perfection.

Stalling in the game this coming season will be much out of order. With a possible fifteen yard penalty hanging over them, a football eleven will not be inclined to use the stall game. Taken as a whole, all the new rules are valuable. They will speed up the game, put more pep and life into play, and most of all, from the spectator's viewpoint, they will kill all chances of stalling and make the plays more spectacular.

The fifth annual Kansas Relays will be held April 23, at the University of Kansas Memorial Stadium. Last year athletes from fifteen states were entered in the relays, and this year many more are expected to enter. The program of events of the Kansas Relays, as just announced, has seventeen relay races and nine special track and field events. The referees of the meet will be Harry L. Gill, veteran track coach of the University of Illinois, and John C. Grover, of Kansas City, Mo., who will start the meet for the fourth successive season.

Spring football practice at Tulane University has been called off by the faculty due to the fact that several of the men were on probation and had fallen off in their class work. This decision will work a hardship on the football team, but was the only course for the faculty.

MATMEN BEGINNING TO GATHER AT AMES

Iowa State College in Readiness For National A. A. U. Wrestling Championship Tourney

Ames, Iowa, March 22.—Special: With the vanguard of American amateur wrestlers beginning to drift into Ames for the National A. A. U. championship tournament, Iowa State is ready for its biggest sports event. The first full team to arrive for the national championship bouts was Ed Gallagher's Oklahoma Aggies. With their 10-gallon hats they arrived this morning from Mt. Vernon, Iowa. Among the first individuals to arrive were Dan Ferrier of Minneapolis, Minn., a middleweight; and Richard Burke of Chicago, Ill., a 145-pounder. Ferrier, although a member of the Minnesota team, will wrestle unattached.

Ticket sales for the national championships are going good, according to Merl Ross, secretary of the athletic council.

Many Entered

Joe Gargano of Fort Dodge, state high school 145-pound champion for two years, has entered, M. G. Bauer, formerly of Denver University and 125-pound Rocky Mountain champion, at present an instructor in public speaking at Iowa State, has entered. The Boys Club of Erie, Pa., has entered another grappler in the 160-pound class, and the Hollywood Athletic Club of Hollywood, Cal., has entered a 112-pounder. Colorado State Teachers College of Greeley, Colo., is another late entry with two men.

Chuck Adamson of Flint, Mich., former Iowa State man, has entered in the light heavyweight class. While a freshman at Iowa State Adamson was considered one of the best 175-pounders that had worked in State gymnasium. The entry from the farthest south is Ralph Hammond of Texas University, who holds the National A. A. U. 160-pound championship. Hammond defeated Prunty, Cyclone ace, in the final match at Corvallis, Oregon, last year.

Two mats will be used during the national meet. Sec Taylor of Des Moines and George Pinneo of Gary, Ind., Y. M. C. A., will referee the matches. So far 155 entry blanks have been sent in, and with the last minute rush that is expected the number will probably reach 200.

Mormon Missionaries See Museum Tuesday

Ten Mormon missionaries from various parts of Colorado, Utah, and Idaho visited the University Museum Tuesday and were very much impressed with the new building. The group was on its way East and stopped in Lincoln to visit points of interest, and the University.

chart of all sports within the last five years in all Missouri Valley schools.

Ratings by the Kansas coach were made by assigning one point to the team making first place each year, two points to the second, and so on. The school with the low score wins.

In the major sports; football, basketball, baseball, and track; Kansas and Nebraska have won at least one first place each year of the last five. In football, the teams over the five-year period, finished as follows; Nebraska, Drake, Missouri, Kansas State, Iowa State, Oklahoma, Kansas, Grinnell, and Washington. The basketball record stands; Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Missouri, Drake,

Kansas State, Washington, Iowa State, and Grinnell.

Two Nebraska grapplers won a pair of championships each in the Mid-West A. A. U. mat contest, held in the Coliseum last week. John Kish, Nebraska matman captured both the 112 and the 118-pound events, while Erwin Forbes took the light heavyweight and the middle weight honors. Of the winners of the meet, only one entry is certain to attend the national meet at Iowa State this week. Forbes, winner of the light heavyweight and middleweight classes, will attend the national meet. Dr. R. G. Clapp will attend the championship meet as one of the judges.

IN the field of communication great strides have been taken—and greater will be taken. And just as the carrier current in telephony is an infinitely better vehicle for communication than the carrier pigeon, so new and greater developments lie ahead.

Today, as never before, this field offers an opportunity for constructive work in design, purchasing, manufacture, finance, distribution and other phases. In short, a many-sided field of work in which the ultimate horizon still lies far beyond any present view.
