Presnell and Howell Continue Rest Diet; Watch Play From Sidelines

COACHES DRILL DEFENSE

Tiger Line Outweighs Huskers Again; Bearg Takes Big Squad of Reserves

In the final practice before the Husker-Tiger clash at Missouri Saturday Coach Ernest E. Bearg put the Varsity through a long workout last night on Stadium field. Bearg has plainly asserted that things in the Husker camp are on the bum with his picked Nebraska eleven nursing injuries, colds, and with Glenn Presnell and "Blue" Howell, the Husker's big backfield strength on the rest diet for this week.

A light scrimmage on defensive plays was the main object of the coaching staff in last night's practice on Stadium sod. The line attack was weak in the Cyclone game and Bearg and line coach Oakes made a final effort last night to instill into the Husker forward wall some defensive work that will be used against the Tigers. The Mizzou forward wall outweighs the Nebraska line and is one of the best charging lines in the Valley. What Nebraska will put up against the powerful Missouri football eleven is the problem that will be solved Saturday afternoon when the two eleven meet for the twenty-first time on the football gridiron.

Girl Reserve groups will hold their first meetings next week, if their organization is sufficiently completed.

"Everyone has a part to play in reformation," stated Dr. C. H. Oldfather, professor of the classics department, at the World Forum luncheon yesterday noon. In this talk, Doctor Oldfather attempted to show that reform has been constant throughout the ages.

He admitted that the average person thinks of a reformer as an unusual sort of person. Reformation, he stated is an institution which is constantly moving. It is one movement that cannot be stopped. When one speaks of reformation, he is speaking with regard to the change in material things and institutions. New Parallel Parking Rule Is For Safety

Parallel parking on Twelfth street between R and Vine has been the cause of considerable discussion and complaint. Heretofore, parking on this street has been diagonal, but a recent city ordinance has forbidden this practice.

Chief of Police Peter Johnstone said that in a City Council meeting, held on the evening of September 26, a resolution was passed to the effect that all parking between Vine and K on 12th street should be parallel rather than diagonal. The chief explained that this was done as a measure of public safety. In the former method, two cars could not pass with utmost safety, while with the new ruling this situation is remedied. He also said that the zone was not extended to O street because of the fact that traffic is not so congested in this district.

Signs, informing motorists of the new rule have been placed in the parking of this district.

Trials to select three or more men to represent the University of Nebraska in the debate with Cambridge University the last of the month will be held Friday afternoon, October 14. All men in the university are eligible provided they are beyond their freshman year, Professor H. A. White announced.

Men who have transferred from other schools are also eligible if they come up to the scholastic requirements. The requirements are that a man must have passed in twelve hours during the previous semester and be carrying at least that number of hours when he qualifies for the debate.

Books bearing on the subject have been placed on temporary reserve in the library. Miss Craig, reference librarian will assist students in securing further information.

Those who expect to enter the trials should see Professor White, Trial 106, not later than Monday next. Nebraska will uphold the negative of the question: "Resolved that this house thinks that the ethics of the business world are incompatible with sound morality."

In the trials, however, each man who enters will be expected to prepare to speak on either side of the subject. It is likely that the choice of sides will be determined by the drawing of lots.

According to Professor White another team from England including one man from Oxford, one from Cambridge and one from another University will tour the East and South while the Cambridge team is touring the North and West.
