GUNDERSON SAYS STUDENTS FEES HERE ARE SMALL

Definite Figures Concerning Increase Will Be Ready Late Today

EXPENSES NOW GREAT
More Funds Required by Building Program and For General Maintenance

"Student fees at Nebraska have always been lower than at any like institution," stated L. E. Gunderson, finance secretary in an interview Monday afternoon, in referring to the increase in fees for the second semester announced by the board of regents Saturday. "The increases to be made will not place them higher than in corresponding schools," he said, "in fact, in most cases, they will still be lower."

Although definite figures as to the increases have not been compiled, Mr. Gunderson said that they would be ready late Tuesday. The committee for this work has not yet been completely formed, but Mr. Gunderson stated that it would consist of Regent Cline, Acting Chancellor Burnett, and one other member to be chosen by them.

The finance secretary confirmed Acting Chancellor Burnett's statement of Saturday that the expenses of the university were now far above the maintenance fund provided by the legislature and the university's other sources of income.

Maintenance Expenses are Great

"Two years ago," he said, "The legislature appropriated $3,500,000 (Continued on Page 2)

TEFFT WILL TALK AT WORLD FORUM

Former Rhodes Scholar Will Tell of Differences Between Colleges Here and in England

"The Difference between American and English Universities," will be the subject of a talk to be given by Sheldon Tefft, '24, at the World Forum meeting next Wednesday noon. Mr. Tefft will base his talk on differences from his own experience.

Mr. Tefft was recently appointed assistant professor in law, following the resignation of E. M. Dodd, Jr. He won a Rhodes scholarship and was an American representative for three years. He holds the Phi Beta Kappa honor from this university. As a student at Oxford he received his B. A. degree and the highest honor in jurisprudence. He also received LL. B. degree from the Nebraska law college. The Vinerian award in jurisprudence was awarded him while he was a student in Oxford but he did not accept it, taking instead the appointment of assistant professorship at the college of law of this university.

The meeting Wednesday noon will be the fifth of a series planned for university students. Tickets may be procured for twenty-five cents if bought in advance.

LOCAL Y.M.C.A. MEN RETURN FROM MBET

Delegates From Nebraska to Regional Meeting Are Chosen Members of New Committees

Present at the meeting were representatives from forty-two schools in the Rocky mountain region of the student Y. M. C. A. This marks the beginning of the new student division of the national Y. M. Of the three committees appointed, program, constitution, and finance, two Lincoln Y. M. C. A. was appointed a member of the program committee and C. D. Hayes was appointed a member of the constitution committee.

Discussion took the majority of the time of the meetings, though a few addresses were made by some of the members. H. P. Van Dusen, assistant national secretary of the student Y. M. C. A., made an address to the council. The regional meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held at the same time. Joint sessions were held by the two organizations. ## SQUAD PREPARES FOR CAMBRIDGE

Debaters Continue Practice on Delivery and Will Do Some Rebuilding

TEAMS CLASH ON MONDAY

Nebraska debaters have swung into their last week of practice before the Nebraska-Cambridge debate, in which Nebraska will uphold the negative side of the question "This house thinks that the ethics of the modern business world are incompatible with sound morality." The team has its complete argument worked up, and is concentrating most of its efforts on delivery and rebuilding.

The Cambridge team has only three debates remaining before they meet the Cornhusker squad here next Monday night. The Cambridge team has met the University of Wisconsin, University of North Dakota, North Dakota Aggies, and the University of Iowa. Tonight the team will tackle Iowa State at Ames, defending the affirmative of the question: "Powers of the Press." Thursday night the team will clash with Grinnell college on the same question. Friday they will meet Drake university, upholding the affirmative of the same question which they will argue with Nebraska Monday.

