

All Women in Physical Education Department Must Have Examination

All students taking work in the Department of Physical Education for Women are required to take physical examinations, whether they are freshmen, sophomore, junior or senior girls. All women asking for re-privies are also required to take an examination. Frequently, girls who have previously taken an examination do not realize that it is necessary for them to be examined, but no students taking work in the department are exempt.

A medical examination is required of all newly entering students and of all asking for reprivies for physical disability, unless they bring a written statement from their family physician. All women who have not yet made appointments for their examinations are urged to do so immediately.

Since the installation of special classes in corrective and individual gymnastics very few reprivies are granted. Those who are physically able to carry regular work in the university are, in general, considered able to take a type of work fitted to their particular condition. Reprivies are granted to students over 25 years of age who have no past deferments to make up. No reprivies are granted in other cases except under very rare circumstances.

It is the aim of the department to offer special and corrective work which will make it possible for every girl to improve her physical condition.

NEW RESEARCH BOOKS OUT

Publications of University Extension Division Attract Wide Interest

Two new research books recently published by the extension division of the University of Nebraska have attracted widespread attention to the activities of the College of Business Administration. One is on the influence of automobiles and good roads on retail trade centers and the other on special sales in retail merchandising.

The former was compiled by the committee on business research of the College of Business Administration, while the latter is the work of Ewald T. Grether, Ph. D. Prof. Ewald, who was formerly an assistant professor of advertising and sales management at the university is now assistant professor of economics at the University of California.

The pamphlet on retail merchandising is the outgrowth of an investigation made by members of the class in market analysis in the university here. Retail stores in Omaha and Lincoln were studied and students working under careful instructions were assigned to each class of stores.

The book on automobiles and good roads deals with the problem of the retailer as it is affected by travel and, with the influence of automobiles and good roads on business. Vernon G. Morrison, a graduate scholar in the college of business administration and now an assistant professor in the Bizad school made the study from which the bulletin was prepared.

Tooth of Mastadon Received By Museum

The university museum has received a large mastadon tooth from William Graham of the Lyman-Richey Sand Company at Meadow, Nebraska. Mr. Graham found the tooth September 5 while working about 50 feet below the surface in a gravel pit near Meadow. He turned it over to State Gravel Inspector Finity for delivery to the museum.

Geography Assistants Teach During Summer

Miss Phyllis Rice, assistant in the geography department, taught during the summer at Miami university, Oxford, O., and after a visit to Asheville, N. C., returned to her home at Nebraska City before continuing her work at the university. Melvina Walters, another assistant in the geography, taught at the university of Arkansas at Fayetteville during the summer session.

AGGIE FOOTBALL PROSPECTS ROSY

Available Lettermen, Veteran Coaches, Improved Equipment are Optimistic Factors

STILLWATER, Okla., Sept. 16. (Special)—A large number of experienced players, a veteran coaching staff and improved equipment are some of the factors that make prospects for a winning football team at the Oklahoma A. and M. college extremely rosy.

Steel is now being erected for the new concrete stadium that is being built on the south side of Lewis athletic field and construction on a new cinder track will start after the football season is over.

While the coaches refuse to predict that the Aggies will win another Missouri Valley championship, a survey of the available material shows there will be a letter man for every position on the team. The line will be especially well fortified in experienced men.

One difficulty that faces the coaches is the development of a kicker. Peery, who did the punting, and Strack, who dropped back from the line to drop kick, have both been graduated, and a new man will have to be found who can do the booting.

SCHULTE MAKES EXTENDED TOUR

Track Mentor Attends State Officials' Conferences At Various Points

Henry F. Schulte, track mentor of the university, is now on an extended tour throughout the state attending officials' conferences in the various towns and cities. He will return about September 29.

These officials' meetings are held each year in order to interpret the rules of the various sports, mainly football. The meetings in each town will consist of coaches, players, and any others who may be interested in seeing sports on a higher plane. The aim of the meetings is to instruct officials, since good official-
