Ye Rotten Rich.
Scene: North of the Viaduct. Near the Gas House.
Time: On the eve of the Queen's Military Ball, given for the Lords and Ladies of the Nebraskanensis Court.

First Bourgeoisie: What ho, Master Henry, goest thou to the Queen's Military Ball this eve?
Second Bourgeoisie: Alas, alack, and nay nay, Carlton.

First Bourgeoisie: What? Thou doth not attend the opening affair of the Queen's season of formal hobnobbing?
Second B: Nay nay, and a couple of nay nays. I canst not go.

First B: And why not Master Henry?
Second B: Alas. 'Tis the emptiness of my pouch which keepeth me from going thither. I findeth three silver shekels too dear to trip the light fantastic for one eve.

First B: Ah! 'Tis true. 'Tis true. I findeth minself in the same dire plight. Three shekels is indeed too gross a sum for such a hodgepodge.
Second B: Then too, mine soup and fish is lacking. Mine everyday doublet and hose wouldst not suffice the grandeur of the ballroom.

First B: 'Tis indeed a grand affair for the Lords and Ladies. The aristocrats are feign to spurn the lower classes on such occasions.
Second B: They whispereth in the court that the Queen will be very beautiful. Seventy five shekels hath been expended in the preparation of her toilet.

First B: 'Tish. 'Tish. Wouldst not any Queen be beautiful at that price? Ha. Ha.
Second: Ha. Ha. 'Tis true. 'Tis true. And the Queen's guard composed of the University Ninnys will be there in full uniform.

First B: Let us pray they do not stumble upon their own spurs.
Second B: Wouldst that some tinker explode a pop gun and see them scatter.

First B: Let us not feel downheartened because we canst not attend. Like as not we may get us some fair wenches to go and see young Bill Shakespeare's latest sex play this eve.
Second B: Bravo. Let us hie us hence. 'T would be a better evening anyway, than to weary oneself pushing about with the Queen's toy soldiers.

First B: Fie on the Aristocrats.
Second B: Huzzah for the Bourgeoisie.

PICK YOUR SPORT
Nebraska's extensive intra-mural athletic program, inaugurated last year, to give a larger number of students a chance to participate in athletics, is operating full swing this year.

for nearly all fraternity members to take part in some intra-mural athletics. The athletic department has also developed competition for non-fraternity men. It is along this line that the greatest future progress will be made.

Although the present intra-mural program is far from complete, the progress made by the athletic department in the last two years should not be underestimated. During this time, practically the whole plan as it exists today, has been developed; offering opportunities for clean, vigorous, competitive exercise for a steadily increasing proportion of the student body.

Kernels Off The Old Cob

E. S. H.
WITH CREAM PUFFS AT TEN PACES!
Oh surely ESH, Kernels is doing its little bit in this portion of the cosmos if it has the power to coax the grads back to the editorial columns of the Nebraskan. Who knows—maybe next week Roscoe Pound or General Pershing will have something to say?

"It Must Be A Very Old Cob Indeed, To Judge By The Example"
For shame, lady, did your years at Nebraska fail to give you due respect for age? The Cob is truly venerable and in its younger years it gave its all to the tiny kernels I parade. Maybe it will be another tradition—I'll see Dr. Condra about that.

"Humorists Are Born, Not Made—His (Or Her) Remarks Are Neither Original Nor Amusing."
I agree—humorists are born, they can't be made, but;

"Judge not lest thou be judged." And didn't you know that everything has already been said? All that remains for the future is the recasting of time worn ideas—putting the old cracks in new settings. Then, if I have stepped on tiny toes—well, maybe your feet were in the aisle.

"And Certainly do not Inspire Either Mirth or Thought"
Mirth is never inspired; that must be spontaneous, and thought—heaven forbid! This colyum was never intended for a substitute for wine, women, or song. The idea! Are you trying to put a ukelele string on a concert grand?

"I Heartily Endorse Any Individual Effort Along Literary Lines—"
Hooray! I'll be right over to sell you a subscription to the PRAIRIE SCHOONER. Could it be possible that you have been looking for orchids in a meat market? Kernels hasn't any desire to be the day by day issue of the American Mercury (Knopf & Co. N. Y. $5).

"In Order To Criticise, One Must Have A Background To Draw From—"
Y' know I've never tried to buy the lions in front of the Art Institute, neither have I ever believed that a four-year course in Journalism was a broad easy path to the heart of a City Editor.

Only Once
And so it goes. Seriously for once, of course I don't think that everything in Kernels is funny—but, then, is everything on the front page news? Of course not. News is purely relative—so is humor. What might appeal to an undergraduate as something funny I can readily admit might bore a "college widow" (if she has been staying up too late for the past week). Then too, Kernels is intended for the masses in college and not the Populi Intelligentia who have gone the way of all flesh. Don't be ultramundane in a college paper—in your later years you will become mellow and learn the wisdom of tolerance. Above all remember that little maxim of Franklin: "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise." Follow this simple rule, stay with you society column and enjoy yourself. Adieu!

True, Brother, True!
Among the great in Lincoln Town is rare of Sidney Graham.
The bull he throws
It has no peer,
He ever seeks to spout it.
And will his fame in Lincoln die?
We doubt it, kid, we doubt it.

How About It?
After a careful survey of the 1928 football schedule, Kernels suggests that you go over to the Lincoln High Stadium Saturday afternoons next fall.

Statement In The Peerless Editorial Column Of This Paper
"In Concord, N. H., where statutes of John Stark, Daniel Webster, and John P. Hale speak of the past—" Essence of cabbage juice! Proof Reader! Are there too many "is" in title for you to toot?

Last Line: Oh yes, Mrs. Coolidge is a Pi Phi! —CYNARUS.

every part of the country will be present. Letters have been received by the local chairmen from Pennsylvania, California, Oregon, Mississippi, Montana, Idaho, and other points designating their intention of sending delegates to the meetings.

The personnel of the receiving line and the complete list of the patrons and patronesses for the affair will be announced within the next few days.

will go for the upkeep and maintenance of the baby clinic. Since the league took over the baby clinic in July, nineteen hundred babies have been under the observation of the doctors and nurses at the clinic. There are now five hundred babies registered on the books. The examinations and treatments are free and are extended to those mothers who are unable to provide for the medical care of their own babies. The junior leagues of many cities are undertaking such movements.

We cooked all the grub and it certainly tasted good even if we had to eat without a few of the necessary table utensils.

able importance was "drops." An interesting discussion of the mixture of drops was carried on in the lecture. Professor Bancroft explained the mixture of mayonnaise, and the most successful method of mixing the drops. This procedure was outlined, and Professor Bancroft reported, who, in reporting Professor Bancroft's lecture, stated that a nervous woman could not make good salad dressing.
