TRIBUTES FOR STUDENT HELD ON THURSDAY

Funeral Services for Miss Arvilla Hauptman Killed in Accident Will Be in Kansas

Funeral services for Miss Arvilla Hauptman, university freshman, who was killed in an automobile accident Sunday, will be held at Ludell, Kansas, Thursday afternoon at three o'clock. Members of her sorority, Alpha Chi Omega, are planning to attend the funeral.

Miss Hauptman met her death when the automobile in which she was returning from the Nebraska-Kansas Aggie football game with three other friends swerved into a stone culvert and pitched over an embankment into a gully fifteen feet below. The car was almost completely demolished. Miss Hauptman's skull was crushed and it is believed that she died almost instantly.

Miss Elaine Nichols, Bird City, Kansas, and also a member of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority, who was in the car at the time of the accident, was severely cut on the head and wrist. She is now in the Hospital at Manhattan, Kansas. Her condition is not serious.

'BUILDING THE WALL' IS VESPER SUBJECT

Mrs. Clayton Declares Great Needs Bring Great Activities in Talk to Women

"Great needs bring great activities," said Mrs. C. S. Clayton, when speaking on "Building the Wall" at the weekly Vespers service last night at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall.

"Those who see great needs and do the most to meet them seldom see the results of their efforts, or know that they are laying the foundations for great work," she continued.

Mrs. Clayton, who is state president of the W. C. T. U., then told the story of the praying bands of Pillboro, Ohio, who started the prohibition movement in 1873.

"It is a romantic story," she said, "and few young people today know it." Dale Lewis, a lecturer whose father had been a confirmed drunkard, and thus caused his mother much suffering, told the story of his mother's appeal to the town saloon keeper that he close his saloon, in this Ohio town of Pillboro. Immediately a group of men and women selected one from their number, Mother Thompson, to carry on the work of preaching temperance.

"From this little beginning the great wall of prohibition has grown," concluded Mrs. Clayton, "and they who began, little realized the great work that they began."

Dorothy Maxson, student president of the W. C. T. U., led the meeting. Lois Gehke gave a special vocal solo.

Thanksgiving Vacation Period Lasts Four Days

Thanksgiving vacation is scheduled from Wednesday evening, November 23 at 6 o'clock until 8 o'clock Monday morning, November 28, according to an announcement from the office of the Dean of Student Affairs.

All classes scheduled between those hours, except night classes of the extension department, will be excused.

COUNCIL MEETS AT LATER DATE

National Meetings Postponed To December 15, 16 and 17; Speakers Secured

MANY PLAN TO ATTEND

Student Council convention will be held on the Nebraska campus December 15, 16 and 17 instead of the earlier date as announced, according to local convention chairman.

The reason for the change as given in a message received from the national headquarters at Vassar college states that it was impossible to secure two of the most prominent of the national speakers who were scheduled for the program on the December 3 date. They will be present December 15 for the opening meeting of the Congress.

A large number of letters have been received by the Nebraska council relative to the convention. One received yesterday stated that the representative from the Pacific Coast schools were planning on making the trip to Lincoln in a body on a special train.

The change in date will probably bring twice the number of delegates to the campus, as had previously been expected. The national council organization will be able to more fully round out their plans.

Program Outstanding

The program is expected to be outstanding. The delegates last year had opportunity of hearing such renowned educators as Dr. McCracken of Wisconsin, Dr. Little of Michigan and this year several professors from foreign colleges are to be included on the speakers list.

Details of the convention will have to be slightly worked over in order to fit in to the later December date. However the general scheme will be the same and committees already announced will continue to function, council officials declare.

GREEKS READY FOR CAGE TOURNAMENT

Annual Contest Opens Monday With Four Games On Monday Schedule

The annual inter-fraternity basketball tournament will begin next Monday afternoon with four games and will be going at full speed by Wednesday, the Athletic department announced yesterday.

