Needle and Thread Relay Will Be Introduced at Athletic Carnival

New Sport at Nebraska, With Girls Participating, Will Be First Played At Cornhusker Intramural Athletic Carnival.

A brand new collegiate sport will be introduced to university students at the Cornhusker Intramural Athletic Carnival, Friday, February 3, at the Coliseum. This event will be known as the Sorority Thread and Needle Relay. Combined with this feature event will be Interfraternity boxing matches, wrestling bouts, relays and special events. An "off-color" dance will follow the athletic events.

Each team in the Needle and Thread Relay will be composed of four girls, four track men and an "N" man, acting as sponsor. The track men will circle the track carrying a piece of thread. At the half-way mark a girl member of the team will place a needle on the thread in the least possible time and the runner will continue to the starting point where he hands the thread to the next man who repeats the performance. The team doing this the quickest wins the relay, and will be awarded a silver vase.

Starting at 7 o'clock and lasting until 10 o'clock, all varieties of Interfraternity sports will be staged. Championship basketball games, wrestling championships, boxing bouts, R. O. T. C. relays, and fraternity relays and special events will be crowded into the program.

At ten o'clock an "Off Color" dance will start. This is a novel dance idea, the details of which will be announced soon.

Students Are Eligible for New Contest

"What will the next sixty years bring forth in Lincoln's growth?"

This is the subject of a poster contest, to be sponsored by the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, in honor of its fifty-fourth anniversary which occurs on March 15. Pointing out that the entire growth of the city has taken place in the past sixty years, the chamber came upon this unique plan in the attempt to get a pictorial idea of what the citizens thought of Lincoln's prospects for increased population in the years to come.

Rules and regulations governing the operation of the contest are simple, and the prizes to be offered are substantial enough to encourage good work. Five different classes of work will be taken into consideration when the awards are made separate prizes going to posters from elementary schools, junior high schools, senior high schools, colleges and universities and adults.

Prizes Announced
To the winner of the elementary class, $5.00 will be given, with a second prize of $2.50. First prize in the junior high school division is $10 and second prize $5. First prize in the senior high school group will bring $15 with a second prize of $7.50. In the college and adult classes, the offers are the same, $20 for the first and $10 for second. There will be honorable mentions given in all divisions.

Rules and regulations governing the decisions of the judges are few and simple. They are contained on pamphlets that may be had at the Daily Nebraskan office or from Adrian M. Newsen at the Musical college building. No themes are given for the contestants, those competing being at liberty to develop their own original ideas. Topics for those who might be in doubt, are suggested, however, and are also included in the pamphlet.

In promoting the contest, the Chamber of Commerce calls attention to the wide field offered embryonic and experienced drawers in depicting the future development of their own city. The local civic body is looking for new ideas, new inspirations, new plans and suggestions from its younger citizens on which to center its interests, according to Mr. Newsen, who is actively occupied in trying to put the plan over successfully.

All posters must be in the hands of final judges not later than March 8. Adult drawings should be sent to Adrian M. Newsen or Walter Whitten, university posters to F. M. Hall and those of the other three groups to M. C. Lefler.

PICTURE TIME LIMIT EXTENDED

Date Advanced to January 21 By Cornhusker Editor For Greek Panels

NO FURTHER EXTENSION

The deadline for individual pictures for fraternity and sorority panels in the 1928 Cornhusker has been extended to next Saturday, January 21. The studios were unable to take care of the last minute rush.

All Greek letter men and women and professional fraternities are urged to make appointments early next week so as to avoid the last minute rush. There will be no further extension of time, according to Dwight Wallace, editor.

Sophomores, freshmen and upperclassmen who do not appear in the junior and senior class sections must pay $1.50 to pay the cost of an entirely new negative. If it is desired to use last year's picture, arrangements should be made at the studio.

It is imperative that the individual pictures be taken at once because the panels must be sent to the engravers. The beauty of the section and its just representation depends upon the cooperation given by the organizations in having their pictures taken.

FOR USE IN ANNUAL SHOW

Kosmet Klub Will Again Sponsor Production by All-Male Cast in State Tour

The play must be of a nature that an all-male cast will be able to present. It must also contain dancing and singing numbers. The Klub also desires a plot which will be of the standard of former Kosmet productions presented.

Tango Appeals More to Mind Than Emotions

Seventy students and faculty members attended the meeting of the Spanish club Friday afternoon. James Cuneo, professor of Spanish had charge of the meeting. He spoke of the club as being the laboratory of language, offering the students of Spanish somewhat the same benefits as are offered by laboratory work in other studies.

The meeting was opened with a song sung by members of the Lincoln High School Spanish club. A number of students from various University Spanish classes told anecdotes and short stories in Spanish.