Extensive Advertising Planned
Mr. White stated that he expects to do very extensive advertising of the debate. Posters will be placed in business houses and other places that will attract attention in the city. In addition a great many announcements have been sent to the surrounding high schools in an effort to interest the students. Tickets for the debate, which will be held in Memorial Hall at 8 o'clock next Monday evening, will be placed on sale at Latsch Brothers today.

Kiener Gives Talk on Life in Swiss Alps

Walter Kiener, student in the university, gave a lantern slide lecture on his trip through the central and western Alps of Switzerland before a meeting of the Cosmopolitan club Saturday evening.

In telling of the country there he said that the people living at the foot of the Alps did a little farming, for much barley is raised and truck driving is carried on. One unique thing about the region is that walls from two to four feet high are built around the villages. These are made to protect the people from landslides which occur at intervals every year. Steel bridges, instead of wooden or cement bridges, are very rich in evidence.

Traces of the Roman civilization have stamped themselves upon the Alpine culture. Inhabitants of the valley have records since 1100 which have been handed down to the present generation, which indicate that the Romans crossed the Alps quite frequently. Architecture dates back as far as 1760.

In the valley of the Rhone river there may be seen Roman arches on the houses and other Roman features of architecture.

JOURNALISTS TO MEET AT DINNER

Theta Sigma Phi Sponsors First Social Get-together for All Students in School

WALKER APPROVES MEET

"This projected school of journalism dinner, sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, I heartily endorse, and I strongly urge attendance upon every member of the school," declared G. C. Walker, acting director of the school of journalism, late yesterday afternoon, in speaking of the dinner for all journalists to be held in the Silver Moon Thursday evening.

"Because of conflicting work and class engagements," he continued, "it has been almost impossible to arrange a convocation hour when all the students of the school could meet together. Your dinner should serve the purpose of enabling the students of the school to get acquainted, and also the less obvious purpose of awakening a professional consciousness in the newer members."

For the first time in the history of the school of journalism all members will be given an opportunity to meet together in a social gathering.

Munro Kezer will act as toastmaster and Gayle C. Walker, acting director of the school of journalism and Professor James Lawrence, managing editor of the Lincoln Star, will address the group. Frederick Daly, Charles Bruce, Milton McGrew, Ralph Bergston and Dorothy Nott will give short talks.

CADETS SECURE NEW FEATURES

Music for First "Cadet Crawl" Is Engaged by Scabbard and Blade

DANCE WILL BE INFORMAL

Tracy Brown's original orchestra from Omaha, has been engaged to furnish the music for the "Cadet Crawl," October 29, it was learned yesterday from Henry Jorgenson, cadet colonel. It was explained that this is not the orchestra which played for the first varsity party, October 15.

The orchestra is a twelve piece group, and carries with it entertainment for intermission. Several of the acts which the band is bringing with it, have been staged in Omaha theatres, and according to Jorgenson, there are enough of them to make a complete bill for a theatre.

Since this is the first attempt of Scabbard and Blade to put on an informal dance of this nature, every effort is being put forth to make this party as much of a success in its way as the traditional military ball has been in the world of formal parties.

Tickets have been distributed to representatives of all of the fraternities and the advance ticket sale indicates that the dance will be well attended. The cadet captains of all the companies are handling the ticket sale within their own companies. "The party will not be military in any of its aspects," declared Jorgenson, "except that it is being staged by the military honorary organization. We are trying to make it the most informal party of the season and hence we are leaving out anything that has to do with the army."

Arrangements for special entertainment and for decorations have not been made public yet although the committees for these have been at work for some time.

Thirty Ushers Needed For Sousa Band Concert

ANDREWS HALL TO BE ERECTED BY NEXT YEAR

New Building Must Be Ready College of Dentistry Early In September

CONTRACT LET SOON

Plans May Provide for Housing Of College of Business Administration

Andrews hall, new building for the university campus, will be ready for occupancy by next September, if present plans work out. Construction of the new building will be pushed so that the college of dentistry, at least, can move into its new quarters at the beginning of the school year. This is made necessary by the fact that the lease on the present quarters at 13th and P streets terminates in September. The architects will advertise for bids this week, and contracts will be let in about two weeks.