Thirty-eight teams are entered in the tournament in class A. This number represents every fraternity on the campus and is the largest entry that the tournament has ever had according to "Jimmy" Lewis of the Athletic Department. The teams are divided into six leagues which were determined by lot.

Nearly all of the teams have been practicing lately and most of them have developed very good team work, "Jimmy" Lewis declares. The tournament should prove more interesting this year than formerly, due to the amount of competition, he added.

Halves will be 15 minutes in the elimination rounds and the time will be increased to 20 minutes in the final round. All games in the elimination rounds will be alternated at the end of each half, that is, each team will play one half and the rest for one period.

Pairings Made

The pairings as determined for Monday night are:

League 1—Delta Sigma Phi vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon at 4 o'clock on floor 2; Tau Kappa Epsilon vs. Delta Sigma Lambda at 4 o'clock on floor 3.

League 4—Delta Chi vs. Delta Upsilon at 4:30 o'clock on floor 3.

Harshe Speaks; Scholarship Awards Are Given and Degrees Conferred

More than two thousand students and faculty members attended the Thanksgiving convocation in the Coliseum Tuesday morning. The convocation, given annually, featured the presentation of the Panhellenic Scholarship awards, the address of Robert Harshe, director of the Chicago Art Institute, and the awarding of three honorary degrees by the University. Acting Chancellor E. A. Burnett presided.

The convocation was opened by numbers given by the Nebraska Fine Arts Band, directed by Prof. W. T. Quick. The University Chorus, directed by Howard Kirkpatrick, presented "The Pilgrims."

Robert Harshe, eminent art authority and head of the Chicago Art Institute, was introduced by Prof. Paul Grumann, and delivered an address entitled, "The Value of Scholarship in the Fine Arts." Mr. Harshe emphasized the necessity of the influence of scholarship in the furthering of art, as there can be no creative research without it. His talk covered many interesting phases of the field of art itself, art in the middle ages, and the detection of art fakes by the use of the X-Ray photograph, by which authorship of a painting is determined, regardless of pictures which may have been painted over the old canvas, hiding it from view.

Thanksgiving Is Finale For 14 Gridmen

When east meets west on Stadium field Thanksgiving day fourteen Cornhusker gridiron warriors will be playing their last football game for the Scarlet and Cream. The New York game will be the last encounter on the football field for these fourteen men who started out together four years ago to make Nebraska football the success that it had established many years ago.

Captain John "Jug" Brown heads the list of seniors who are leaving Husker football forever. Four years ago "Jug" checked out a football suit and trotted around the practice field with the freshmen.

GRIDMEN READY FOR LAST TEST WITH NEW YORK

Unbeaten Eastern Eleven Arrive in City This Morning; Have Workout

MANY TICKETS ARE SOLD

Stadium Will Be Sold Out for Game; Bleachers May Be Erected for Crowd

The Nebraska football machine is ready for the powerful Violet eleven from New York. The Scarlet team will end the 1927 football season Memorial Stadium field Thursday when the two elevens battle it out for east west honors.

The New York eleven comes to the stronghold of the Nebraska Huskers unbeaten this season and considered one of the most powerful grid teams on the eastern coast. Coach "Chick" Meehan and his Violet crew arrive in Lincoln this morning and will take a final workout on stadium sod before the big classic Thursday.

When the two elevens get together Thursday Nebraska fans will see fourteen Cornhusker gridgers in action for the last time wearing the Scarlet. With the exception of Blue Howell the entire Husker backfield will play its last Nebraska football. Pressnell, Oehrlrich, Bronson, and Captain Brown will close their football season before the largest crowd of Husker football this season.

Colorful Battle Predicted

The stadium will be sold out for the New York university game and according to John K. Selleck, bleachers may have to be erected to take care of the Thanksgiving crowd. Should the day be fair the Nebraska and New York clash will be the most colorful battle of the 1927 season. Nebraska beat the Violet eleven last season and are out to repeat again this year as close the season victoriously.

