

Miss Lee Brings Greetings from Yost At Third Race Betterment Conference

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford and more than a hundred internationally known scientists and educators attended the Third Race Betterment Conference at Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 2-6. Miss Mabel Lee, director of the department of physical education for women at the University of Nebraska, was a speaker at the meeting and brought back to the university greetings from Coach Yost, famous football mentor at the University of Michigan.

"To bring together a group of leading scientists, educators and others for the purpose of discussing ways and means of applying science to human living in the same thorough-going way that it is now applied to industry—in the promotion of longer life, increased efficiency and well-being and of race improvement" was the purpose of the assembly over which Dr. C. C. Little, president of the University of Michigan presided.

Kellogg is Host
Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, host to the convention, has for many years been medical director of the Battle Creek Sanitarium which is the largest of its kind in the world. Post and Kellogg health foods originated with Dr. Kellogg whose theories of the treatment of disease are gaining increased recognition in the medical world. Besides carrying on the work of the sanitarium Dr. Kellogg and his wife have put their desire to aid humanity into active practice by legally adopting twenty-two children and educating eighteen others.

Eighty-seven speakers were on the program, nine of whom were women. Representatives of medical societies all over the world and heads of various university departments made up the delegates, numbering over two hundred. Speakers from England, Russia, Denmark, France, and Mexico gave an international scope to the meeting. H. G. Wells of England who was to have been present was forced to send regrets by cablegram at the last minute.

Speaks at Program
Miss Lee represented the department of Physical Education and Athletics for women and spoke on the topic, "How Athletics for Women Are Being Organized Nationally for Health Protection and Improvement."

Dr. Maud Slye of the University of Chicago, an international authority on the relation of heredity to cancer, told of her nineteen years of research in this field. Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, included in his speech among tales of his research the story of his work in keeping a chicken heart alive for sixteen years.

Dr. William Hickson, director of the psychopathic laboratory, and Judge Harry Olson, both of the Municipal Court of Chicago and famous in the Leopold-Loeb trial, spoke of the need of new criminal laws to aid in race betterment.

A practical work, reported by Mr. John A. Kingsbury, is being done by the Millbank Memorial Fund. A portion of lower New York City, the city of Syracuse, N. Y., and a county in New York have been placed on a positive health basis. It is hoped that in this way it will be possible to state to every type of community the exact cost for such an undertaking. Some startling figures have been revealed in the course of this work. It has been found that an average city the size of Syracuse, although spending $14 per capita for education and $7 for protection, police, etc., has been spending only $.91 on health.

Reports on New Diet
Dr. Hindhede, commissioner of health for Denmark, astounded the convention with the report that there has been worked out in his country a potato diet on which people can actually live at the cost of only six cents a day.

During the convention the town of Battle Creek carried on a pleasing variation of the habitual Better Baby contest by holding a Fitter Families contest. All the members of each of the twenty-five competing families were examined by the visiting experts and the results tabulated, the winner being announced at the closing session.

Henry Ford is Present
On Tuesday evening an Old-American party was given at which pre-Civil war dances were featured. Henry Ford promoted this part of the entertainment. The music for dancing was furnished by an orchestra which Mr. Ford brought with him to the sanitarium. He also brought a dancing master to instruct those whose ideas of the old American dances were vague. Mr. and Mrs. Ford joined in the dancing as did all the delegates.

The American Playground and Recreation Association left this bit of advice with the convention on how to grow old gracefully: "Keep limber, loving, and a little bit loony."

AG CLUB MEMBERS ARE PARTY GUESTS

Home Ec Club Entertains Club for First Time at Leap Year Frolic Friday

The first Home Ec party ever to be given for the Ag Club at the College of Agriculture was presented in the form of a Leap Year party, at the Student Activities building Friday evening. About 300 people attended.

Florence Young, '28, was chairman of the committee on decorations and entertainment. She was assisted by Gladys Renfro, Mary Theobald, Louise Genung, and Helen Suckey. Minnie Fisher, '29, was in charge of the refreshment committee. She was assisted by Mary Schauf, and Sarah Spealman. Games, various skits and dancing formed the major part of the evening's entertainment. Refreshments, consisting of ice cream and wafers, were served.

Proposal Made to Hold Classes Six Days of Week at Oklahoma U.

Students of Nebraska who bemoan and lament about the few Saturday classes at Nebraska should read this article and sympathize with University of Oklahoma students.

It has been proposed that classes at the University of Oklahoma be run six days a week. The schedule is being marked out by university officials and is expected to alter crowded conditions on the campus. Oklahoma students are putting up the grand "howl" against this new plan, but they probably will have to accept it as inevitable.

FRATERNITIES BOWL IN INITIAL CONTESTS

Sigma Chi and Xi Psi Phi Turn in Close Game Scores; Mildner Has Highest Total

In the Inter-Fraternity bowling tournament which got under way Thursday evening at the Saratoga Bowling Alleys, team number two from the Xi Psi Phi won two out of the three games played with Sigma Chi, and carried off honors for the highest score for a single game of the evening with a total of 793 points. Sigma Chi, however, won honors by turning in the highest total score of the evening for the three games, with a total of 2268 points, as against a total score of their opponents of 2261.

