

IN THE VALLEY

By JACK ELLIOTT

Reports are coming out of John K. Selleck's office that the New York-Nebraska game will draw the largest crowd of the season and probably one of the largest crowd of Cornhusker football fans in the history of Cornhusker football. The game will be one of the biggest on the schedule and the eastern eleven is pointing for the Bearmen. Last year the Scarlet crew took "Chick" Meehan's unbeaten Violet crew to a 15 to 7 trimming. So far this season the New York eleven is rated as the strongest in the east and has not lost a game. Mr. Selleck is predicting that the stadium will be sold out for the Turkey day game. Already the sale is larger than any other game this year. We are hoping that the elements refrain from sending another snow storm to welcome the Violet clad squad. Last year they complained of the Nebraska snow that raged during the battle and even went so far as to say that it was partly the snow that aided the red team in trimming them. Snow or otherwise it will be a battle royale and will be the third time this season that east meets west with the Cornhusker squad representing the west. To triumph over three eastern elevens within one season would be a great year for Nebraska and with one team, that of Syracuse tucked under the Husker belt, the Bearmen hope to repeat twice more.

Getting ready for the Jayhawk. That's the by-word in the Nebraska camp this week. Kansas and Nebraska have been rivals on the football gridiron since 1892 and Kansas has played against Nebraska more than any other football eleven. The first game recorded was played in 1892 when the Kansas crew took the count on Nebraska, 12 to 0. Since then only two years have been missed. Nebraska has met the Jayhawk crew thirty-five times and out of the thirty-five games the Huskers have won twenty-two games and left nine for the Kansas team. The rest were tie games. It has been eleven years since the football team down on the Kaw has been able to annex a game from the mighty Husker eleven. In 1923 a scoreless tie was played and that is the closest that Nebraska ever came to get a beating from Kansas since 1916. In 1916 Kansas beat Nebraska 7 to 3. In the thirty-five games Nebraska has scored 463 points and Kansas 204.

Al Lassman, stellar New York university lineman is out of the game for the remainder of the season with a broken leg. This is a tough break for the Violet eleven and should a snow storm hit the Husker camp around Thanksgiving day the Meehan crew will have all sorts of alibis in case the Nebraska eleven repeats last year's victory over the eastern aggregation. The report of the New York-Colgate game in which the result was a tieless score, the New York papers stated that Lassman received a broken leg. One can't tell nowadays whether the report will be just a rumor to reach the Nebraskans or whether it was an actual occurrence and not just a sprained ankle. Lassman is rated as one of the foremost tackles in eastern football circles and also has a reputation of being quite a boxer.

The football history of the annual Kansas-Nebraska games show that Nebraska has the edge.

The Kansas Aggie eleven is resting this week in preparation for the southern trek to Texas for a mix with the Austin eleven. Coach Bachman's Purple squad is badly wrecked from injuries and the Aggie mentor will give his ball luggers a three day rest before the trip south and then the battle with Nebraska on November 19 at Manhattan. Bachman used his men during the last game with Iowa State while they were still in bad shape. The trouncing the Staters gave the Kansas Farmers ruined any chances they cherished for finishing on top or near that coveted place at the close of the season.

Joe Holsinger, star Aggie back, is out of the game for the rest of the season with a bad attack of pneumonia. Holsinger is one of the most dependable ball luggers in the Wildcat backfield.

To promote a means of acquaintance among freshmen, the fraternities at the University of Indiana have devised a plan by which all fraternities on the campus will exchange freshmen on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Each house will send out four freshmen and in turn will receive and entertain four freshmen.

HARRIERS PRACTICE WORK GETS LIGHTER

Cross-country Men Taking Things Easy Before Dual Meet With Kansas University

Cross-country men start lightening up on their workouts this evening in preparation for their dual meet Saturday with Kansas university between halves of the Kansas-Nebraska game. This will be the last dual meet of the season for the Husker runners. Coach Schulte is not sure of his line-up for the week-end race, having nine men available. Captain Johnson, who was kept out of the Drake meet last week, will start this week, as will Chadderdon and Sprague, the other two letter men from last year. At present it looks as if Coach Schulte would keep Cummings, who collapsed in the Kaggie meet, out another week in order to insure his being in good shape for the valley tussle at Manhattan November 19. Janulewicz, who lead the harriers to the tape last Saturday, Batie and Kibble will probably complete the team.

Two Men Unattached
Griffen and Etherton will probably run unattached in the race. This will give Coach Schulte a chance to test all of his men in competition. Kansas university beat Kansas Aggies in cross-country this fall. The Jayhawkers took a victory over the Huskers last year at Lawrence and are considered to have one of the strongest teams in the valley this year. Headed by "Poco" Frazier, crack valley distance man and Sarvis, distance and cross-country man for two seasons, the Jayhawks present a formidable aggregation. Nebraska lost to the Kaggies who were defeated by the K. U. team.

New Feature by Blair Added to Wednesday Morning Radio Program

A new feature known as "A Chat With the Weather Man" was added to the broadcasting program of the University of Nebraska Wednesday morning. Professor Blair, who is doubtless one of the most popular persons broadcasting in Nebraska, in cooperation with the department of agriculture presented a ten minute talk on weather conditions and the functions of the weather bureau.

These talks will be given through the University of Nebraska radio studio the first and third Wednesday morning in each month at 9:35 o'clock.

Professor Blair's talk this period covered the activity of his department in forecasting fire weather conditions. During his speech he pointed out that large fires in cities as well as in forests are due to the weather.

If thirteen has the mystical significance it is supposed to have, the freshman football squad of the University of Missouri will be unlucky this year. And it can all be blamed on the Scotchmen for there are thirteen men on the squad whose names begin with Mc.