The starting lineup of the inter-sectional battle has not been definitely announced but there will be few changes from the starting eleven that has started Husker games

Programs For Military Ball Are Described

Programs for the Military Ball, which will be held at the Coliseum December 2, were selected by the committee yesterday. According to Archibald Eddy, who is in charge of the committee, the programs will be of cream colored linen with a red N inscribed on the cover. They will be fastened by silk cord from the top of the program. The programs will be made up of ten pages, consisting of the list of dances, the names of the chaperones, honored guests and the regimental officers of high rank.

Many tickets had been sold up to last night. Tickets are still on sale at the military office and at Latsch's Book Store. Clyde Davis' Serenaders of fourteen pieces will play for the dance, which will open the university formal season.

HEDGES DISCUSSES GRAINS IN ARTICLE

Corn and Wheat Crops and Prices Are Treated by Professor in Rural Economics

"While prospects for farm products as a group are satisfactory and pessimism is not warranted, one unsatisfactory development has been the rapid decline in corn prices in the last 90 days," says Harold Hedges, department of rural economics, in the monthly Nebraska Economics Situation.

"The usual seasonal trend of corn prices is downward from November to December so seasonal weakness in corn prices appears likely for the next thirty days unless there is a delay in the movement of new corn. So much livestock was sold off last year due to the drought conditions that a much larger proportion than normal of the corn crop is expected to be sold as grain. The quality and size of this year's crop are estimated to be slightly higher than the 1926 crop, but below the ten year average. The visible supply of corn November 12 was seven million bushels smaller than in 1926 and primary receipts have been but little more than half as large as a year ago.

"Industry shows less activity than a year ago but is gaining in efficiency and lower production costs. Money is easy to get, and there is very little unemployment in industrial centers."

Last Game

Captain "Jug" Brown, who will lead the Husker team into the last game of the 1927 season and his grid career. "Jug" will probably appear in a halfback position in his last game.

BIZADS STAGE CONVOCATION

Scholarships Awarded Three Students; Societies Name New Members

WEAVER TALKS TO BODY

Introduced by acting Chancellor Burnett as "probably the next governor of Nebraska," Mr. A. J. Weaver of Falls City made the principal address of the College of Business Administration convocation held Tuesday morning. His address on "Inland Waterways" was preceded by the announcement and presentation of scholarship awards to winning College of Business Administration students.

Dean LeRossignol of the Bizad college opened the convocation by stressing the point "Do best where you are." According to the Dean, those who do their best in college will also do their best in later life. For this reason, he regards the attainment of high marks in college an indication of the students capacity in later life.

Arthur H. Croft, Wichita, Kansas, Richard C. Brown, Holdrege and Elizabeth E. Fenimore, Lincoln, were awarded scholarships in business research by Dean LeRossignol. These awards were made possible by Miller & Paine, H. E. Sides, and the C. H. Rudge Memorial Association, donors of the scholarships.

Key Is Presented

Presentation of the Delta Sigma Pi key to the senior receiving the highest average was then made by Wayne Gratigny, president of the fraternity, to Richard Brown. In addition to making the highest average in the College of Business Administration, Mr. Brown also won first honors among the Phi Beta Kappa initiates last year.

Announcement of the new members of Beta Gamma Sigma and Gamma Epsilon Pi was next made by Dean LeRossignol. George Sougey, Lincoln; Don Robb, Lincoln; David Wohlner, Omaha; Enos Heller, Hebron; E. Dale Dickson, Red Cloud, and Clark Weckback, Oteete, are the new members of Beta Gamma Sigma. The newly elected members of Gamma Epsilon Pi are: Florence Benson, Omaha; Rose Rethmeier, Neligh; Adah Payne, Lincoln; and Eola Gass, Columbus.