Team number one from Xi Psi Phi placed second highest in the total for the three games with 2202, but lost two out of the three games to their opponents, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Mildner, of Sigma Chi, ran up the highest total individual score for the three games with 598 points, with Jorgenson, of Delta Upsilon, second with a total of 537 points. Jorgenson, however, bowled the highest individual score for one game with a total of 241 points. Gallagher, of Xi Psi Phi number two, was second with 205 points.

D. U. Winner
Delta Upsilon won all three games from Theta Xi by the following scores: 658 to 647; 712 to 646, and 782 to 666.

Beta Theta Pi defeated Phi Kappa Psi in all three games: 600 to 549; 695 to 546; and 668 to 630.

Alpha Chi Sigma lost the three games to Lambda Chi Alpha by the scores: 599 to 629; 583 to 676; and 564 to 671.

Kappa Sigma won their three games with Pi Kappa Alpha: 666 to 707; 757 to 711; and 751 to 641.

Xi Psi Phi Wins Close Match
In the closest games of the evening, Xi Psi Phi number two won two of their three games with Sigma Chi by following scores: 651 to 746; 757 to 744; and 793 to 778.

Xi Psi Phi number one lost two of their three games to Sigma Phi Epsilon: 659 to 766; 779 to 592; and 764 to 767.

Thursday evening, the opening matches of the tournament, twelve of the sixteen teams entered, bowled. The remaining four teams have made arrangements to bowl later during the week.

The next regular matches of the tournament will be played Thursday evening, January 19. The tournament is being so conducted that each team will have met every other, by the close of the tournament. Final standing will be determined on the basis of percentage of games won.

DR. WILLIAMS WILL TALK AT LUNCHEON

Book Collection on Display at Library Discloses Early Chinese Art Features

By Leon Larimer
Many interesting phases of early Chinese art are contained in the collection of books on the subject which is now on display in the library building. These books, all of which are owned by the library, have been acquired over a period of years and many of them are very valuable.

One of the most interesting books is The Precepts of Iao-tze, sent as a gift to the library in 1923 by Vice-Admiral Tsai Ting-kan of the Chinese navy, and associate director of the Revenue Council of China. This volume is exhibited as an example of Chinese printing and binding.

A beautiful plate of a porcelain of the Ming dynasty is one of the many contained in what is perhaps the most valuable book on ceramics which the library possesses, La Ceramique Dans l'Art d'Extreme Orient by Riviere.

Ivory Carving Displayed
Another tome displays a Chinese carved ivory vase, undated. Ivory carving is interesting more because of the marvelous mechanical dexterity which it embodies rather than from an artistic point of view. A ceremonial ax, an excellent example of jade of the Han dynasty, dating from 206 B. C. to 220 A. D., is portrayed in one volume. The early Chinese jades are noted for their extreme plainness. Jade is a stone commonly of a pale to dark green color, although sometimes whitish, tough and compact, and capable of a fine polish. It has been used for ornamental purposes and for implements among many early peoples, and to the present is highly prized, especially in China. True jade is a rock composed of inter-laced fibres of jadeite. This kind is the more highly prized and includes the "feitsui" of the Chinese.

A plate of ancient Chinese bronzes thought to be the earliest records of the Chinese art, are shown, as well as another relic of the Ming period, a painting by an unknown artist, "The Earthly Paradise." A beautiful example of the porcelain work made in the celebrated K'ang Hsi period at the famous Kling-te Chen potteries is among other examples of Chinese art found in the display.

Student Finds Rare Fossil While Home Christmas Vacation

Norman, Okla., Jan. 11.—(Special)—The second discovery, during the Christmas holidays, of an invertebrate fossil in the Jackfork sandstone in John's valley, near Dunbar, Okla., by Charles W. Miller, Sapulpa graduate student at the University of Oklahoma, has led local scientists to believe there are many such fossils in the formation.

Miller made his first discovery of the fossil last summer while working in the valley on his master's thesis, and, at that time, the specimen was one of the ten fossils of its kind known to be in existence. The first discovery was submitted to David White, eminent paleontologist, at Washington, D. C., for identification.

DAKOTA CO-ED COLONEL Will Reveal "Queen of Military Ball" On February 21

The identity of the Honorary Colonel of the R. O. T. C. unit of the University of South Dakota will be made known on the evening of February 21 when the annual Military Ball takes place. Only a professor in the department of military science and the Cadet Colonel of the unit know the result of the election in which the "Queen of the Military Ball" was selected.

The Honorary Colonel will be the guest of honor at the annual social function and will lead the grand march, escorted by the Cadet Colonel. She will wear a uniform of red and white presented by the department.

The election at South Dakota is by members of the R. O. T. C. unit instead of popular election of all the students as at the university as at Nebraska.

Collection of Egyptian Bric-a-Bac Is for Sale To Aid Missionary Work

Livingston Gordon, a graduate of the university in 1917 and now connected with the United Presbyterian church mission at Alexandria, Egypt, has placed a collection of Egyptian bric-a-bac in the care of Miss Louise E. Mundy, assistant professor of drawing and painting. The collection is being sold as a means of procuring finances for the mission at Alexandria.

Elfred Beck, '20, chief geologist for the Producers and Refiners Oil corporation of Paroo, Wyo., and E. E. Lindeblad, '17, geologist for the Empire companies of Bartlesville, Okla., were visitors at the department of geology last week.