The present plans for the building call for the English department to occupy the first floor, the department of modern languages the second floor, and the college of dentistry the third. It is possible that the college of business administration will take over one floor, in which case the department of Germanic languages and the other modern languages remain their present quarters. This proposed arrangement would provide for expansion of the college of business administration.

Will Be Located on Drill Field

The location and general design of the new building are planned to fit the new campus plans. The building will be erected on the drill field just south of Morrill hall, and will face south, fronting the proposed quadrangle, which will also be flanked by Social Sciences building, Teachers' college, and a proposed building south of Bessey hall. The construction will be of brick, trimmed in Bedford stone. The general arrangement of the halls, stairways, and classrooms is identical with that of Social Sciences.

Entrances will be on the south, east, and west sides. The building will be the same size as Morrill hall, and will cost approximately $300,000. It is named in honor of former Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews.

CONVOGATION TO BE HELD FOR NAVY DAY

Captain Blackburn, Former Nebraska Man, Will Speak in Temple Tomorrow Morning

Navy day will be observed by the university with a program at the Temple Wednesday morning, October 26, at 11 o'clock. The feature of the program will be a lecture given by Captain Blackburn, of the United States navy. The day set aside for navy day is October 27, the birthday of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, but as Captain Blackburn has engagements in both Omaha and in Iowa on that day the occasion will be observed on the preceding day here.

The subjects on which Captain Blackburn will speak are "A Day On the Fleet" and "Sea Power and Agriculture." Captain Blackburn is a Nebraska man, born and educated in Omaha. His father is Thomas W. Blackburn, a distinguished attorney of that city. Captain Blackburn is a graduate of the United States Naval academy at Annapolis. He has had a successful naval career, having served on the Atlantic, Pacific, and Asiatic stations of the navy. He began with the rank of ensign in 1906, was a lieutenant-commander at the outbreak of the war, and was finally promoted to the rank of commander. He also served with the peace commission at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, when the Japanese and Russian commissioners were negotiating the Japanese treaty.

Navy day is instituted by the Naval league, which is a national organization for the promotion of naval affairs. Mr. John G. Maher, of Lincoln, is the chairman of this organization for Nebraska, and is responsible for bringing Captain Blackburn to the university for this program. Captain Blackburn will be accompanied by naval officers from Omaha and the Great Lakes naval station.

Girls Spend More

CAR PROPOSAL IS DISCUSSED

Dean Thompson States Ruling Is Proving Successful In Most Colleges

USE OF CAR WASTES TIME

Reticence characterized the attitude of the dean of student affairs and the dean of women concerning the proposal of the board of regents to restrict student cars, when they were interviewed Monday.

Dean Thompson stated that he had not expected the ruling to come so soon. He said that it had been adopted in practically all of the large state universities where it was proving successful in the opinion of college officials at those institutions. Correcting the statement of the Daily Nebraskan Sunday, Dean Thompson said that restrictions had been placed on student automobiles at the University of Michigan. This was done late last year, the action being precipitated, Dean Thompson added, because of several serious accidents.

Parents Were Cautioned

Caution to students and parents has been the only university action previous to the regents' action, Dean Thompson said. He quoted the following from a letter sent to the parents of all newly registered students: "The automobile is another factor which often wastes the time of a student and frequently involves him in other serious difficulties. Many universities have forbidden their use by students. It is well for you to consider carefully, therefore, whether you are willing to accept the risks which are yours when you permit your son or daughter to operate an automobile while in attendance at the university."

"The action of the regents came as a complete surprise to me, Dean Heppner announced. "I had heard no discussion of it on the campus. Consequently, I have had no opportunity to think about it as yet."