The William Gold Scholarship Prizes to the ten students of highest rank in the 1926-1927 freshmen class were distributed by the Dean. Those who received the prizes are: Glen D. Atkins, Kimball; Catherine Brown, Deadwood, South Dakota; Raymond C. Dein, Powell; Hubert M. Demel; Earl C. Hald, Boelus; Alfred A. Hook, Omaha; Walter P. Klinger, Hanover, Kansas; Lester A. Lapidus, Omaha; Margaret I. Schill, Alliance; Olive A. Seymour, Lincoln.

Burnett Introduces Weaver

Acting Chancellor E. A. Burnett introduced the speaker, A. J. Weaver, as the president of the Missouri River Navigation Association and also a probable choice for the next term of governor in Nebraska.

SQUAD GUESTS AT LUNCH

Junior Chamber of Commerce Gives Affair for Team Members

Members of the Husker football squad and Coach Bearg were the guests of the junior chamber of commerce at a luncheon held at the club rooms Tuesday noon. The players were introduced and short talks were given by Captain "Jug" Brown and Coach Bearg. Captain Brown spoke briefly of the coming game with New York University.

The main feature of the program was a burlesque on football and football players by Ray Raraway of the dramatic department of the University.

TORCHLIGHT PARADE WILL BE TONIGHT

Short Rally Will Be Held in Coliseum; Procession To Cornhusker

SEVERAL WILL SPEAK

"Bunny" Oakes, Swanson Will Be Principal Speakers; Team Called On

Nebraska's annual torchlight parade will take place this evening. A short rally will be held at the Coliseum, starting at 7:15 o'clock, following which a procession will be formed which will march to the Cornhusker hotel to greet the New York team.

"Bunny" Oakes, Husker line coach and Clarence Swanson, former Nebraska football player, will be the principal speakers at the Coliseum. A few members of the team will be called on to say a few words, but the meeting will be short.

Following the pep-session at the Coliseum the Corn Cobs, and Tassels will lead a parade to the Cornhusker hotel. The torchlight tradition for Thanksgiving games will be carried out, and red, flaring torches will light the way, lining the route taken by the procession. Every Nebraska student is urged to take part in this affair, and give the New York team a suitable welcome to Nebraska.

Team Remains in Pullmans

The eastern team is not registered at a hotel, but will stay in their sleepers. They will take dinner at the Cornhusker, however, and here the Nebraska rooters will give them the traditional welcome reserved for their Thanksgiving game opponents. The greatest torchlight parade and welcome of Nebraska history was staged two years ago for the Notre Dame team on the eve of that Thanksgiving game, and it is hoped that, in view of the inter-sectional importance of this game, a rally and parade of equal proportions may take place tonight.

At the Cornhusker hotel the rooters will gather to give the New York team a Husker welcome. New York coaches have promised to address the assemblage, and the Nebraska cheer leaders, the Corn Cobs and Tassels will conduct the pep-welcome.

Fraternities Asked to Cooperate

Cooperation of fraternities and sororities was secured by the Innocent society in the buying of torches. These Greek-letter organizations responded very satisfactorily to the call for torch-subscriptions, and as a result, a creditable number of torches has been purchased for the parade tonight. These torches will be delivered some time today by the Corn Cobs before their house-to-house tour of sororities to urge attendance at the rally and parade. Torches will go on sale at Long's College Book Store as soon as they arrive, and individuals who wish to buy them may

FINE ARTS MEETINGS HAVE FULL PROGRAM

Delegates Attend Moving Picture; Program Presented; Attend Convocation.

The Tuesday sessions of the western sectional convention of the American Federation of Arts began with a moving picture "A Visit to the Armor Galleries," at the Orpheum theatre. The picture was followed by a short program by the University Fine Arts orchestra under the direction of Carl Steckelberg, the main numbers of which were "Freischutz," an overture by Weber and "Symphony 1" by Beethoven.

The picture, shown by courtesy of the Public Theaters, illustrated the chain mail, plate armor and fluted armor worn by the Emperor Maximilian of Austria, showing how extremely flexible this armor was when worn. The picture also showed the high degree of art used by the engravers in making armor for princes.

At 11 o'clock the federation were guests at an all university convocation