Jose A. Cuneo gave a short talk on the tango, which is a native dance of Argentina. He stressed the fact that the tango appealed more to the mind than to the emotions. This was rather astonishing, for the people of the northern countries are prone to think the Latin people are almost governed by their emotions as expressed by actions.

PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED

More skits are needed for the Co-Ed Follies which will be held on February 17. A first prize of fifteen dollars and a second prize of ten dollars will be awarded for the best skits presented that night. A number of clever acts have been submitted.

This year, the presenting of skits is not restricted to members of organizations. Any group of three or more girls may submit a skit. The prizes and the fun of giving the skit, make the time and effort well worth while, according to Laura Margaret Raines.

The Co-Ed Follies is a tradition at the University of Nebraska, held under the auspices of the Associated Womens' Student Board.

GIRLS SPEAKERS AT MATH CLUB SESSION

Cyphering Contest Used on New Members as Part of Initiation Ceremony

Driscella Winchester gave a short talk on "Flatland," Alice Bromwell spoke concerning "Madame Sophie Kovaleskie" and Gladys Baldwin concluded the talks by a speech on "Iteration" at the regular monthly meeting of the Math Club last Thursday night at 7 o'clock in SS 101, thirty-five members attending.

A novel form of initiation was used for the new members, in that it was a cyphering contest. The initiations were roughly handled, in a mathematical way, and the question was aroused whether or not this had been one of those severe initiations against which the student council had decided.

DEAN OF HARVARD TALKS TO FACULTY

Professors of Arts and Sciences College Entertain Harvard Alumni at Dinner

Faculty members of the College of Arts and Sciences of the university held a faculty dinner at the University Club Friday night, honoring Harvard alumni and G. H. Edgell, dean of Architecture at Harvard.

Dean Edgell expanded along the lines of prospects in architecture, past, present and future, relating that twenty years ago it was almost imperative for an architectural student to study abroad before he could accomplish successful work. It is a different story today, however, the speaker declared, as American architects are doing work equal or superior to that being turned out by foreign members of the trade.

Nebraska's new capitol building was paid a tribute by Mr. Edgell, who claims that the edifice is one of the finest pieces of architectural work he had ever witnessed. "It is classical and refined and yet thoroughly modern in construction," he said, in the course of declaring that Lincoln is gaining wide publicity wherever architectural gatherings are held.

Miss Louise Pound Is New Advisory Member

NEBRASKA HOOP MEN LOSE GAME TO DRAKE, 32-28

Husker Team Gets Fourth Upset of Season From Bulldogs by Free Throws

GRACE AND BROWN TIE

Guarding of Black's Men Feature of Contest; Myers, Drake, Adds 17 to Total

Dropping their fifth basketball contest of the year, the Nebraska hoopsters descended farther in the Valley race by losing to the Drake Bulldogs Saturday evening 32 to 28. Due to the close guarding of Krall and Brown, the Drake forwards were forced to shoot from back of the foul line but Capt. Myers and Zvacek connected for a total of twelve baskets.

Grace and Brown tied for scoring honors on the Cornhusker quintet each tossing four baskets. Myers, Drake forward who ranks high among the Valley scorers, added seventeen points to his list while his running mate Zvacek contributed ten markers. Each team scored thirteen baskets but Drake put the game in the win column by counting four more foul throws than the Huskers.

Holm and Brown worked together nicely at the guard stations. Holm collected four fouls and was forced to leave the game while "Jug" rang up three fouls for himself. Bob Krall played a nice game when Holm left the contest. Krall has been in every contest this season and always turns in a good game.

Standing is 200

With the defeat at the hands of Drake, Nebraska stock took a decided fall. Having four reverses and one win on the record books, Nebraska's percentage in the Valley at present is 20.

Nebraska's next game is on the Coliseum court, Jan. 21 with the Kansas Aggies as the opponents. The Aggies have a strong team in the field this year and started their season with a win over the Kansas Jay-hawks, rulers of the Valley for the past several seasons.

Other Valley results Saturday night include a win by Kansas over the Oklahoma Aggies 34 to 31. Oklahoma defeated the Kansas Aggies 40 to 29 and Missouri pulled out a win on their home court, defeating Iowa State, 52 to 28.

Textile Collection Is Available to Home Economics Teachers

Miss Lillian Curry, graduate student in home economics in the University of Nebraska, has recently prepared, under the direction of the textile and clothing staff, a rather large collection of illustrated material to be used in teaching clothing and related art in high school classes. The collection consists of some eighty-seven pieces and includes textiles, pictures of the masters, Japanese prints, bronzes, pottery, glass, books, and such. The collection has been made available for teachers who pay expressage. It goes this week to Miss Dorothy Withers who is teaching in Scotia, Nebraska.