Sunday Talk Is Illustrated By Two Movie Reels

With a moving picture reel on the evolution of systems of writing, and one entitled "The World's Most Wonderful Insect" as the features of the program, Morrill hall attracted a large number of visitors, Sunday afternoon.

The two reels of pictures which were shown in the auditorium proved very interesting. The first reel showed the evolution of systems of writing, from early Babylonian times when picture-writing was inscribed upon clay cylinders, and sheets of papyrus; through the Egyptian and Phoenician developments of the alphabet, up to the alphabet we now use, which is called the Roman system.

The second reel, "The World's Most Wonderful Insect," concerned the seventeen-year locust, which is common in the United States. It showed how the insect, after a brief period of aerial life, lays eggs under the bark of trees and dies. These eggs develop into larvae which go into the ground, where they remain for seventeen winters and seventeen summers, without seeing light. At the end of that period, in May or (Continued on Page 3.)

FRATERNITIES DROP OUT OF 3 HONORARIES

Eleven Groups Will Not Support Underclass Mens Societies

ULTIMATUM MONDAY

Chapters Find Green Gobblins, Iron Sphinx and Vikings Unworthy

Eleven social fraternities issued an ultimatum late last evening following chapter action on the withdrawal from underclass men's honorary organizations. Following is the resolution:

October 24, 1927.

To the Daily Nebraskan: We, the members of the undersigned fraternities, believing the underclass honoraries—namely, the Green Gobblins, the Iron Sphinx, and the Vikings—to be unworthy of our further support, do hereby withdraw our members from the above organizations.

Alpha Theta Chi
Kappa Sigma
Phi Delta Theta
Phi Gamma Delta
Phi Kappa Psi
Pi Kappa Phi
Sigma Alpha Epsilon
Sigma Chi
Sigma Nu
Sigma Phi Epsilon
Tau Kappa Epsilon

Coming to the office as a mere rumor the Daily Nebraskan investigated the story and secured signed statements from each president of the eleven fraternities concerned. These statements show that the withdrawal was not only by political leaders but by the group action of each fraternity.

The chief reason given by these fraternities for their withdrawal was that they did not believe the groups' activities merited a place on the campus. Others indicated a prejudice against the organizations.

The withdrawal will not take effect until October 31. The reason for delaying the withdrawal, as stated by leaders of the group, was to hold the Vikings, junior class society, intact until its present duty of handling Dads' Day luncheon tickets for the Innocents society was completed.

ENGINEERS OBSERVE MANAGEMENT WEEK

Conference of Agricultural Engineers With Coolidge Is Reported on By Professor Sjogren

The Engineers' club of Lincoln and the Nebraska section of the American society of mechanical engineers held a joint meeting last night at the Grand hotel in observance of management week. A report on the conference of the agricultural engineers with President Coolidge which was held this summer in the Black Hills was given by Prof. O. W. Sjogren of the department of agricultural engineering.

Professor Sjogren's report on the conference stated several facts of interest to the engineers attending the meeting. Some of them are: An engineering approach worthy of the name must be a logical, clean-cut, and aggressive analysis of cause and effect. Agricultural engineering includes definitely the incorporation into agriculture of the ideals of high efficiency as distinguished from the aim of merely trying to get the average. There are three factors influencing the income of the individual farm: (1) Quantity produced per individual; (2) Selling price; (3) Cost of production. A mathematical formula for this states that the income is equal to the quantity produced times the difference between the selling price and the cost.

All Ag Classes In Animal Husbandry Will Inspect Omaha Plants

Everyone registered in the freshmen animal husbandry classes left this morning for Omaha to visit the stock yards, packing houses and many other places of interest in South Omaha. The animal husbandry department chartered busses which left early this morning and will return at eight o'clock this evening.

Immediately after lunch the group will inspect all of the different departments of the Swift packing plant and also visit the harness factory in South Omaha. The South Omaha stock yards will extend courtesies to the visitors as in previous years.
