

JUDGE ALLEN ASKS FOR WISE VOTING

 tradition for the advancements of science. She expressed the desire of the League of Women Voters, of which she is a member, "to make every woman an intelligent voter."
 One of the important features of her address was the stress she laid upon the outcome of the World war in regard to law and justice. The American soldier was not, in her opinion, dealt with fairly by the United States upon his return to this country. She contends that Americans too soon forget promises and justice which were given the nation's men.

Mexico Not Our Business
 The Mexican situation, according to Judge Allen, is but a property question and should not concern the life and property of the Americans, who defend the government of the United States. She stated that we, the citizens, fail to realize that we constitute the state and that it is our duty to support justice.

The subject of her talk being "Back to the Constitution," she impressed those who were listening with the idea that the American Revolution was not just a successful revolution, as many are, but that it was a revolution of ideas and the establishing of a new doctrine. She believes that science cannot make new tests of human character and human achievement, better than those which have come from the time of the prophets. She claims that, after a war, the American people go back to the old standards, and that they are easy to find because we have a government composed of idealists and men who worked for justice and freedom for the country.

Judge Allen has lived the majority of her life in Ohio, graduated with a degree from Western Reserve College, studied at the University of Chicago and the University of New York. She took musical work abroad at Berlin and was correspondent for the New York Courier. After practicing law in the United States, she was elected to various state offices and in 1922 was elected Judge of the Supreme Court of Ohio for a six year term.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Phi Kappa Psi fraternity was awarded the Hainer cup for excellence in scholarship for the second consecutive year.

Dr. Hattie Williams has begun her work as associate professor of practical sociology. Doctor Williams is well known in the city as a lecturer on social-religious questions.

Registration has been completed. The number of students this year reaches the number of 2,320. This includes the College of Medicine at Omaha.

The registration at Kansas University is 3861. This is an increase of 36 over last year's number.

Examiners Find New Girls More Physically Fit

Freshmen women who have been examined to date by the instructors of the women's physical education department are better physically, according to those in charge of the examinations. As a rule, the women are more sensibly dressed than they have been in previous due to the prevailing fashion of sports clothes for campus wear. The high-heeled shoes which are condemned by the department have been replaced by the low-heeled, medium-toed campus shoe.

Instructors in charge of the examination are becoming rapidly aware that the Saturday night bath as an institution has not been entirely ousted by the modern and exceedingly unnecessary daily abluition. It is entirely a matter of course with some of the freshmen women appearing for examination that the Saturday night bath suffices to keep one next to godliness until the following Saturday.

The examinations are being rushed through at the rate of 96 per day, with the entire staff of the women's physical education department working most of each day. The physical education department majors are assisting with the work which they hope will be completed by the first of October when classes will begin.

There is the usual number of freshmen women who regard the physical examination as one of the terrors of the freshman year. These approach the examiners in fear and trembling. In previous years, it has been the duty of examiners to dry the tears of sundry freshmen women who have been frightened into hysterics by some mischievously inclined sophomore. During the week in which the examinations have been conducted, and as yet no tearful freshman has had to be consoled with the fact that the examination is not so bad as it has been painted.

Rare Specimen Found By Powell on Vacation

Professor Powell of the department of zoology obtained a rare specimen this summer, a fresh water jelly fish. This fish is found in only three places in America and in only about 75 places in the world. His specimen, which will soon be on display at Bessey hall, was found in Coshocton County, Ohio.

RHODES GIVES ALL ATTENTION TO LINE

Yearling Front Wall Is Drilled Entire Afternoon to Acquire Stamina to Stop Varsity Onslaughts

Sensing the approach of Saturday, and a tangle with the Varsity, Coach "Choppy" Rhodes pushed his proteges through a complete course in signal running on the drill field Wednesday afternoon. Five elevens were tearing up the dust and acquiring finesse, which so far, has been an absent requisite.

Concentrated work on the linemen occupied the entire time of the coaching staff. Even "Choppy" deserted his backfield hopefuls and gave his attention to forward wall candidates. Special training will be required if the linemen are to cope with the strong varsity wall.

"Bob" Young, Norfolk youngster, looked good playing half. His regular berth is at the wing position, but from his antics yesterday, should show the halves a merry scuffle. Day, brother of "Bill" Day, ex-Cornhusker captain and center, was in suit playing quarter. Although hampered by his size, young Day has plenty of fight and willingness.

Because of the constant shifting of players, no lineup could be obtained. However, the yearlings will be right in there Saturday with a real workout to hand the varsity.

AG ELEVEN IS HARD AT WORK

42 Men Practice in Preparation For Game With Yearlings

Forty-two men have checked out equipment and are working out each evening in an effort to stop the husky freshmen team when they meet on the gridiron sometime this fall, according to Coach Knight, Agricultural college football mentor. Two games with the freshmen team and two games with the varsity second team have been scheduled so far.

Several of the men that played on the Ag team last year have moved downtown to the varsity this year. Marion Stone, William Webber, Paige Hall, George Schmid, Raymond Nixon and William Snyder are the only experienced men that have reported at Knight's camp this year.
